Financier Warns United States to Raise the Rates Against Both Powers.
Barron Insists Prosperity will Go on Even if the War Stops Today.
[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
BOSTON, Dec. 27.—Clarence W. Barron, proprietor of the Boston News Bureau, Wall Street Journal, and Philadelphia News Bureau, one of the world's greatest financial authorities, whose utterances on the European war as well as finance have been widely quoted, declares in an interview here that prices will not hurt America or American business. The humming mill of prosperity will not flit from America's shores should the dove of peace settle in Europe. He qualifies this, however, by adding that if peace were to be an assured, lasting peace and America did by meddling interference create a feeling of resentment among the belligerents, that would drive the Entente and Central Powers into a trade combination against the United States or even into warfare against this country.
Mr. Barron is frank in saying that he sees no hope of immediate peace. He does not believe there will be any immediate business depression here, or throwing thousands out of work by sudden stoppage of munitions plants, for he predicts the immediate transfer of munitions makers to other industrial pursuits, to fill orders that have been refused while the plants were choked up with war orders.
"A long war is not to the business advantage of ourselves or of Europe," says Mr. Barron. "Europe would be too much impoverished and having all the guns, there would be too much temptation to quarrel with our prices, or to come over and take some of the gold they have paid us.

The Danger of it Almost Appalls the Grocers of New York.
[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Danger of an ink flavor in coffee settled by eggshells was advanced as one reason against stamping "cold storage" on eggs in an argument here today before the Supreme Court on the application of John J. Dillon, State Commissioner of Foods and Markets, for an injunction against selling eggs not so marked. Another argument was that the individuality of eggs as to shape made the labelling of each one impracticable. The arguments were presented by grocerymen's counsel.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 27.—Germany is ready to grant greatly modified peace terms, according to information obtained in official circles here tonight.
President Wilson, it is stated, has been advised to this effect by Mr. Gerard, American Ambassador to Germany, who had a conference with the Kaiser yesterday.
THE MODIFICATIONS.
The chief modification in this version of the latest German peace terms is the abandonment by Berlin of the proposal for the establishment of Poland and Lithuania as independent kingdoms and the proposal to pay a Belgian indemnity offset by allied indemnities.
President Wilson and Secretary Lansing are seeking some plan whereby a reasonably satisfactory reply may be obtained from the Allies as an offset to what they consider the disappointing answer by Germany. The evolution of a workable proposition, in their opinion, might save the day and bring to pass the desired peace conference.
SITUATION DISCUSSED.
It was with this aim in view that the President and Mr. Lansing discussed the situation for a hour at the White House this evening. It was evidently their belief that if the Entente Powers could be advised confidentially of Germany's peace terms, even in the most general manner, the basis for obtaining similar data from the Allies could be advanced, if not made certain.
Secretary Lansing laid before the President the substance of numerous conversations he has had during the last few days with neutral ministers and also suggestions brought forward by representatives of Latin-American countries.
Full information on all of the recent features of the situation were presented by the Secretary.
If the belligerent nations of Europe get together around a table the world will see an early peace. Still that is done there will be no peace.
FOR THE PUBLIC ONLY.
This statement was made tonight by one of the leading neutral diplomats:—"It is idle to talk about publishing peace terms. Both sides must continue to make maximum demands in public. Unless they do so they virtually are certain to lose the support of their own people.
"With the biggest of the big men of each warring nation, or at least big representatives of all the leading nations, gathered together in one room results would be certain to follow. I am convinced this is the one sure way to bring the terrible conflict to a close with honor to both sides and with absolute guarantee for a permanent peace.
"Of course the Entente group are in an embarrassing position. For two years their most prominent officials have been proclaiming that the enemy must be crushed. The enemy has not been crushed and there appears to be little prospect of that for years to come.
"While Allied officials continue to declare that the Central Powers are on the verge of collapse, occasionally the press reports contain statements which amount to surprising admissions of failure on the part of the Entente to accomplish any of the major objects, aside from having driven German and Austrian commerce from the seas, for which they are supposed to be fighting."
PEACE DOOR OPEN.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—In spite of the wide gulf between the insistence of the Central Powers for an immediate peace conference and the forecast of a unanimous refusal by the Entente Allies to enter such a conference without knowing Germany's terms in advance, the American government believes that the negotiations in

VILLA COSTS UNITED STATES SEVENTY MILLION DOLLARS.
WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 27.—Although Pancho Villa has cost the United States $70,000,000 already and, it is estimated, will add a burden of that much more to the treasury if the troops are kept at and beyond the border until spring, he is as much of a source of worry to the administration as at the beginning.
That the unrest in Northern Mexico is growing and that as a result the administration's attention is again drawn to the border is the substance of an unsolicited statement from the State Department today.
The importance of the State Department's announcement is heightened by a statement from Secretary of the Interior Lane, made today, that he had issued a call for a conference of the American members of the Mexican-American commission at some early date. This, it is understood, probably means before the close of this week.
In the statement the State Department made public the fact that it had information that large bandit groups are ranging at will in Northern Mexico and that the situation is such as to give the department fresh concern.
It was officially said that the department suspects Villa of getting all the arms he needs across the border—just how the department does not know, nor would it say whether conditions are worse than a few months ago, when, in a note to Carranza, it characterized them as "deplorable."
Men in touch with State Department maneuvers inclined to believe today's emphasis on Mexican affairs was intended as a preparation of the public for possible serious developments, especially as Carranza, so far as it is known, has not signed the American-Mexican withdrawal protocol.

"Watchful Waiting."
RECALL OF ARREDONDO FOREBODING TROUBLE.
BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 27.—Gen. Carranza, first chief of the de facto government in Mexico, has ordered Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican Ambassador designate, to withdraw from the United States without delay.
This move, which has the aspect of a rupture of such diplomatic relations as exist between the Mexico de facto government and the United States, created consternation among administration officials, who confessed they are completely mystified by the unheralded action.
Arredondo informed his associates of the order recalling him from Washington and said that he would leave cards at the State Department tomorrow, in accordance with diplomatic usage and depart the following day for Mexico City. He said the archives of the embassy will be left in the charge of a Mexican consul temporarily on duty here.
Carranza's move increased the alarm of advisers of the President, who have begun to confess of late that Mr. Wilson's policy does not seem to be a success.
REBUFF SUSPECTED.
They fear that Carranza, after all the surrender to his demands by the President, intends to rebuff the administration in some spectacular manner.
The first chief's reply to the proposals for an agreement made in the Atlantic City protocol was to have arrived in Washington tonight. Instead, there came word that Luis Cabrera, one of the Mexican commissioners, will arrive here tomorrow to consult with Secretary of the Interior Lane, chairman of the American commission. It is supposed that he will bring the Carranza reply.
FOREBODINGS.
The chief advisers of the President on the Mexican question are a prey to forebodings that the recall of Arredondo signalizes the refusal of Carranza to agree to the protocol and that the first chief intends to proclaim that he will not continue diplomatic relations with the United States so long as American troops remain on Mexican soil. Under ordinary circumstances this would be a step in the direction of war.
Arredondo is related to Carranza. He has represented the first chief in Washington since the early stage of the present situation. When Carranza split with Villa, following the Aguascalientes "convention," Arredondo remained faithful to the first chief.
Soon after Carranza was recognized last year Arredondo was appointed Ambassador designate. In that capacity he has been given great consideration by the administration.
RANKLED.
The fact that he was never received by this government in the capacity of a full-fledged Ambassador has rankled in his breast. He has keenly resented the failure of this government to send Ambassador Fletcher to Mexico City. Fletcher was confirmed by the Senate many months ago, but President Wilson has never ordered him to Mexico because the administration has never satisfied itself that the present de facto government could maintain itself.
Arredondo is a "gringo hater." While professing the greatest admiration for the United States and Americans generally whenever he has had public reasons for doing so, he cherishes a strong animosity against this country and the present administration.
For many months Arredondo's chief assignment in Washington has been to induce this government to remove the embargo on arms.
He has repeatedly urged the State Department to change its policy in this regard. Secretary Lansing finally informed him that this government has no intention of changing its present policy until it had reason to believe that a responsible government had been set up in Mexico.
Above all other things this refusal of the administration has irritated the group now in charge in Mexico.
Secretary Lansing today broke his long silence on Mexican matters to the extent of admitting the conditions in northern sections of the country are bad. Mr. Lansing's statement was based upon information which has been coming to the State Department from all directions.
The State Department realizes today that conditions are worse than they were when Carranza was recognized. Not only has Carranza failed to established a government throughout the country, but he has actually lost much of the territory which he controlled formerly.
CARRANZA'S ATTITUDE.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Carranza's attitude toward the Atlantic City protocol, which will determine whether negotiations between the United States and the Mexican de facto government are to be continued through the existing joint commission, will be outlined to Secretary Lane here tomorrow by Luis Cabrera, one of the Mexican commissioners. No definite information to indicate what that attitude is had reached officials tonight.
Secretary Lane, who is chairman of the commission, was notified early tonight that a special messenger bearing a communication to the Mexican commissioners, presumably Gen. Carranza's reply to the American demand that he approve or reject the protocol, had left New York for Washington. When the Secretary retired for the night, however, the messenger had not arrived and word had come meantime that Mr. Cabrera himself would reach the Capital tomorrow morning to explain personally Gen. Carranza's position.
Although the United States had set last midnight as the time by which a reply from Gen. Carranza would be expected, it was indicated tonight that if the protocol is approved the delay will be overlooked, since the chief purpose here has been to secure a satisfactory adjustment. If the protocol is rejected Secretary Lane will proceed with plans already under way to wind up the commission's affairs and adjourn sine die.
Just what the next step would be, officials will not discuss. A rejection of the protocol, which provides for conditional withdrawal of Gen. Pershing's expedition, would be interpreted here as a reinforcement of Gen. Carranza's demand of last summer that the American troops be withdrawn unconditionally.
It is reiterated that there has been no change in the administration's policy which contemplates maintenance of an efficient force at the border and does not purpose withdrawal of the Pershing expedition until it is apparent that the step will not endanger American territory.
Secretary Lane was notified late today that a messenger had started from New York with a communication from the Mexican members of the Mexican-American commission. Mr. Lane assumed that the Mexicans were sending Carranza's reply to the American demand that he either ratify or repudiate the protocol signed by the joint commission.
CABRERA SILENT.
NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican delegation on the Mexican-American joint commission, tonight refused to discuss a report from Washington that Gen. Carranza's reply to the American demand for ratification or repudiation of the Atlantic City protocol was on its way to Washington.
"I have nothing to say and I will answer no questions," Mr. Cabrera declared. "No statement will be issued by the Mexican members of the commission while in New York." It was learned that several long distance telephone calls were made to Washington during the day.

GERMANS' DUGOUTS BOMBED BY BRITISH.
[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]
LONDON, Dec. 28, 12:05 a.m.—The report from British headquarters in France, issued at midnight, reads:
"On Tuesday night a party of our troops searched for some few hundred yards the enemy's front-line trenches northwest of Lens, bombing his dugouts and doing considerable damage to his defenses. After completing their work our men returned without casualties.
"Our positions on the right of our line north of the Somme and near LeSars were heavily shelled by the enemy at intervals Tuesday night and Wednesday. Bombardments of the enemy defenses and trench mortar emplacements were carried out by us with good results south of Arras, in the neighborhood of Hulluch and west of Messines. Elsewhere there was the usual artillery activity.
"On Tuesday much successful work was done by our airmen in co-operation with our artillery. In the course of a number of fights in the air a hostile machine was destroyed and five others were forced to land in a damaged condition. Three of our machines are missing."

JUAREZ NEXT OBJECTIVE AS VILLA DRIVES NORTH.
Bandit with His Rapidly-growing Army is Said to Plan Attack on Chihuahua City at the Same Time to Establish Railroad Traffic Between the Border and Torreon. Prominent Families Leaving Saltillo.
EL PASO (Tex.) Dec. 27.—Francisco Villa's forces are preparing to attack Chihuahua city and Juarez simultaneously in an effort to establish railroad traffic between the border and Torreon, it was said late today by a man known to be close to Villa.
A Mexican refugee who arrived here today from Torreon also affirmed that Villa was preparing to move north with a column of approximately 5000 men in order to attack Chihuahua city. He said another force of 500 Villa followers was reported to have been yesterday at the Calderon Ranch, sixty-five miles southeast of Juarez.
SKIRMISH AT CALDERON.
Skirmishing between the rebels at Calderon and the de facto troops which left Juarez yesterday for Chihuahua city, was reported here late today but could not be confirmed in Juarez. The Villa forces southeast of Juarez are commanded by Col. Manuel Ochoa and Col. Mariano Tames, acording to a deserter who arrived at the border here yesterday, from the Calderon Ranch. He said the Villa followers were all well armed, mounted and had a plentiful supply of food. They are said to have been sent north to take Juarez as soon as Villa started his attack on the State capital.
It is not believed here that Villa has any direct tactical connection with the operations reported from the eastern military zone near San Luis Potosi, Tampico and Monterey, but Gen. Carrera Torres and the Cedilla brothers are said to be operating in that section under the banner of Villa.
The occupation of San Luis Potosi by the Villa forces Monday was reaffirmed today by men known to be close to Villa but was denied by Carranza Consul Sorriano Bravo, who said a message had been received today at Laredo, Tex., from San Luis Potosi.
Official confirmation of the occupation of Torreon by Villa forces was made today by Consul Bravo. Torreon was evacuated by Gen. Talamante and his command of 1500 de facto troops, Bravo said, because of a superior opposing force. Consul Bravo denied the rumors which have been in circulation here for the past two days that Gen. Francisco Murguia, commander at Chihuahua city, had an understanding with Villa and had made no effort to oppose Villa's recent capture of Chihuahua city.
Consul Bravo said that if Gen. Alvaro Obergon took the field in command of the Carranza forces against Villa, the Villa revolution would be short-lived.
"Villa knows Gen. Obregon's power and fears him more than any man in Mexico," he said.
The Carranza garrison at El Oro, about 100 miles southeast of Parral, revolted on December 21, looted the stores of the mining camp and then started south to join the Villa forces at Torreon, a message received today from two Americans still remaining in the camp stated.
LEAVING SALTILLO.
[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]
LAREDO (Tex.) Dec. 27.—Many prominent families are leaving Saltillo, Mex., fearing an attack on the city by Villa followers who are reported in that vicinity, according to passengers arriving here today.

BATTLE NEAR LA JARITA; VILLA BANDITS SLAIN.
LAREDO (Tex.) Dec. 27.—Carranza troops clashed today with bandits or revolutionists near La Jarita, about thirty miles south of Nuevo Laredo, according to reports, but the outcome of the conflict and the number of men involved are not known. Surgeons and nurses were sent south from Nuevo Laredo late today.
No word officially could be obtained concerning the engagement. Villa sources in Laredo claimed to have been advised that six Carranza soldiers had been killed. Carranza adherents reported the killing of twelve bandits, without any casualties among the Constitutionalist forces. Several bandits or revolutionists, it was stated, had been captured and summarily executed, in addition to those killed on the field.
Military authorities in Nuevo Laredo tonight said they were in direct telegraphic communication with San Luis Potosi and that there was no truth in the recently-published reports that that city had fallen into Villa's hands.

Ruthless.
VILLISTAS EXECUTED BY CARRANZA BAYONETS.
EL PASO, Dec. 27.—A Chihuahua business man who arrived today says 150 Villistas were put to death with bayonets near Mapula by order of Gen. Francisco Murguia Carranza, commander at Chihuahua. The men who had been captured by Murguia in the battle with Jose Ynes Salazar near Mapula last week were sentenced to be shot, but finding his ammunition running low Gen. Murguia, the report says, ordered the prisoners put to death with bayonets. The shrieks of the Villistas continued as long as life was left in them. The Chihuahua merchant says all were buried in one long trench grave.

Contagious.
PEACE TALK INCREASES; MAIN TOPIC IN LONDON.
British are of the Opinion German Reply is a Clever Maneuver, but that in Reality Berlin is Willing to Pay Almost any Price in Reason to Secure End of the War Immediately.
BY ARTHUR S. DRAPER.
[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
LONDON, Dec. 27. — Germany's reply to the President is generally regarded here as a clever maneuver to draw out the Allies' terms, but such haste to get in first may prove a boomerang. The Teutons have left an opening through which the Allies are bound to send home a crashing blow.
Opinion still holds firm here that there is really a strong demand for peace throughout Germany, coupled with a willingness to pay as big a price as the Allies stand ready to extort.
In official life, however, the fear is generally expressed that the German autocracy will not be able to force the Allies' terms upon the German people, who have been systematically deluded by the governing classes regarding the strength of the Allied nations.
Briefly, the German people are unprepared for the rude awakening. The Allies had anticipated rather a different reply from Berlin, so it is likely that the original answer had been subjected to considerable alteration.
BITTERNESS DIES OUT.
The Entente wants the support and friendship of America, and there is a feeling now that their reply will show that they were justified in expecting it. The first flare of bitterness over the President's note has gone out. The understanding between the United States and the United Kingdom is improving, the feeling of irritation is less acute, and a saner view is dominating the situation.
Peace is in the air. It is as thick as the fog enveloping London for the last two days. It is impossible to escape it. I understand that the Swiss note indorsing the stand taken by President Wilson will be followed before the week is out by similar notes from the governments of Sweden, Holland and Spain.
The joint reply of the Allies to the original German offer is now being revived, and it is considered probable that the complete document will go over within the week, France and Britain having already agreed as to its essential terms.
The reply to the President's note may follow quickly. Peace talk, it was thought, after the prorogation of Parliament and the coming of the Christmas holidays, would soon die down, but today it is a topic of more absorbing interest than ever.
The war conference of the empire, it is believed, will meet earlier than the end of February, so as to get the views of the dominions on the peace proposals.
NEW GOVERNMENT PLANS.
Meanwhile, the new government is going forward with its plans for the more vigorous prosecution of the war—plans which will be equally necessary in order to meet the problems which would arise from an early peace.
Even the newspapers which scoffed at peace are now forced by public opinion to give it the fullest consideration. By this it must not be thought that Britain is seeking peace. Five minutes' talk with the first man you meet in the street will convince you that the country is perfectly willing to fight—on the rather growing conviction, illogical though it may be, that the enemy is so anxious to reach a settlement that she stands ready to make it well worth while for the Allies to end hostilities.
Together with the measures being taken by the Lloyd George government for carrying on the war with greater efficiency comes the announcement of the extension of the British fronts in France and Macedonia, showing that this country is willing and ready to assume greater military as well as financial burdens.
Out of the uncertainty with which the situation of the Allies in Greece has been enveloped comes today authentic news from Athens to the effect that the Greeks are beginning to cry out under the pressure of the Allied blockade. Even the strongest Royalist newspapers have changed their tone, and the disbandment of the army is taking place rapidly and regularly. The persecution of the Venizelosts is also lessening, and the conditions from the Allied point of view are altogether showing a great improvement.
ON STOCK EXCHANGE.
The Stock Exchange has resumed its business after the Christmas holidays, but in a chastened mood. Speculators who have bought for a rise upon the approach of peace have been caught more than once, and consequently the plungers are

COMMENT ON THE SITUATION.

The net of the Teutonic Allies apparently is fast closing in upon Braila, Rumania's oil and grain center on the Danube. Having taken Filipechti, thirty miles to the southwest, Field Marshal Von Mackensen's troops have now captured the railroad town of Rimnik-Sarat, relatively the same distance to the east, while the guns of the Dobrudja army are still hammering, and with some success, the Russo-Rumanians at the bridgehead of Matchin, on the east bank of the Danube, opposite Braila. Prior to the fall of Rimnik-Sarat the Teutonic Allies defeated the Russians on a front of ten and a half miles southwest of the town, while the Teutonic Danube army captured several fortified villages, according to the Berlin War Office. Petrograd admits that the Russians and Rumanians have been forced to fall back north of Magura, but says elsewhere the invaders were defeated with heavy casualties.

President Wilson, it appears, is about to reap the harvest of his "watchful waiting" policy toward Mexico. Statements have been made in Washington and admissions dropped that indicate the administration is preparing the public mind for some sort of a sensation with reference to Mexico. The danger of a break of relations between Carranza and Wilson is said to be real.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 27.—Germany is ready to grant greatly modified peace terms, according to information obtained in official circles here tonight.
President Wilson, it is stated, has been advised to this effect by Mr. Gerard, American Ambassador to Germany, who had a conference with the Kaiser yesterday.
Although this information emanates from administration sources, neither the White House nor Secretary of State Lansing would discuss the cablegrams received today from Mr. Gerard.

"With the biggest of the big men of each warring nation, or at least big representatives of all the leading nations, gathered together in one room results would be certain to follow. I am convinced this is the one sure way to bring the terrible conflict to a close with honor to both sides and with absolute guarantee for a permanent peace.
"Of course the Entente group are in an embarrassing position. For two years their most prominent officials have been proclaiming that the enemy must be crushed. The enemy has not been crushed and there appears to be little prospect of that for years to come.
"While Allied officials continue to declare that the Central Powers are on the verge of collapse, occasionally the press reports contain statements which amount to surprising admissions of failure on the part of the Entente to accomplish any of the major objects, aside from having driven German and Austrian commerce from the seas, for which they are supposed to be fighting."
PEACE DOOR OPEN.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—In spite of the wide gulf between the insistence of the Central Powers for an immediate peace conference and the forecast of a unanimous refusal by the Entente Allies to enter such a conference without knowing Germany's terms in advance, the American government believes that the negotiations in

PEACE TALK INCREASES; MAIN TOPIC IN LONDON.
British are of the Opinion German Reply is a Clever Maneuver, but that in Reality Berlin is Willing to Pay Almost any Price in Reason to Secure End of the War Immediately.
BY ARTHUR S. DRAPER.
LONDON, Dec. 27. — Germany's reply to the President is generally regarded here as a clever maneuver to draw out the Allies' terms, but such haste to get in first may prove a boomerang. The Teutons have left an opening through which the Allies are bound to send home a crashing blow.
Opinion still holds firm here that there is really a strong demand for peace throughout Germany, coupled with a willingness to pay as big a price as the Allies stand ready to extort.
In official life, however, the fear is generally expressed that the German autocracy will not be able to force the Allies' terms upon the German people, who have been systematically deluded by the governing classes regarding the strength of the Allied nations.
Briefly, the German people are unprepared for the rude awakening. The Allies had anticipated rather a different reply from Berlin, so it is likely that the original answer had been subjected to considerable alteration.
BITTERNESS DIES OUT.
The Entente wants the support and friendship of America, and there is a feeling now that their reply will show that they were justified in expecting it. The first flare of bitterness over the President's note has gone out. The understanding between the United States and the United Kingdom is improving, the feeling of irritation is less acute, and a saner view is dominating the situation.
Peace is in the air. It is as thick as the fog enveloping London for the last two days. It is impossible to escape it. I understand that the Swiss note indorsing the stand taken by President Wilson will be followed before the week is out by similar notes from the governments of Sweden, Holland and Spain.
The joint reply of the Allies to the original German offer is now being revived, and it is considered probable that the complete document will go over within the week, France and Britain having already agreed as to its essential terms.
The reply to the President's note may follow quickly. Peace talk, it was thought, after the prorogation of Parliament and the coming of the Christmas holidays, would soon die down, but today it is a topic of more absorbing interest than ever.
The war conference of the empire, it is believed, will meet earlier than the end of February, so as to get the views of the dominions on the peace proposals.
NEW GOVERNMENT PLANS.
Meanwhile, the new government is going forward with its plans for the more vigorous prosecution of the war—plans which will be equally necessary in order to meet the problems which would arise from an early peace.
Even the newspapers which scoffed at peace are now forced by public opinion to give it the fullest consideration. By this it must not be thought that Britain is seeking peace. Five minutes' talk with the first man you meet in the street will convince you that the country is perfectly willing to fight—on the rather growing conviction, illogical though it may be, that the enemy is so anxious to reach a settlement that she stands ready to make it well worth while for the Allies to end hostilities.
Together with the measures being taken by the Lloyd George government for carrying on the war with greater efficiency comes the announcement of the extension of the British fronts in France and Macedonia, showing that this country is willing and ready to assume greater military as well as financial burdens.
Out of the uncertainty with which the situation of the Allies in Greece has been enveloped comes today authentic news from Athens to the effect that the Greeks are beginning to cry out under the pressure of the Allied blockade. Even the strongest Royalist newspapers have changed their tone, and the disbandment of the army is taking place rapidly and regularly. The persecution of the Venizelosts is also lessening, and the conditions from the Allied point of view are altogether showing a great improvement.
ON STOCK EXCHANGE.
The Stock Exchange has resumed its business after the Christmas holidays, but in a chastened mood. Speculators who have bought for a rise upon the approach of peace have been caught more than once, and consequently the plungers are

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 27.—Although Pancho Villa has cost the United States $70,000,000 already and, it is estimated, will add a burden of that much more to the treasury if the troops are kept at and beyond the border until spring, he is as much of a source of worry to the administration as at the beginning.
That the unrest in Northern Mexico is growing and that as a result the administration's attention is again drawn to the border is the substance of an unsolicited statement from the State Department today.
The importance of the State Department's announcement is heightened by a statement from Secretary of the Interior Lane, made today, that he had issued a call for a conference of the American members of the Mexican-American commission at some early date. This, it is understood, probably means before the close of this week.
In the statement the State Department made public the fact that it had information that large bandit groups are ranging at will in Northern Mexico and that the situation is such as to give the department fresh concern.
It was officially said that the department suspects Villa of getting all the arms he needs across the border—just how the department does not know, nor would it say whether conditions are worse than a few months ago, when, in a note to Carranza, it characterized them as "deplorable."
Men in touch with State Department maneuvers inclined to believe today's emphasis on Mexican affairs was intended as a preparation of the public for possible serious developments, especially as Carranza, so far as it is known, has not signed the American-Mexican withdrawal protocol.

"Watchful Waiting."
RECALL OF ARREDONDO FOREBODING TROUBLE.
BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 27.—Gen. Carranza, first chief of the de facto government in Mexico, has ordered Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican Ambassador designate, to withdraw from the United States without delay.
This move, which has the aspect of a rupture of such diplomatic relations as exist between the Mexico de facto government and the United States, created consternation among administration officials, who confessed they are completely mystified by the unheralded action.
Arredondo informed his associates of the order recalling him from Washington and said that he would leave cards at the State Department tomorrow, in accordance with diplomatic usage and depart the following day for Mexico City. He said the archives of the embassy will be left in the charge of a Mexican consul temporarily on duty here.
Carranza's move increased the alarm of advisers of the President, who have begun to confess of late that Mr. Wilson's policy does not seem to be a success.
REBUFF SUSPECTED.
They fear that Carranza, after all the surrender to his demands by the President, intends to rebuff the administration in some spectacular manner.
The first chief's reply to the proposals for an agreement made in the Atlantic City protocol was to have arrived in Washington tonight. Instead, there came word that Luis Cabrera, one of the Mexican commissioners, will arrive here tomorrow to consult with Secretary of the Interior Lane, chairman of the American commission. It is supposed that he will bring the Carranza reply.
FOREBODINGS.
The chief advisers of the President on the Mexican question are a prey to forebodings that the recall of Arredondo signalizes the refusal of Carranza to agree to the protocol and that the first chief intends to proclaim that he will not continue diplomatic relations with the United States so long as American troops remain on Mexican soil. Under ordinary circumstances this would be a step in the direction

Germans in Wallachian Battle Penetrate the Russian Line at Several Points

On Vast Scale.

TAKE FORTIFIED TOWNS IN FIVE DAYS' FIGHTING.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Dec. 27 (via Sayville.)—The five-day battle in Eastern Wallachia has resulted in the piercing of the Russian lines at several points, army headquarters announced today. The Russians were definitely defeated on a front of seventeen kilometers southwest of Rimnik-Sarat. Several fortified villages have been captured by the Teutonic Danube army, and the Russians have been forced to retreat to prepared positions further north. A total of 7600 prisoners and twenty-seven machine guns have been captured since December 22 by the Ninth Army and more than 1300 prisoners by the Danube army.

OFFICIAL TEXT.

The text of the statement reads:

"Front of Archduke Joseph: In addition to lively activity on the part of patrols which frequently ended in encounters with the enemy resulting favorably to us, and temporary lively artillery fire along the heights on the east bank of the Golden Bystritza, there was little fighting activity. In the Oitus Valley there have been artillery duels.

"Front of Field Marshal Von Mackensen: The Ninth Army, in a five-day struggle, has pierced at several places strong Russian positions, which consisted of several lines of barbed wire, and which were tenaciously defended. Southwest of Rimnik-Sarat the Russians have been completely defeated on a front seventeen kilometers in width. Also the Danube army has captured strongly-fortified villages and thus has broken into the enemy's front and forced him to retreat into positions prepared further north.

"The fighting was violent and the success is due to energetic leadership and the fullest devotion of the troops. The losses to the enemy in casualties were very large. In addition he has left in the hands of the Ninth Army since December 22 a total of 7600 prisoners, twenty-seven machine guns and two mine throwers. The number of prisoners taken by the Danube army is more than 1300.

"In Dobrudja progress has been made with the attack against the Matchin bridgehead.

"Airships and flying squadrons have been successfully active in the enemy's rear against important railroad and port establishments."

Today's statement regarding operations on the Russian front reads:

Of the campaign in Macedonia the statement says:

"Macedonian front: There has been no important fighting activity."

Nine airplanes were lost by the Entente in aerial engagements along the western front yesterday, the War Office announced today. There has been violent artillery activity in the Ypres salient and in the region north of the River Somme.

The statement reads:

"In the Ypres salient and on the north bank of the Somme a violent artillery engagement began at noon, the weather being bright. In the evening it decreased when rain again began to fall.

"In aerial engagements the enemy lost nine airplanes."

An Overseas News Agency statement today says:

"The French headquarters statement of December 21 reported four German machines shot down. The fact is that on the 19th no German machine was lost and on the 20th one German machine was lost."

RUSSIAN REPORT.

PETROGRAD, Dec. 27 (via London, 6:30 p.m.)—(British Admiralty Wireless Press.) The following statement on military operations was issued today by the War Office:

ECONOMIC ILLITERATES.

Vanderlip Declares This Greatest Danger in America.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The United States is a nation of "economic illiterates" and the spread of sound business principles is a great service, Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank, said in an address today at a convention of a school of finance for business executives under the supervision of New York University.

"I believe we are a nation of economic illiterates," he said, "and that no sort of illiteracy could be more dangerous to a republic. No, you may think I am making these remarks on rather an elevated basis, but I am not. This is real, sound sense, in my opinion. You are rendering a real service to the country in just the measure that you can spread sound economic thinking, sound views on business affairs and better understanding of the business problem, and they are the great problems of our day and time."

WANT COAL TRADE TAKEN FROM ROADS.

BOSTON, Dec. 27.—The immediate causes for the high price of anthracite coal are "increases in the prices charged by the mining companies, high freight rates on waterborne coal and the difficulty of obtaining additional supplies," according to a report made to Gov. McCall today by a commission appointed to investigate the cost of living.

The report recommends that the Legislature memorialize Congress in behalf of a law that will give power to Federal authorities to separate effectively the anthracite coal business from control, direct or indirect, by any railroads; secure the prompt return of empty coal cars; direct the railroads in case of emergency to give the right of way to coal over traffic not involving the immediate necessities of life; prevent discrimination in the distribution of coal to different markets; regulate prices at which anthracite coal is sold by the the mining companies or their agents.

MADE-IN-AMERICA COMPANY FORMED.

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—A company was organized here today to cooperate in a movement to have American-made goods replace in France and Belgium articles of German manufacture at the close of the war. It is believed by the promoters of the movement that the plan will result in adding millions of dollars to export trade annually to this country's business. Representatives and prominent officials of France and Belgium are said to be encouraging the movement.

Germany's Terms.

progress are resulting in good. It was said with authority tonight that until the door of peace actually is closed by one side or the other, President Wilson will continue to hope that any discussion of the subject will tend to hasten the end of the war.

BERNSTORFF TALKS.

Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, returning unexpectedly tonight from New York, authorized the Associated Press to make the following statement:

"I regard the note of my government as constituting an acceptance of everything suggested by President Wilson in his note to the belligerent nations of Europe."

It was made clear at the embassy that Germany stands ready to make known her terms on the first day of any conference that may be held, and officials expressed themselves as being greatly surprised at the view prevailing in some quarters here that the Berlin government had failed to meet the President's suggestions by not setting down in the reply the terms upon which it is willing to make peace. The German diplomats say President Wilson had no intention of drawing a public declaration concerning terms from the Central Powers. On the contrary, they think the President's suggestion "that an early occasion be sought to call out from all the nations now at war such an avowal of their respective views as to the terms upon which the war might be concluded," has been fully met by Germany in seeking an immediate conference with her enemies.

GERMAN POLICY.

The German policy upon which the reply to President Wilson's communication is based, was outlined as follows:

Germany feels that the conference suggested by it first should be composed of delegates from the belligerent countries whose duty it would be to settle territorial terms. Once these terms are agreed upon, representatives of the neutrals should be called in to participate in consideration of questions of guarantees for the future, in which neutrals are as vitally concerned as belligerents. These guarantees, in the German view, necessarily would have to do with the freedom of the seas, limited disarmament, formation of a world league of nations to enforce peace, and the establishment of an international court of arbitration.

Germany is said to consider that neutral nations can have no interest in terms relating to territory.

While there were no official advices upon the subject, the view still persisted in German quarters tonight that the note of the Central Powers might be followed by some highly confidential oral or written communication to President Wilson, in which at least broad tentative terms might be stated. In this connection, officials noted with interest Berlin press dispatches saying that Ambassador Gerard, who as a result of his recent visit to the United States, is thoroughly familiar with the views of President Wilson, had taken lunch with Alfred Zimmermann, the German foreign minister, and probably discussed the peace situation with him.

THE UNEXPECTED.

Count von Bernstorff's arrival in Washington was entirely unexpected. He had not planned to return until tomorrow but because of the situation deemed it advisable to be at the embassy immediately. Tonight the Ambassador had no specific instructions to call upon Secretary Lansing but it is not improbable that he will visit the state department within the next few days to seek information for his government and furnish the administration with any he himself may have in his possession.

Just what the United States could do toward bridging the gulf in case the Allies hold to their opposition to a conference is the subject of a serious discussion on among officials but as yet no concrete proposal has been advanced. It is said officially that it even has not yet been decided whether this country will send on to the Entente the Teutonic reply to the President's note, as embodying a new suggestion or whether its mere publication here would be considered sufficient. The official text of the reply still is awaited and no further step is expected before it arrives. The extreme delicacy of the situation and the fear of a misstep on the part of each group of belligerents convince officials that it may be a long time before any reply substantial is obtained.

That the Allies will declare that there must be a military solution to the war, both in their note to the President and in their reply to the Central Powers was the growing belief here today both on the basis of statements at the Allied embassies and from cabled press comments. A London dispatch today following one from Petrograd yesterday as well as intimations from both Paris and Rome that the Allies could not discuss peace until they actually held the territories they considered essential for their future, was taken to indicate that the Allies want to wait for a substantial military victory and a reversal of the present military situation.

Great Britain's invitation to the premiers of all the colonies to attend an imperial war conference to discuss "possible conditions on which by an agreement with our Allies we could consent to its termination" proved a decided surprise here where the step was taken as indicating the seriousness with which the peace movement is viewed in England. The holding of such a conference, however, is expected to be subsequent to the allied replies to President Wilson and the Central powers, and for the purpose of outlining much broader policies than have yet appeared.

Secretary Lansing was with President Wilson for 30 minutes today but said afterward he had discussed matters of minor importance.

Although Secretary Lansing said today that full information regarding all recent submarine attacks on vessels in which the United States is interested is in the possession of the State Department, no definite action on that question is expected during the pendency of peace proposals. All of the information has been forwarded to Berlin and replies are awaited.

Railroad Record.

TO INTERPRET ADAMSON LAW.

Both Sides are Confident of Reaching Agreement.

Separate Appeals to Courts may not be Necessary.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Representatives of the National Conference Committee of Railways and the four brotherhoods of railroad employees will resume their meetings here tomorrow for the announced purpose of arriving at some agreement as to the application of the Adamson law in the event it is held to be constitutional by the United States Supreme Court. The meetings had been adjourned to await the handing down of the award in the case of the switchmen's arbitration, which, it was expected, might have some bearing on the eventual interpretation of the Adamson act. The railroad managers held a preliminary meeting today.

TENTATIVE TOPICS.

It was intimated in railroad circles tonight that among other things which would be considered was an agreement that would bring the two forces together in a concerted effort to fight the President's proposed compulsory arbitration legislation. The railroads, however, are not altogether opposed to the principle of compulsory arbitration, it was indicated, providing a suitable plan can be evolved looking toward the selection of the arbitrators.

Both sides were reported confident tonight that a mutual understanding will be reached as to the practical interpretation of the Adamson act, which, it is pointed out, specifies the hours of labor, but does not make provision for the enforcement or continuation of certain privileges and rates of compensation which the men now enjoy and which they believe are threatened with extinction by the Adamson act.

POSSIBLE COURSE.

Rather than make separate appeals to the courts to decide the many points that could be brought to issue in this regard, it was reported that both sides, after agreeing on as many points as possible, would consent to bring their differences for final adjudication to the Goethals commission appointed by the President to observe the operation of the Adamson act. A representative of Elisha Lee, chairman of the conference, authorizes the statement, however, that under no circumstances will the railroads seek to vitiate the Adamson act by any other means than those already advanced. They are prepared, he said, to carry into effect the spirit and letter of the law, should it be held constitutional, and to this end, in accordance with recommendations of the Goethals commission, precautions have been taken to safeguard the extra remuneration of the workers dating from January 1, 1917, until the decision of the United States Supreme Court is handed down.

In Petrograd.

SLAV PEACE VIEWS CHANGED BY SWISS.

SUSPICION REGARDING WILSON'S MOTIVES REMOVED.

Press Considerably More Inclined to View Possibility of Intervention, Although it is Declared Neutrals "and Their Typewriters" Cannot Settle War.

PETROGRAD, Dec. 27 (via London, 10:10 p.m.)—Switzerland's indorsement of President Wilson's initiative in soliciting the formulation of peace terms by the warring powers, and the news that other neutrals will follow suit has decidedly strengthened the impression made here by the American proposal and corrected whatever tendency there existed in certain quarters to regard Mr. Wilson's note as inspired by other motives than those set forth.

In well-informed quarters it is said there is no reason to believe that the added influence of other neutrals will in any way change the point of view expressed by the Foreign Office or alter the national conviction that the present time is inappropriate for the consideration of peace terms.

But the tone of the press comment has become today considerably more inclined to view the possibility of intervention on its own merits. The Novoe Vremya, which bitterly reproached President Wilson in its earlier comment for what it termed ill-timed interference, now says that however President Wilson's efforts may be received, there can be no possible interpretation of the note as unfriendly to the Entente Allies or having been sent with other than the best of intentions.

The Bourse Gazette, which expressed the belief that the suggestion of President Wilson was not a casual act of the American government, but the result of organized efforts of the neutral powers, which are already equivalent to a neutral league with a united aim, says:

"The picture is now quite changed. The affair is taking a serious turn. The union of neutral governments in an effort to secure a general and lasting peace opens up quite a new combination of world interests and the part played by the neutrals will have a tendency to lay the basis for a stable world."

The newspaper concludes, however, that peace cannot be secured "by the neutrals and their typewriters" but it must arise out of the sacrifices and labors of the fighting nations.

"All the neutrals together," says the Bourse Gazette, "cannot guarantee a world peace, because they are not military powers and when the Germans again show their teeth they will be able to add nothing but good wishes and typewriting to convince German psychology."

Peace Talk.

somewhat shy of the market, as burnt children of the fire.

The greatest interest is also expressed in the forthcoming Labor party conference at Manchester, as it will mark the differences of opinion between the official and the unofficial branches of the party.

In economic and financial circles much approval is expressed of the fact that a free and open discussion of possible peace terms has been substituted for the frozen silence which heretofore has hedged in the government. No one can predict what turn dnplomacy will take, but the general impression in these quarters, at least, is that an important beginning has been made.

The view is quite generally discarded that when peace does come Germany will be able to flood the world's markets, especially in the East, with articles of cheap manufacture, retailed at a ruinously low price. The Japanese press, which has been discussing the Paris resolutions and the post-bellum economic situation with much eagerness since the return of Baron Sakatani, has no apprehension that Germany will be able to dump her products in the open market. Having exhausted all her available material for military purposes, how it is asked, can she afford to attempt a campaign of dumping?

VIEW OF BRITISH PRESS.

The British press has come to share this view, recognizing the fact that before Germany's industries can start again on its old footing it will require enormous stores of cotton, copper, jute and wool. These commodities, it is pointed out, are now in the control of the Allies, and are likely to become pawns in the peace negotiations.

Whatever the details, opinion is crystalizing here that the internal pressure in Germany is growing so great that she will eventually be ready to pay pretty highly for peace.

"TEMPS" ATTACKS BERLIN REPLY.

Celerity of German Answer Astonishes Paris.

Hollweg's Alleged Mendacity Causes Press Comment.

Declare Kaiser is Silent on Essential Points.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Dec. 27.—The newspapers today comment freely on Germany's reply to President Wilson's note concerning peace. All of them affirm that it contains nothing not contained in the first communication of Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German Imperial Chancellor, except that it proposes a conference in some neutral capital.

"Germany," says the Temps, "invites her adversaries to a conference without making to them any disclosure of what she proposes to say until their delegates surround the green cloth."

ATTACKS HOLLWEG.

The Temps then attacks in detail what it terms the systematic mendacity of Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg respecting the origin of the war, and alleges that he changed the date of the note of Count von Berchtold, the Austrian Foreign Minister, of which the Chancellor spoke recently in the Reichstag. The newspaper asserts that, while Count von Bernstorff says one thing in the United States, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg says another in Germany, and expresses the hope that Washington will now be able to measure the sincerity of the German government's declaration.

"Germany desires peace, that is evident," continues the Temps, "but it will be a German peace which she will tear from her adversaries by a ruse, not having had the power to conquer it by force. That is the significance of the maneuver, which outlines itself more clearly every day."

La Liberte remarks that Germany received the American note December 22, and that her reply had already left Berlin the 26th.

CELERITY OF GERMANS.

"Never in the exchange of communications with the government at Washington," says La Liberte, "has Wilhelmstrasse shown such celerity. In the period of the torpedoing of the Lusitania, Germany allowed entire months to pass without communicating to Mr. Wilson explanations embarrassing and belated. . . . The German note is silent on the essential point; it evades that entirely. Our enemy declines to unmask his batteries. The trap is more evident than ever, but the Allies will not be caught."

Letter to Organized Labor Sent by the Premier.

To Insist on Forced Service if it is the Only Way.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OTTAWA (Ont.) Dec. 27.—A letter sent today to organized labor by Premier Borden said that the proposal for national service is not connected with conscription, but says the idea was to make an appeal for voluntary national service which would render unnecessary any sort of conscription." He declares to give assurance that under no circumstances would conscription be carried out in Canada, asserting conscription should prove the most effective method to preserve the existence of the state I should consider it necessary, and would hesitate to act accordingly."

"As to conscripting wealth," he declared, "the government has already acted on this principle. Any further proposals in that regard must be submitted to Parliament."

The Executive Committee of the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress has decided that in view of assurances that "no penalty or coercion will be applied" members of all unions be recommended to sign and return the cards.

ALL CANADIANS ON CARD INDEX.

May be Preliminary Move to Conscription in War.

Letter to Organized Labor is Sent by the Premier.

To Insist on Forced Service if it is the Only Way.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OTTAWA (Ont.) Dec. 27.—In a letter sent today to organized labor, Premier Borden said that "the proposal for national service is not connected with conscription, but rather the idea was to make an appeal for voluntary national service which would render unnecessary any resort to conscription." He declined to give assurance that under no circumstances would conscription be carried out in Canada, asserting, "If conscription should prove the only effective method to preserve the existence of the state I should consider it necessary, and should not hesitate to act accordingly."

"As to conscripting wealth," he declared, "the government has already acted on this principle. Any further proposals in that regard must be submitted to Parliament."

The Executive Committee of the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress has decided that in view of assurances that "no penalty or coercion will be applied" members of all unions be recommended to fill in and return the cards.

ANK RESOURCES AKE VAST GAIN

Billions More in the Last Two Years.

Institutions are Stronger than Ever.

than Possessed by All of Europe and Japan.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Reports of national banks of the United States, Comptroller Williams announced tonight, have increased more than $4,000,000,000 during the past two years and now aggregate $26,000,000,000, exceeding by about $6,000,000,000 the total resources of the Bank of England, the Bank of France, the Bank of Russia, the German Reichsbank, the Bank of Italy, the Bank of Spain, the Bank of The Netherlands, the Bank of Denmark, the Swiss National Bank, and the Imperial Bank of Japan combined. The statement based upon reports from the last bank call, November 17, the comptroller calls attention to the fact that the increase has been at the rate of approximately 50 per cent. a year during the past two years, as compared with 7 per cent. a year for the ten-year period from 1904 to 1914, and that total resources are at present more than double what they were five years ago.

BEYOND PRECEDENT.

"The compilation just completed of returns for the last bank call," the comptroller's statement reads, "shows a condition of strength, progress and growth beyond all precedent. Resources of national banks on the date of the last call are greater than the total resources of all reporting State banks, savings banks, private banks and loan and trust companies throughout the United States at the time of the inauguration of the Federal reserve system about two years ago.

"It is also noteworthy that the resources of our national banks at this time exceeded by $321,000,000 the total resources of all the reporting national banking institutions in the United States, including State banks, private banks and loan and trust companies and national banks, as late as the year 1904."

GREATEST GAINS IN WEST.

"The greatest percentage of increase," the comptroller states, during the two-year period in which the Federal reserve system has been in operation, was in the Western States. Geographically, the increase is as follows:

New England, 22 per cent.; Eastern States, 19 per cent.; Southern States, 33 per cent.; Middle Western States 31 per cent.; Western States, 39 per cent.; Pacific States, 33 per cent.

"In this period," the statement says, "the South and the West, including the Far West, increased $2,000,000,000.

"Between September 12 and November 17 (last two bank call dates) the resources of the national banks of New England and Eastern States increased $444,000,000.

PERCENTAGES.

"The increase in resources for the year in the South for the same period was $664,000,000. The percentage of increase in the Western States was 11.76 and Pacific States 11.

"The average increase over the whole country was 7.69 per cent."

"The principal changes between September 12 and November 17, 1916, were an increase of $1,109,000,000 in loans; an increase of $1,126,000,000 in deposits, bringing the deposits of national banks up to $16,000,000,000; an increase of $237,000,000 in loans and discounts, an increase of $237,000,000 in investments, bringing the total reserves to $2,472,000,000, the highest ever reached by $185,000,000.

NAPKINS NOW GO UPON MENU.

Five Cents Extra is Shocking News to Philadelphians.

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27.—Like a thunderbolt, a notice, written on little slips of paper, appended to the menus in a large Market-street restaurant, broke the news today that the starchy lunchroom napkin had become a luxury. Henceforth only the opulent can have more than one. The high cost of laundering and the terrible ravages of the omnivorous "napkin hog" are twin reasons for the new rule, according to the proprietor of the restaurant. This was the notice: "Customers using more than one napkin charged 5 cents extra."

peace tomorrow would not materially reduce the price of bread, potatoes or meat; cotton would not go back to 10 cents a pound. But lumber might be higher. The price of copper, steel, zinc and other metals cannot be regulated from this country for six months after the close of the war, for foreign contracts at present have covered all our metals for the next six months.

"Should the war end tomorrow there would be no immediate effect on labor, for railroad and electrical and structural development of America have been arrested by the high prices of metals.

"Now we must raise our tariff and defend ourselves in certain lines at the close of this war. Germany has got to restore and rebuild Belgium. Great Britain and France must help her. Then all three will be in a natural trade alliance to take it out of the easiest and fattest mark. American financiers and business men see our weakness if Washington does not. They are refusing money and credit for an expansion based on war prosperity. Our greatest danger is the torrential stream of gold coming here.

NO PEACE FOR MONTHS.

"At present we have discounted both war and peace and in my judgment we are not going to see peace for many months. But if we go forward doing business with the prospect of peace continually before our eyes we shall do business on a sound, conservative basis. When peace does come, we shall be in a position to be helpful all around and supply goods to the whole world at a proper price to them and a proper profit for ourselves. Then prosperity for us may continue and all the world may share in it.

"The peace and prosperity of the world demands a league of all the nations to preserve the peace. Germany and Great Britain are going to be in a league of peace, but neither Germany nor the United States is going to head it, nor be the dictator of it."

POWER-LINE BREAK GIVES NEVADA CHILL.

SAGEBRUSH CITIES DEPRIVED OF HEAT AND LIGHT.

Discovery by Trouble Hunters in White Mountains, and Subsequent Repairs, Assure Tonopah and Goldfield of Relief—Mines are Much Inconvenienced.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

TONOPAH (Nev.) Dec. 27.—Hope of succoring cities, towns and mines of Southern Nevada, which have been without electric power and light while facing zero weather since Sunday seemed imminent today, when power and telephone company trouble hunters reported they had found three miles of wires down in the blizzard-swept White Mountains. All the trouble hunters who went into the mountains are safe near Laws, Cal., except a line rider named Wilson, whom a relief party found badly frozen and unconscious on his horse.

It was expected Tonopah and Goldfield and other cities and towns dotting an area of 6000 square miles affected by the break in the power line will have heat and light by tonight or tomorrow. Stores, hotels and office building occupants, dependent upon oil furnaces for heat, have suffered considerable since the power line went down in a blizzard.

Six steel towers of the power line are down near Laws, besides the three-mile break in the mountains.

Three thousand miners have been thrown out of work; mine sumps have been bulkheaded and reduction mills forced to use cordwood. It is estimated the mining companies have lost $200,000 already and employees nearly $60,000 in wages. The Tonopah water supply was declared ample for a short period.

MUCH SNOW IN NORTH.

PORTLAND (Or.) Dec. 27.—The snowfall extends well into Southwestern Washington, according to reports reaching here. Several mountain stage lines abandoned attempts to operate.

Chechalic, Wash, reported snow falling all morning; Astoria, Or., was under a two-inch blanket, and Salem, Or., was white with the fall.

Snow continued falling in Portland at noon, with the temperature at 25 above.

DEATHS IN ARKANSAS.

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) Dec. 27.—The death list in the storm which swept over South Central Arkansas yesterday afternoon remained at twelve tonight, but reports of injuries continued to arrive. It is probable that fifty or more persons were injured.

Property loss will amount to many hundred thousands of dollars, according to estimates today. Among the injured are five persons, residents of Leola, who were stunned by lightning shocks. All of the stricken districts have been reached and relief work is in progress.

IMITATE ARMY OF ARGENTINA.

South American System may Serve as Our Model.

Would Keep Half-million Men in Constant Training.

Large Reserve Contemplated Under the Staff Bill.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Argentina's military system is serving as a model for the universal service bill now being drafted by a committee of the Army General Staff. Officers familiar with staff opinion said today the measure was designed to keep half a million men under training with 2,500,000 trained reservists subject to call.

It probably will be three weeks before the bill and accompanying estimates of costs are ready for submission to the Secretary of War. Secretary Baker has not said whether he will approve or disapprove.

FEATURE OF THE BILL.

The main feature of the staff bill will be its provision for one year of intensive military instruction for all youths subject to its terms. It is expected exemptions due to physical disqualifications and for other reasons, including possibly the conscription of certain men for work in industrial plants necessary in war times, would leave available for army training between 450,000 and 500,000 of the 1,000,000 boys who reach the age of 18 each year.

In fixing upon a year as the minimum time for training the General Staff has followed the theory that the United States seeks to provide only for an army of defense. It has been stated to the House Committee by Maj.-Gen. Hugh L. Scott that although European nations give every soldier at least two years of hard work before turning him into the reserve, because of the geographical position of the country, a year will suffice here.

In a broad way the outline of the General Staff confinental army plan of last year would be followed in distributing tactical units of the reserve into ten infantry and six cavalry divisions. Reservists would be liable for two years' service in this force before passing into the unorganized reserve.

The result, when the system had been in operation a number of years, would be to give 500,000 men under arms and in process of training, a million more trained, equipped, organized and ready for immediate muster as first-line troops, and behind these the unorganized but trained reserve numbering more than 1,500,000. This is the basis on which estimates of cost will be made by the General Staff Committee.

HEALTH RISKS URGED UPON NATION

DECLARED BIG FACTOR IN SOCIAL REGENERATION.

Average Farmer Gets Less than Day Wages, Says Speaker at Joint Meeting of Four Sociological and Economic Organizations at Columbus.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

COLUMBUS (O.) Dec. 27.—Presidents of four national organizations, the American Economic Association, the American Sociological Society, the American Statistical Association and the American Association for Labor Legislation, delivered addresses at a joint meeting of these organizations here tonight. It was the opening of a four days' convention and was presided over by Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of Ohio State University.

Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale University, president of the American Association for Labor Legislation, in his address tonight, spoke of the nation-wide campaign now under way for compulsory health insurance.

"There is no other measure before the public which equals the power of health insurance toward social regeneration," he said. He pointed out that the United States was the only great industrial nation without compulsory health insurance.

George E. Vincent of Minnesota, president of the American Sociological Society, discussing country-side and nation, declared that as an industry farming pays the average farmer less than day wages; that only increase in land values gives him a delusive sense of prospering from agriculture; that tenancy is increasing disconcertingly, even in the best farming regions, such as Iowa and Illinois; that the rural population is increasingly footloose and migratory and that by reason of these conditions, education, social life, political responsibility, moral standards and religious functions are being neglected alarmingly and undermined.

Dr. Vincent deplored the group antagonisms among farmers' organizations, the collisions between farmers' clubs and local merchants, the fact that bankers are suspicious of new plans for rural credits and that farmers' alliances are at war with elevator companies and middlemen generally. He declared it was time to insist upon the national point of view as opposed to that of narrower group interests.

Charles P. Neill, president of the American Statistical Association, and President Thomas N. Carver, of the American Economic Association, were the other speakers tonight.

DRAFT CORRUPT PRACTICE PACT.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Work of drafting a corrupt political practice act to take the place of the Owen bill before the Senate after the holiday recess was taken up today by a Senate subcommittee. Many amendments to the Owen bill proposing changes in existing law governing campaign contributions and candidates' expenses are before the committee.

One suggestion being considered is the limiting of expenditures in Senatorial elections on a per capita basis, allowing a candidate to expend possibly 2 cents for each voter in a thickly settled State or 5 cents in one not so densely populated. This suggestion was framed to meet an objection made when the Owen bill was before the Senate that a hard and fast rule of expenditures applying to all sections was unfair.

NEWS OF VESSEL MOVEMENTS STRICTLY BANNED.

American Ship Sacramento, Stopped by German Submarine in the British Channel is Allowed in British Channel, is Allowed ality of Ownership.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, Dec. 27.—News of movements of British vessels to and from this port will be withheld by agents of the various lines as a result of an order received today from their head offices at Liverpool. All sailing lists have been destroyed and newspaper advertising of expected sailings has been withdrawn.

STOPPED BY SUBMARINE.

HAVRE, Dec. 27.—Capt. Plater of the American steamer Sacramento, who arrived here from Buenos Aires with a cargo of wheat, reports he was stopped in the English Channel by a German submarine. The commander of the submarine ordered him on board with his papers and after examining them said:

"You are carrying wheat, which we consider contraband of war, to France. It is lucky for you that your ship is American, otherwise we should have torpedoed you with great pleasure. You can proceed. Good luck to you."

The only steamer of the name of Sacramento listed in available maritime records is reported by the New York Maritime Register to have been recently transferred from American to British ownership. She was blacklisted by the British Admiralty in April, 1916, on charges of aiding German ships in the Pacific, but was removed from the blacklist last October.

CAREER OF SACRAMENTO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27.—The steamer Sacramento, reported to have been held up by a German submarine in the English channel, was formerly the German merchantman Alexandria of the Kosmos line. It was changed to American registry after the European war broke out, and later took part in alleged unneutral attempts to provision German warships in the Pacific.

H. von Schack, German Vice-Consul here; Henry Kaufmann, Chancellor of the Consulate; Maurice Hall, Consul for Turkey, and many others are awaiting trial in the United States District Court for an alleged connection with the activities of the Sacramento in alleged provisioning of German war craft.

The Sacramento was owned by the Northern and Southern Steamship Company when it arrived at Valparaiso, Chile, in 1915, light, after leaving San Francisco loaded with provisions. Capt. T. A. Anderson said German warships held him up and took his cargo. He was among the indicted, as was Philip Thayer, president of the Northern and Southern Steamship Company.

The Sacramento was reported sold last September to the Hudson Bay Company, said to be a British corporation.

MADRID (Spain) Tuesday, Dec. 26 (via Paris, Dec. 27.)—Four Greek steamships—the Omitres, Aristides, Isaropina and Contandris—have arrived at Las Palmas, Canary Islands, two of them bound from America with cargoes of wheat and corn, after having been stopped by a German submarine. They were permitted to enter Las Palmas only on condition that they should discharge their cargoes at that port.

SPEAKERS URGE METRIC SYSTEM

"Daylight Saving" Advocated by Noted Scientists.

Elizabethan Set of Standards is Called Obsolete.

Southern Negro Legends are Traced to Europe.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Adoption of the metric system of weights and measures for commercial use in the United States, and, also of the "daylight-saving" plan was advocated today by speakers in different sections of the convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

"An unusual opportunity is afforded at present to make the metric system the American, as well as the international language of commerce," asserted George F. Kunz, president of the New York Academy of Science.

"For the effective development of our trade," he said, "it is most urgent that all foreign catalogues and publications issued by manufacturers should use all dimensions expressed in metric as well as in English terms of weights and measures."

ALREADY IN USE.

The demand for war materials, he added, had forced the introduction of the metric system in many factories. A permanent organization to urge the adoption of the metric system was suggested by Henry V. Arny of Montclair, N. J., professor of chemistry in the college of pharmacy at Columbia University.

"It is high time for this country to throw off the shackles of an Elizabethan set of standards and add our 110,000,000 people to the 427,000,000 already using the metric system," he asserted.

Urging the merits of the "daylight-saving" plan, Marcus M. Marks, president of Manhattan borough, said it would give more time for recreation, improve the public health, and that it was estimated it would save $75,000,000 in lighting bills during the summer months.

WOMEN TAKE PART.

Women took a leading part in the discussion in some of the sections. Many southern negro tales and legends were traced to European sources by Mrs. Elsie Clewes Parsons of New York in addressing the American Folk Lore Society. Some of these stories and legends, she said, were told to African negroes by Portuguese traders many centuries ago.

Mrs. Lucy Wilson, wife of the director of the Commercial Museum at Philadelphia, read a report on excavation work in Mexico.

BERKELEY GETS FARM LOAN BANK.

TWELVE CITIES ARE NAMED BY FEDERAL BOARD.

Temporary Directors will be Appointed in Next Three Weeks and Stock Subscription Books will be Opened in Ten Days. Farmers Send in Applications.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Twelve cities in which are to be located the Federal farm loan banks were announced today by the Farm Loan Board, and it is expected that within sixty days the new system will be in operation, ready to make the loans for which applications already are pouring in from every section of the country.

The banks will be opened in Springfield, Mass.; Baltimore, Md.; Columbia, S. C.; New Orleans, La.; Houston, Tex.; St. Louis, Mo.; Louisville, Ky.; St. Paul, Minn.; Omaha, Neb.; Wichita, Kan.; Spokane, Wash., and Berkeley, Cal.

Stock subscription books of the bank will be opened within the next ten days, probably about January 2, to remain open for thirty days. It is expected, however, that the government will have to supply most of the $9,000,000 capital under that section of the law which empowers the Secretary of the Treasury to make up the unsubscribed stock.

TO NAME DIRECTORS.

Temporary directors, five to each bank, will be named probably within the next three weeks by the board. As soon as the banks have been organized and borrowers have subscribed to $200,000 of the stock of each bank, the temporary directors will surrender their authority to boards of nine directors each, six of whom will be named by the farmer borrowers and three by the Farm Loan Board. The permanent directors will serve three years and receive per diem compensation, as in the case of Federal reserve bank directors.

THE SYSTEM.

Each borrower must subscribe to stock in the bank from which he borrows to the extent of 5 per cent. of his loan, and the original subscribers to the capital stock are required to surrender their holdings as they may be needed to meet the situation. In designating locations for the banks, the board was guided chiefly by the needs of rural sections. This has resulted in placing only two of the twelve banks in New England and Middle Atlantic States, the chief centers of population. Three go to the South, five to the farming States of the Middle West and West, and two to the Pacific Coast.

ORDER OFFICERS TO SCHOOL.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

It is the first assignment of officers from civil life since the National Defense Act, which authorized their appointment, was passed. There still remain more than a thousand vacancies.

ADAMSON LAW'S REPEAL WANTED

Compulsory Arbitration is Federation Specter.

Changed Attitude Cause of Politicians' Worry.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 27.—Surface indications around headquarters of the American Federation of Labor in this city today developed the conclusion that the federation is ready to urge the repeal of the Adamson railroad wage law, passed under such sensational circumstances at the last session of Congress.

It is not that the federation is so much opposed to the Adamson law, but that the federation is ready to acknowledge the truth of the contention made last session by Senator Borah of Idaho, that if Congress is going to regulate wages and hours of labor it must go the whole way and exercise the power necessary to see that its legislation is carried out—and this means compulsory arbitration.

WHY REPEAL SOUGHT.

The federation, rather than see a compulsory arbitration law on the statute books, would prefer that Congress repeal the Adamson law and let the railroad brotherhoods and other railroad employees, in the customary way, work out their hours of labor and wage problems with their employers. With that law out of the way there will not be the necessity for the arbitration bill that otherwise will exist.

As word of the changing attitude of the American Federation of Labor is being noised about the national capital, Senators and Representatives who tumbled over one another to support the Adamson bill, thinking that thereby they were currying favor with the labor unions are beginning to wonder just "where they were at;" and if the federation, a little later, comes out openly in favor of the repeal of the Adamson law these members will be in a quandary as to how to vote or how to explain their votes.

HAS LUDICROUS SIDE.

The situation that is developing is not without its ludicrous side. The Adamson law was passed largely by Democratic votes, to catch the labor vote in the fall election, and Senators and Representatives, especially Democrats who voted for the bill, used their votes in their appeal to the laboring voters for support.

The Adamson law admittedly caught many thousand labor votes, for it was put forward as the best evidence of President Wilson's belief in the eight-hour principle. Now Wilson, and in a large measure because of this law, the very element among the voters to whom the appeal was made seemingly are getting ready to repudiate that statute.

GETS PSYCHIC WORD FROM MUNSTERBERG.

"SPIRIT RETURN IS A TRUTH," BURDEN OF MESSAGE.

Boston Woman Who Says Late Harvard Professor was Total Stranger to Her Asserts He has Conversed with Her Since Death, Through Medium.

BOSTON, Dec. 27.—"Spirit return is a truth." This is the gist of a message from Hugo Munsterberg, psychology professor of Harvard, who died December 16 while lecturing at Radcliffe.

The message was received by a Brookline woman—An entire stranger—who says that she did not know Prof. Munsterberg and never heard him speak before. She is Miss Caroline T. Pillsbury, who says that while she is psychic and an explorer in the field of spirit-return she is not a medium.

She is the editor of a weekly publication in Boston called Boston Ideas and was formerly assistant editor of the Boston Times. She is also well known as a suffrage advocate.

The message, she says, was conveyed to her unexpectedly by a medium in whom she has complete confidence. The spirit spoke through the medium, saying in part: "When I was an inhabitant of the earth, I always endeavored to be honest with myself and honest with the public and I did not then find any proofs that excarnate beings communicate with their earth friends.

"I am still living and I still endeavor to be honest with myself and with the world. I therefore bring this message: 'Although I have been in the spirit-world but a brief time I have received absolute proof that excarnate beings can and do communicate with their earth friends.

"However valuable the messages I may bring in future times this one today is important—spirit-return is a truth.

"I am Hugo Munsterberg."

"These words were spoken with simplicity and directness and expressed a powerful individuality," says Miss Pillsbury. "I am absolutely certain it was he though I did not know him and had never heard him speak."

YEAR'S WORST FOG ENVELOPS LONDON.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—One of the thickest fogs of recent years enveloped London today, disorganizing traffic and causing great inconvenience. Owing to the restrictions with regard to the lighting of the city, the somber pall at nightfall brought surface traffic to a complete standstill. The omnibusses stopped running, taxicabs disappeared from the streets and the people moved about with the aid of torchlights and electric flashlights.

The underground railways were not affected and were the only means of transportation. They, however, were soon choked by the enormous crowds, with the result that numerous stations had to be closed until the crush was relieved in order to prevent accidents. Steam railway traffic to and from London was halted from points as far away as Birmingham, which also was enveloped by the fog. The fog here at frequent intervals was dull gray, murky yellow and black.

SAN DIEGO SAVED B YA RAIN STORM.

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 27.—A rain storm that visited the county yesterday prevented any fall of temperature of a damaging character. Because of the heavy run-off in the city's impounding system the rain was also valuable. There is ten inches of snow on the level at Cuyamaca, fifty miles southeast of here in the mountains, but no damage has resulted to the crops in the lowlands. A killing frost in exposed places is the warning of the weather man today. Continued fair tonight with increasing cloudiness tomorrow is the forecast.

All day the weather was mild and though it clouded up at times there was no rain. Snow began falling at Campo, the foothill town seventy miles from here, on the way to Imperial but the road is in good condition tonight.

BURNING ORCHARD HEATERS AT VENTURA.

VENTURA, Dec. 28.—There is considerable apprehension here tonight over the situation so far as the cold weather is concerned. Orchard heaters throughout the district are being burned.

The temperature is falling. The mountains are blanketed with snow. Santa Paula and Esepec, reported 27 and 29 degs. for the early hours this morning. At 10 o'clock tonight it was 38 degs. here.

It is clear, still and no wind blowing.

It is now 47° and temperature at San Emedio is 34¼, and 31 in Bakersfield. The maximum today here was 43. Last night's minimum was 30 degrees.

DEFER INVESTIGATION.

Citizens' Committee Will Postpone Action for Thirty Days, But Is Determined to Secure the Resignations of Mayor and Four Trustees.

The Citizens' Committee of sixteen Venice business men, who have been in session for the past few weeks with the purpose in view of obtaining the resignations of Mayor Gerety and four other Venice Trustees, suddenly adjourned last night to meet again February 3. In a resolution, adopted shortly before adjourning, the committee stated that certain information received clearly edomnstrated that the object for which they were organized (the resignation of the Mayor and Trustees) could best be obtained by deferring action for thirty days.

The resolution further thanked Trustees Pinkerton, Lewis and Carr for meeting with the committee and aiding it in its investigations. It was further indicated that when the committee again convenes, it will seek the co-operation of all the citizens of Venice, purposing to have these citizens gather at a mass meeting.

Dana Burke, chairman of the committee, in a signed statement, declared last night that the committee is determined to accomplish the result as outlined. He also stated that certain committeemen will see Mayor Gerety and Trustee Smart, who remained away from the meetings, and will endeavor to show them that the people desire their resignations. However, Mr. Burks emphatically stated that no bulldozing tactics will be used by the members of the committee.

ENGLAND AND FRANCE AGREED AS TO REPLY.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—England and France have fully agreed upon the terms of the reply to be made to the peace proposals of the Teutonic Allies, the Associated Press learned at the Foreign Office today. It is hoped here that the answer may be dispatched by the end of this week, but other nations of the Entente, although agreed in principle, may require verbal alterations which would necessitate further delay.

It is expected that, once this reply has been forwarded, the response to President Wilson's note will follow very shortly.

FRENCH SOCIALISTS FOR FREE DEPENDENTS.

PARIS, Dec. 27, 4:01 p.m.—The Congress of French Socialists today, by an almost unanimous vote, passed a resolution requesting the Entente Allied governments to reply to President Wilson's note concerning peace by saying that they are ready to tell him their conditions for peace, which must include just reparation for the wrongs done by the Central empires. The Socialists also declared they were for such a peace as was defined by the International Socialist Congress in London in February, 1915.

It was decided by the Socialists of the Entente Allied countries at the London conference that "no hope for peace can be entertained until German militarism is crushed."

Resolutions were passed urging Belgium be liberated and compensated, that the question of Poland should be settled in accordance with the wishes of the Polish people, and that "from Alsace-Lorraine to the Balkans those populations that have been annexed by force shall receive the right freely to dispose of themselves."

MAN THREATENED, HOUSE IS BOMBED.

OAKLAND, Dec. 27.—A quantity of explosive was touched off here tonight under the rear of a house occupied until recently by Charles T. Hutchinson, manager of a trade publication, who had moved after receiving several letters threatening death unless he deposited $5000 at a designated spot here. Private detectives had been hired to guard the house, but were absent tonight. The only occupant of the house was a Chinese servant, who was on the top floor and was not injured.

The explosion tore a hole two feet square in a basement wall and wrecked the rear porch. According to the police, the explosive used was not dynamite. On November 12 Mrs. C. R. Allen, mother of Mrs. Hutchinson, found twelve sticks of dynamite under a tankhouse adjoining the residence. Several threatening letters had been received prior to that time, and when others were received two days later the family moved.

Mrs. Lawrence McConville of Los Angeles sustained a bruised right shoulder and possible internal injuries. Mr. McConville and his aunt, Mrs. Alice Johnson, were bruised. CZAR RECOGNIZES PEACE IS COMING.

TELLS ARMY ALLIES MUST DICTATE TERMS.

Declares Germany, Feeling Her Complete Defeat is Near, Knowing Her Own Weakness Offers to Start Negotiations Before Military Strength is Exhausted.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PETROGRAD, Dec. 27 (via London.)—(British Admiralty per Wireless Press.) In the course of an order issued to all the units of the Russian army, dated December 25, the Emperor, in a brief review showing how the inequalities in the technical resources for warfare as between the Allies and the Central Powers are being gradually removed, with the result that the enemy strength is apparently waning, while that of Russia and her allies is constantly growing, proceeds to say:

"Germany is feeling that her complete defeat is near, and near also is the hour of retribution for all her wrongdoings and violations of the moral law. As in the time of her strength she declared war, so now feeling her weakness, she suddenly offers to enter upon peace negotiations, desiring to complete such negotiations before her military talent is exhausted.

"At the same time she is creating a false impression about the strength of her army by utilizing her temporary success over the Rumanians, who lack experience in the conduct of modern warfare."

ALLIES PREROGATIVE.

Arguing that the Allies are entitled to choose a favorable hour for peace negotiations, just as Germany chose a favorable hour for declaring war the order says:

"This time has not yet arrived. The enemy has not been driven out of the provinces he has occupied. Russia's attainment of the tasks created by the war—regarding Constantinople and the Dardanelles, as well as the creation of a free Poland from all three of her now incomplete tribal districts—has not yet been guaranteed. To conclude peace at this moment would mean failure of all the fruits of the untold trials of the heroic Russian troops and fleet. These trials and the still more sacred memory of those noble sons of Russia who have fallen on the battlefield do not permit of thought of peace until final victory over our enemies.

"Who dares to think that he who brought about war shall have it in his power to conclude the war at any time he likes?"

IN CONCLUSION.

In conclusion, the Emperor, expressing confidence that no Russian soldier would desire peace until the enemy had been expelled from Russian soil and had given guarantees to prevent a possible repetition of a treacherous attack, says:

"Let us be firm in the certainty of our victory and the All Highest will bless our standards and will cover them afresh with glory and give us peace worthy of your heroic deeds, my glorious troops—a peace for which future generations will bless your memory, which will be sacred to them."

EL PASO, Dec. 27.—Villa obtained a forced loan of 100,000 pesos from residents of Torreon after the recent capture of that town, a Mexican from Torreon reported here today. There was no looting, he said.

All of the noncommissioned officers of the Eighth Ohio Infantry signing the "Round Robin," protested today a written explanation to Gen. In the explanation presented to Gen. Bell, the noncommissioned officers said they had not signed the statement which was sent to an Akron (O.) paper and afterwards intercepted and returned.

The statement which they signed was intended as a correction of a newspaper article appearing in an Akron paper, they affirmed. The statement ended by saying no offense was meant against military regulation when the statement was signed.

Gen. Bell announced that only Private Dixon would be tried by summary court on the charge of drafting the "round robin," and that Private Murphy, who was also confined in quarters, would not have to answer to the charge of circulating it.

NEW NAMES FOR OLD PROPOSED.

ASPERSIONS ARE CAST ON SOME FLOSSY COGNOMENS.

Who Does this Naming Anyhow? Councilman Demands After Clerk had Glibly Drolled Over the Following: Florinda, Florizel, Mallina, Prospero, Paducah.

The City Council yesterday adopted the ordinance to change the name of Bishop street to Pope street. Councilman Roberts wanted to know why the elevating process was not done by easy stages by naming the street Cardinal.

This opened a general discussion on the 800 proposed changes and Councilman Conwell remarked. "Some people are going to go to sleep on Florence street and wake up on Bridget street and there's going to be a big howl."

"Who gives these new names?" asked Councilman Wright. "Some of them are certainly a fright.

Councilman Topham explained that the City Engineer endeavors to get the property holders to suggest the names, but if they don't do it he names the streets himself.

"Well, I guess he names them himself," said Councilman Conwell, as D. M. Carroll, chief deputy city clerk, chanted out the following, among other changes.

Florinda street to Florizel avenue, Highland Court to Plata street, Mission Court to Padre Court, Hollenbeck Terrace to Mallina street, Palm Court to Peru street, Palo Verde street to Paducah street, Prospect avenue to Prospero avenue, South Park Walk to Parkley Walk, and Sycamore avenue to Potomac avenue.

A deputation from Hillcrest Drive protested vigorously against the proposed change of name to Escarpa street. "We are all Americans out there," said Alfred R. Varian, "and we don't want this Spanish name." The Council decided to let the residents suggest another cognomen.

Then Councilman Wright returned to the charge. "Why not memorialize some of our leading old-time citizens?" he inquired.

"Didn't you hear the objection just made to Spanish names?" asked Councilwoman Lindsey.

Councilman Topham stated that "it is an awful job" making the 800 changes, but it has to be done because the duplication of street names causes much annoyance and trouble. The policy pursued, he stated, where there are conflicting names is to preserve the widest one. If people on the streets which are to be changed will inform the City Engineer of the name they prefer it will be so named.

SANTA ANA DISTRICT HAS NO DAMAGE.

SANTA ANA, Dec. 27.—Orchard heating was not necessary last night to ward off frost damage. The frost has done no damage here this season.

Thermometers in orchards last night averaged about 30 degs. as lowest figure, though some in low spots went as low as 25 degs. for a short time. In the warm belt along the foothills no precautions have been taken to fight the frost as oranges there have never been damaged. While there has been some smudging done on several nights in the more exposed spots the experts here say that smudging has not been necessary to save any of the fruit here. Tonight at 10 o'clock the thermometer registered 43 degs.

RIVERSIDE CONDITION SAME AS LAST NIGHT.

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 27.—The weather conditions tonight are identical with last night, when the thermometer went down to 30, according to the report of the United States Weather Bureau Observer. Some of the low lying districts reported a minimum of 29 for a short time early this morning.

It was not necessary to smudge last night, and the growers, while still exercising vigilance, do not expect to be called out tonight. Today's maximum, 52, is six degrees above that of yesterday.

Pioneer orange growers call attention to the fact that a freeze seriously damaging citrus fruit has never occurred following a heavy fall of snow in the mountains, debarring north winds. Moist conditions resulting from the melting of the snow is the explanation given in support of this observation.

"HEALERS" TO RETURN.

Buffalo Judge Decides After Long Fight that Schlatter and Schroeder Must Face Illegal Use of Mail Charge in Federal Court Here.

Government officials yesterday decided Francis Schlatter and August Schroeder, now being held in custody in Buffalo, N. Y., must be returned to Los Angeles to face trial here in the Federal Court on a charge of using the mails to defraud. Schlatter, who is 70 years old, and his companion, Schroeder, 60 years old, are charged with having posed as divine healers, using the United States mails to carry on their business.

For two months the two healers have been fighting extradition. They were arrested subsequent to an exciting chase by government officials that led into Canada.

Federal Judge Hazel, sitting in the United States District Court in Buffalo, yesterday ordered their removal to this city. Both prisoners had been fighting extradition because Schlatter had already been found not guilty in New York City some time ago on a similar charge.

WHY TEXT-BOOKS FAIL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CINCINNATI (O.) Dec. 27.—Students from secondary schools are deficient in their knowledge of history, and history text-books fail of their purpose, according to a score of professors of history from American universities and colleges at a conference in connection with the American Historical Association in session here today.

Among the colleges and universities a general tendency exists to ignore the work of students in secondary schools, said Prof. Arley B. Show, Leland Stanford University, chairman of the conference.

History courses, he said, must be adjusted to the needs of pupils, who now find a "complete and startling lack of uniformity" in the pursuance of their studies. Prof. Show advocated a standardization of historical studies, or at least a uniformity in their teaching.

"We no longer are able," he said, "to depend upon text-books as our main stakes."

Representatives from leading universities in America formulated an organization to be known as the university center for higher studies in Washington.

According to the provisions of the constitution adopted, a residence and center of study for students in North and South America will be provided for access to the large resources of documentary history in archives, the government.

Universities and colleges contributing to the support of the center will organize a council, governing board and an advisory committee.

MEXICAN AUTHORITY FROM THE PEOPLE.

QUERETARO (Mex.) Dec. 26 (via Mexico City, Dec. 27.)—At tonight's session of the Mexican Constitutional Congress an article of the new Constitution was adopted declaring that the "national sovereignty exists essentially and originally in the people; that the entire public authority springs from the people and is instituted for their benefit, and that the people have the inalienable right at any time to alter or modify the form of government."

The article says it is the will of the Mexican people to continue as a representative republic composed of States free and sovereign in all that concerns their internal affairs, but united in one federation established under this fundamental law.

The labor article still is under discussion, the points debated being the questions of an eight-hour day and no night work for women and children. These measures were added to the original article in committee and a separate vote may be taken on them tomorrow. The labor representatives also are pressing for more ample protection against capital.

The committee report on the penal article was defeated and sent back for revision because it provided for a system of penal colonies.

Notwithstanding the low temperatures which prevailed in Southern California Wednesday morning it is the opinion of those best able to judge that there was no damage to the citrus crop of appreciable character, although here and there the chilling weather may have caused a slight injury. The yield this year is large and, even if the 1 per cent.—suggested by some—materializes in the loss of loss, it will only curtail to that amount an estimated increase of 10 to 12 per cent. in production.

Manager Powell of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange declared yesterday afternoon: "The orange crop of Southern California, as a whole, has not suffered and the volumes of shipments will not be cut down."

United States Weather Bureau Observer Ford A. Carpenter, in discussing the low temperature now prevailing, declared not only was Tuesday's noon temperature of 38 deg. the lowest of that time of day since the bureau was established, but the maximum temperature of 46 deg. for the day equaled the lowest maximum ever recorded—on January 1, 1882.

Wednesday's minimum temperature of 36 deg. was the second lowest on record, being exceeded only by 34 deg. on January 8, 1913.

In the orange belt at the present time it is said that $70,000 worth of oil is being consumed each day and night. This amount will continue to be expended for approximately the next twenty days. Growers realize the last ten days in December and the first ten in January are the critical nights for them, and every effort is being made to ward off a serious freeze.

"Unfortunately there is no method of making a seasonal observation," declared Observer Carpenter, "and all we can do is to watch each day. If the present low temperatures prevail, and winds sweep in to prevent the natural radiation of the air, or if the days continue to be cloudless and the ground becomes thoroughly chilled, then the damage to the crop may be considerable."

Constant inquiry among the growers for the past two days reveals almost a unanimous opinion that the cold weather has not materially affected the orange crop. On the other hand, any sort of a story can be heard from those not in the field. There are many reasons given by the grower for the hardiness of the tree and fruit. One of them—quite logical in its reasoning—is that the tree has become hardened to the cool weather. For more than two weeks the weather has been of a trying character. This acclimatization has caused the tree and the fruit to throw its sap back to the roots and, with the ripened fruit having been picked for the holiday trade, there remains only the fruit which is located behind the leaves and in the interior of the tree, which, of course, finds protection in the outer leaves.

ANOTHER STORM HEADED THIS WAY.

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 27.—The whole of the Pacific Coast from San Francisco to Puget Sound is in the grip of another storm tonight, which is said to be of "decided character," in the language of the government forecaster, who predicts the downfall of rain will cover the entire State tomorrow.

Rain began falling here this afternoon with an increasing southeast wind, which promises to become heavy if a falling barometer is a criterion.

Violent snowstorms are raging in all the mountain districts, in some cases causing delays to trains, stalling wages and overwhelming cattle that have not already been driven to lower ranges.

FLUFFY SNOWFLAKES DROP AT GLENDORA.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDORA, Dec. 27.—For the first time in fifteen years there was witnessed a snowstorm as far away from the foothills as the business center of Glendora. Fifteen years ago it spit snow in big, fluffy flakes for fifteen or twenty minutes. At that time the snow fell to a depth of two feet on the mountains and the snow line extended down almost to the base of the foothills. Yesterday morning at about 8 o'clock it began snowing and continued with short intervals until about noon, but the crystal flakes came thick and fast and at times large, soft and fluffy; they melted either just after or just before reaching the ground in the upper edge of the valley. But not so with the mountain sections, as by noon the face of the mountains was whitened by a mantle of snow. By 3 o'clock, however, it had almost disappeared, as the weather moderated after noon and at times the sun broke from behind the broken clouds.

There was no wind at the time the snow fell, so it came down gently, and in so doing attracted a great deal of attention and comment, as the oldest inhabitants had never seen anything like it before.

The citrus fruit growers state that there has been no damage to their crops and that, if anything, the weather will make a more perfect commercial orange than obtained in normal years.

CITRUS SITUATION STILL SATISFACTORY.

REDLANDS, Dec. 27.—It was cloudy last night until early in the morning, and at that time the temperature dropped to 28 in the groves here. Citrus growers say that practically no damage was done and in some of the lower groves the orchard heaters were not even lighted.

The temperature was about ten degrees higher today than yesterday. There is considerable moisture in the atmosphere and the snow on the mountains is heavy, all conditions being considered favorable.

YIELD BIG AND DAMAGE LIGHT.

WHITTIER, Dec. 27.—While citrus growers were keenly alive to the possibility of a damaging frost last night, a careful survey of the East Whittier and La Habra groves today showed that the damage was slight, except in the lowest places.

In what is usually regarded as the "safe belt" the damage appears to be confined to wilted leaves on young growth and tender tips.

The damage for Monday and Tuesday nights was not so great as the damage some ten days ago, when the temperature went lower and the air was dry.

In the exposed places in the lower levels it is admitted that some fruit may be damaged from freezing, but it is too early to be certain of this, and even if it proves so the loss will be very small; in fact, the heavy yield more than makes up any possible injury.

ORCHARD HEATERS SAVED THE DAY.

POMONA, Dec. 27.—Heavy firing of orchard heaters probably prevented damage to citrus fruit in the Pomona Valley Tuesday night. The most unusual weather of the year prevailed here sunset and contrary to the usual trend of events the foothill districts appeared to be somewhat colder than points in the valley. The orchardists in this vicinity did not begin firing their heaters until about 2 o'clock Wednesday morning, but the growers north and northwest of here lighted the heaters about 10 o'clock Tuesday evening and the heat from them drifted down into Pomona, helping the growers there to keep the temperature at 28 deg.

At one or two places the temperature hit 27 for short intervals, but it is emphatically declared by citrus experts that no noticeable injury has yet been done in the district. The soundness of the fruit is attributed to the fact that the district is boldly fortified with modern heaters which make it possible for the growers to raise the temperature in their groves on short notice whenever they have an impulse to do so.

TRYING EXPERIENCE SIX MEN OFF CATALINA ISLAND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Dec. 27.—Compelled to battle for their lives in a heavy sea off the northeast end of Catalina Island, after a gale had wrecked their helpless craft on a rocky point, six men, three of them from Long Beach, were forced to plunge into the icy waters of the ocean and fight their way to shore Christmas night. The victims of the wreck arrived in Long Beach tonight from San Pedro, where they landed from Catalina this afternoon.

The men were John and Fred Wells, brothers, and William Berke, who holds the world's undersea diving record, of Long Beach, and Stanley Wright, Capt. John Gray and Harvey Mercerau of Seattle. All six of the men are connected with the Oregon Wrecking, Salvage and Marine Construction Company of Portland and Seattle.

Breaking a piston rod earlier in the day, the sixty-five-foot power launch Gray, a staunch ocean-going craft, was driven onto the rocks at the end of Catalina Christmas night.

A terrific gap was torn in the side of the vessel as she pounded against the rocks, and all six of her crew, three of whom are expert divers and swimmers, were compelled to jump for their lives into the black sea.

The men managed to swim to shore after a hard battle with the raging breakers and following considerable wandering in their wet clothes found shelter in the hut of Wilber Johnson, a Catalina hunter. The hunter's hospitality made the wreck victims as comfortable as possible under the circumstances. A warm fire soon dried their clothes and they were given accommodations for the remainder of the night in the hunter's goat stable, where plenty of straw and blankets were provided.

Ten Floats Form "Garden of Allah" Serial.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Dec. 28.—With the arrival of the Pennsylvania and Oregon football teams, the election of Dr. C. D. Lockwood as grand marshal of the parade and the announcement of ten new entries in the parade, all by wealthy men, final arrangements for the Tournament of Roses next Monday neared completion.

Dr. Lockwood is a member of the Valley Hunt Club, the Pasadena social organization which founded the tournament twenty-eight years ago, and his five aides are members of the club, two of them having participated in the first tournament—Dr. F. F. Rowland, C. D. Daggett, A. J. Dodworth, Thaddeus C. Lowe and William R. Staats.

Dr. Rowland is the only surviving member of the first Tournament of Roses committee. Mr. Daggett rode in a decorated runabout in the first tournament parade.

David Blankenhorn announced yesterday that he and these ten other men would enter floats in the parade in a society feature, "The Garden of Allah." Henry E. Huntington, John N. Willys, William Wrigley, Jr., F. W. Sewell, Charles T. Knight, A. L. Garford, Hugh Chalmers, D. M. Linnard and Dr. A. T. Necomb. No expense will be spared in making these floats exceptionally beautiful.

A few minutes after the arrival of the Pennsylvania football players yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Raymond they were in uniform and engaged in a signal practice on the golf course. The reception committee was composed of the Tournament of Roses officials and members of the University of Pennsylvania Alumni Association. The Oregon players arrived yesterday morning and immediately went to Tournament Park for exercise.

At 6 o'clock yesterday morning Pasadena was the coldest city in Southern California, the temperature registering at 25 deg. above zero, and making the coldest morning of the year, and with the exception of January 7, 1913, the year of the "freeze," the coldest morning on record since the government weather station was opened here ten years ago. The cold lasted such a short while, however, that the citrus crop was not damaged. Of course, the smudge pots were in use. Men were up all night in the orange groves around Pasadena.

FUMIGATOR'S LICENSE CANCELLED BY BOARD.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, Dec. 27.—Upon the recommendation of County Horticultural Commissioner R. K. Bishop, the Board of Supervisors today revoked the fumigator's license of Edward Lewis of Fullerton.

Bishop stated that Lewis purposely failed to fumigate some trees in the Barman orchard at Fullerton, thus making it possible for the orchard to be quickly infested.

COME OVER TO THE ANTHONY PLACE AT Tenth and Hope and look at our cheap cars. We have a number of small touring cars and roadsters that we can sell for $100 to $300. We are not junk or as as is dealers and these cars are in good running condition. Our prices are lower than you will find on the Olive and Main street lots and we will give you service on them.

We are going to close these cheap cars out this week. Our terms are very liberal and our treatment of our used car buyers is the same as we accord Packard buyers. The same high-class service department for everybody. Remember no reasonable offer will be refused. We have Fords, Reos, Stoddards, Stearns, Rambler and others.

SEE THE NEW LOT OF SECOND-HAND GOOD cars we are offering this week at prices that you will certainly agree are low enough. There is not a firm in Los Angeles that has sold as many of their used cars, during this wonderful year of 1916, as we have. The reason was that the others were not willing to cut their prices low enough to match ours. If you are after a good used car, we have it, just let us ask it that you call and see them. If we have not what you want, you will not be urged to buy.

Open all day today.

Vocal selections were rendered by Miss Nan King, and the musical numbers were provided by the Burns Dance Orchestra.

With the object of persuading the people of the East and Middle West to spend their winters and vacations in California, the Union Pacific has instituted a nation-wide advertising campaign, according to a statement given out yesterday by District Passenger Agent Jackson. The advertisements will appear in the leading periodicals of the country.

MEXICO BEST CONSUMER.

Collector of Customs Gets Local Export Report for November, via New York—Ninety Per Cent. of Commodities go to Southern Republic.

The report of exports from the port of Los Angeles, for November, which is now compiled in New York, was received here yesterday by the Collector of Customs.

It shows that 90 per cent. of the exports are for Mexico and that the grand total value is $268,640. Of this amount $254,152 is the value of the domestic exports, $9721 the value of foreign exports not sent from a bonded warehouse, and $4767 of the foreign exports sent from a bonded warehouse.

Nine pages of closely written copy are required to enumerate the exports for the month, covering everything needed for man from prunes to automobiles.

DENIES ENGAGEMENT.

Young Diplomat Says He is Not to Wed Daughter of ex-Premier.

Mrs. Frank Gibson, mother of Hugh S. Gibson, the brilliant young Los Angeles diplomat, received a cablegram from her son in London yesterday denying his reported engagement to Miss Elisabeth Asquith, daughter of the former Premier of England, and stating that an official denial will be made today.

The supposed engagement was widely printed in London newspapers and their reports chronicled by the Associated Press.

CARROLL ALLEN MARRIES AGAIN.

Second Wife, Wedded in Nashville, Prominent in Southern Society.

Carroll Allen, the Los Angeles attorney and banker and Mrs. Orrin T. Higgins, a Redlands society matron, were married in Nashville, Tenn., several days ago, according to an announcement made there yesterday.

The announcement of the engagement, made exclusively in The Times in October, came to friends of the couple as a distinct surprise. The marriage was celebrated at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. G. Bransford, a society woman of prominence in the South and was witnessed only by members of the family. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. Allen left with his bride for a trip to New York and other eastern cities, returning to Nashville in time for Christmas. They expect to arrive in Los Angeles soon after the holidays.

Mrs. Allen was the widow of a song of the late Gov. Higgins of New York. She is well known in social circles of the South and East, as well as on the Pacific Coast. Mr. Allen's former wife, Mrs. Evelyn Allen, was granted a decree of divorce from him in Reno on October 14. She is reported to be in New York.

INITIATIVE ON STRONG DRINK.

City Council Must Now Act on Petitions Having Necessary Signers.

Initiative positions containing 25,371 signatures were presented to City Clerk Wilde yesterday afternoon by Orton E. Goodwin. The Council will be compelled to take action upon the proposed ordinance which provides for the elimination of strong drinks from all saloons and other public drinking places. Until the documents were filed many saloon-keepers scoffed at the idea of their business being affected.

The City Clerk has ten days in which to check up the petition and then the Council has twenty days during which it can pass the ordinance. If it does not wish to pass it then it must set the date for the election. The law provides the ordinance must be placed upon the ballot at any special or regular election and it has been presented in time to get it before the people at the bond election which has been tentatively scheduled for February 2.

Question.

APPROVE PAY DEMAND.

Supervisors Believe Election Board Appointee, Who was Turned Down Because He was Late, Should be Reimbursed.

When Harry Radcliff, appointed on the election board in Precinct 417, showed up at the general election at 5:55 o'clock, he was informed by Inspector Woodruff that he could not serve. So Mr. Radcliff went away, but because he was ready to serve and was not permitted for the reason that he was ten minutes late, he made a demand for his pay.

The case came before the Board of Supervisors yesterday through a report of the case by County Counsel Hill. The report stated that a Mrs. Angell was substituted for Mr. Radcliff, and that in dismissing Mr. Radcliff the inspector relied on the provision that the election board should be at the polls at 5:45 o'clock.

The Supervisors took the stand that to refuse Mr. Radcliff his pay under the circumstances would be to throw open the doors to any member of the board to ring in some one else, and thereby defeat the selections made by the Board of Supervisors. A motion to approve his demand was carried.

AFFIRM TWO JUDGMENTS.

Los Angeles and Kern County Cases Decided by Appellate Court.

In the case of Margaret E. McClay and C. E. McClay against the Superior Court of Los Angeles county, and Judges Shenk and Curtis, for a writ of review, the judgment of the lower court has been affirmed by the District Court of Appeals.

A judgment was rendered against Mrs. McClay, her husband being a co-defendant, but he was not served with a summons to appear. On this ground Mrs. McClay asked a reversal of the judgment.

The court holds that where a husband and wife are sued together the wife may defend for her own right, but the process by which jurisdiction of the person is acquired is separate and independent as to each defendant, although the defendants be husband and wife.

The court also affirmed the judgment of Superior Judge Mahon of Kern county, in the suit brought by W. H. Callahan against J. M. Danziger, the Lost Hills Syndicate and others, to recover $1170.73, alleged to be due for money advanced and other expenses. The lower court found for the plaintiff, and Danziger appealed.

MOTHER ENDS LIFE.

Grieving for Loss of Son Who Left Her for Bad Companions.

No sooner had Jesus Gonzalez, 29 years old, left his mother at their home, No. 1512 Kearney street, last night, after she had pleaded with him in vain to renounce his associates and settle down to work, than the grief-stricken woman, Mrs. Donaciana Gonzalez, 56 years old, ended her life by shooting.

The son was still within a few steps of the house, and returning to find his mother dying, assisted in carrying her to the ambulance which took her to the Receiving Hospital. Accompanying his mother there, the young man swooned when told of her death, and it was necessary to care for him at the institution through the night.

Civic Leaders Strong to Bring World C

THERE lies on the desk of President Wilson at the White House in Washington this morning the formal invitation of the Mayor and City Council of Los Angeles to the belligerent nations of Europe to hold their Peace Conference in Los Angeles.

The resolutions of invitation, adopted by the City Council yesterday morning, as the first work of the day's session, were signed later in the day by Mayor Woodman and Martin F. Betkouski, president of the Council, and properly attested by City Clerk Wilde through Deputy Clerk David Carroll. They were then sent by telegraph to Washington, so that the President of the United States may forward them through the proper channels to the European powers.

The resolutions, as published exclusively in yesterday's Times, were presented by President Betkouski immediately after the roll-call, all members of the Council being present. There were immediate seconds by Councilman Conwell, Councilwoman Lindsey and Councilman Topham.

STRONG EXPRESSIONS.

Before the vote was taken, Dr. Glen E. Williams, secretary to Mayor Woodman, appeared before the assemblage, the Mayor having not yet arrived at the City Hall, and spoke enthusiastically in behalf of the proposed measure.

"The influence of such an invitation at this time is opportune and peculiarly practicable," said Dr. Williams. "We can place a serious aspect on this action; it is possible for the European powers to accept this invitation, and there is a good reason why this Peace Conference should not be held here. On behalf of the Mayor, I urge that you adopt this resolution."

Councilman Conwell made a concise talk in favor of the resolution. "It is certainly appropriate," said Mr. Conwell, "and I am proud to give the opportunity to vote for it."

In speaking to the subject, Councilman Topham said:

"Just two days ago we celebrated the great festival which has for its sentiment peace on earth and good will toward men. The action today and bringing about peace conditions in Europe finds a responsive chord in all our hearts. Now, I believe, has come the move that will end the last of the wars of the world. It would, indeed, be a proud day in the history of Los Angeles, the City of the Angels, should it be known as the place of meeting of

It is timely and appropriate that this city should, through its City Council and Mayor, invite the troubled nations to meet in the land where the Statue of Liberty stands at its borders, and in the city of Los Angeles. I will take great pleasure in voting for the resolutions."

Councilwoman Lindsey spoke feelingly regarding the proposed action of the Council, and declared:

"Any city is honored that will have the opportunity to house the peace delegates. It is thoroughly appropriate that this invitation should be issued by this body. It is a sensible thing to do, and I gladly support it."

Dr. MacWilliams then read press dispatches indicating the imminence of the proposed Peace Conference, and urged that as many cities of the United States would seek the honor of being host for this notable gathering of peace delegates, immediate action on the part of Los Angeles is appropriate and desirable.

TWO OPPOSE IT.

Councilmen Wright and Wheeler opposed the passage of the resolution. Councilman Wright asked that it be laid over for twenty-four hours. He declared that the adoption of this resolution would put us in the category of a "Boob State," as California has been termed by a Chicago newspaper, and that the Council should delay action until the subject had been acted upon by commercial and civic bodies.

"It isn't for this Council to adjust the troubles of a troubled world," said Councilman Wright. "It is only for fear of criticism and ridicule that I oppose the measure."

Councilman Wheeler related with gusto his stand during the past two decades against strife and war, declaring that he stood against bloodshed and the destruction of human life, but he designated the resolution as "the bid of boarding-housekeepers to get trade to Los Angeles." "They wouldn't go around two-thirds of the world to meet here, and it has the sense of absurdity," said the Socialist Councilman. Both he and Councilman Wright asked to be excused from voting.

The resolution was adopted by the votes of President Betkouski, Councilmen Brain, Conwell, Langdon, Roberts, Topham and Councilwoman Lindsey.

WHAT IS THOUGHT.

In all parts of the city and adjacent territory yesterday the possibility of the peace conference being held in Los Angeles was the subject of interested discussion. There were many expressions of enthusiasm and the hope was freely voiced that this city would be so signally honored as to be selected as the meeting place for an assemblage that may pave the way for the universal abolition of wars. The subject was discussed in many phases, and the adaptability of Los Angeles for such a meeting was constantly referred to.

JOHN C. AUSTIN.

John C. Austin, president of the Jonathan Club:

"I believe that this war will have been well worth fighting if it attains its final end in the attainment of a permanent world peace compact. I personally feel that it must proceed to a definite issue; yet if a peace conference is to be held, I certainly would be glad to see it held in this city. There is no better place on the face of the earth for such a conference than Los Angeles. We are equipped in spirit and in material ways to give such a gathering its proper setting and conveniences."

FRED L. BAKER.

Fred Baker, president of the Baker Iron Works:

"I am heartily in accord with the action of the Mayor and City Council in extending an official invitation for the holding of the peace conference in Los Angeles. It is a wise move and a timely one. A great longing for world peace exists in this nation, and this sentiment is noticeably strong here. This city has generously responded, time after BAD CHECK CHARGE.

Not Unknown on Police Records, a Scion of a Wealthy Family is Arrested on Accusation of Passing False Paper by Local Detectives.

Neil Colgan, member of a wealthy family, and formerly a prosperous merchant, was arrested yesterday by the Nick Harris detectives on a charge of passing false checks.

He was taken into custody in a downtown department store, when he is alleged to have offered another check. The names of W. W. Henderson and W. W. Waterhouse were signed to the checks, one of which was for $45 and the other for $35.

Mr. Colgan's name is not unknown on police records. In June, 1915, he was arrested by the Harris agency for bad checks. Also he was taken to the Police Station one night after a fight in the company in which he was sitting disrupted a cafe.

FREIGHT CARS CRASH.

Two cars of an "extra" freight train of the Southern Pacific left the tracks at Bassett at an early hour last night, damaging the loads in the cars approximately $400. No one was injured in the accident, the cause of which was not ascertained. The engineer of the train is J. F. Latham.

WOMAN "TIPS" POLICE TO RENDEZVOUS OF BANDITS.

Bullet-scarred Car and Bloody Bandages Found in Empty Barn—Detectives Keep Shotgun Vigil There Day and Night—Find Witness Who Gives Descriptions of Gang of Three.

IN A DESERTED barn at the end of Everett street a mile from any other building, Detectives Lowe and Powell of the Automobile Club of Southern California early yesterday morning discovered the rendezvous of the automobile bandits for whom the police have been searching for over a month.

The bullet-marked car in which the bandits operated Tuesday night and which was fired upon by Motorcycle Officer Draper in a running fight with the automobile highwaymen near Soto street and Stephenson avenue was found hidden away in the barn.

Evidences of other crimes were discovered by the two detectives, assisted by members of the police department. From blood-soaked rags found in one corner of the building, the police declare one of the bandits must be wounded. They believe that he is the man shot by Carl Sarnow of No. 1167 South Hoover street, Tuesday night, when the auto bandits attempted to hold him up on Vermont avenue.

The barn, which shows that it has been occupied for some time by the gang of highwaymen, must have been the spot to which the murderers of Speed Officer Kronschnable fled after shooting down the police officer near Twenty-fourth and Main streets a little over a week ago, say the detectives.

SHOTGUN VIGIL.

Believing that they will have to deal with a band of highwaymen as bad as, or worse than, the famous "Car Barn" bandits of Chicago, six police detectives with Detectives Powell and Lowe, were stationed by Lieut. Detective George Home inside the Everett-street barn yesterday morning. At 6 o'clock last night the men were relieved and a fresh detail stationed. The men were instructed to remain in the barn until the bandits returned for the automobile. At a late hour last night they reported that no one had approached the barn.

While officers with loaded shotguns and rifles remain in the barn, other officers working under Lieut. Home, all day yesterday searched the city for the woman who first gave the information of the bandit rendezvous to the Automobile Club detectives. She is believed by the police to be a member of the gang who for some reason wishes to turn them over to the police.

The information which came by telephone in a woman's voice over the Automobile Club switchboard yesterday morning, told the officers just where to find the automobile but gave no other information. Questions asked her by the detectives were unanswered and after giving the information she hung up.

Although a dozen men attempted to trace the call, the mysterious woman's identity was not discovered by the police. Today another attempt will be made to trace the call through the telephone office.

The stolen automobile recovered yesterday in the bandit barn is a Chandler with State License, No. 175673. It is the property of R. D. Bailey of No. 756 South New Hampshire street. The car with the consent of the owner will be left in the garage until the police give up hope of capturing the bandits through it.

GET THEIR DESCRIPTION.

While attempting to locate any one who could give a description of the bandit, detectives yesterday afternoon declare they located a man who not only saw the banditti but talked to them. He is, the police state, employed at the Llewellyn Iron Works and saw the bandits drive the stolen machine into the Everett-street barn.

SCORE OF BOMB CIGARS TRACED TO THE I.W.W.

"IF YOU want to kill a man, don't shoot him, don't knife him. Just give him a cigar."

This advice, which has become a byword in I.W.W. circles, contains, it is believed, the clew that postoffice authorities are seeking to the bomb outrages being perpetrated by sending loaded cigars to business men all over the country. Postoffice Inspector Ranger believes that the instigator of the crime will be found to be a member of that illiterate, vicious and world-hating organization known as the Industrial Workers of the World.

Working with the slenderest of clews, Inspector Ranger yesterday established a few solid facts that will, it is believed, reveal the bomb-maker who, three days before Christmas, mailed twenty-five loaded cigars to business men in all parts of the United States. Three other business men, two of them Los Angeles men, received loaded cigars. But owing to the fact that all mail carriers had been notified to warn recipients of strange packages, all three men escaped.

The first intimation of bomb outrages came the day before Christmas, when John D. Bennett, of Brawley, was disfigured for life when a cigar he had received in the mail exploded. Hardly a day passed before Grover Conroy, city surveyor of Auburn, suffered a like fate from a gift stogie identical with that received by Mr. Bennett. Tuesday J. O. Burns, of the Germain Seed Company, received a like cigar, but because he had been warned, did not smoke it, and immediately turned it over to Inspector Ranger. Yesterday Nicholas Harris, of San Francisco, John T. Bill, and T. E. Berry, two motorcycle dealers of this city, received the same kind of cigars.

All six cigars came wrapped in a tin cylinder, covered with cardboard, and were addressed in print with a pencil. They were postmarked from the railway mail coach of the "Missionary," a Santa Fe train leaving Los Angeles at 6.40 p.m. All bore the date of the 22nd, inst.

In tracing these parcels Inspector Ranger yesterday uncovered several remarkable details. In questioning Conductor A. C. Garner, of the train from which the deadly cigars were mailed, he learned that it was the conductor himself who actually mailed the bombs. The train was nearing Barstow, and Conductor Garner had just finished taking his tickets. He went to the day smoking car to check in, and in sitting down, happened to notice a large box under an empty seat just across the aisle. He examined it, thinking some passenger had left it.

The lid of the box was loose. Lifting it up, he saw about twenty-five small tubular packages, all addressed and stamped. The ends of all but one were plugged up. The non-plugged end revealed the butt of a cigar. The packages were addressed to men in Los Angeles, San Francisco, other California cities, cities in Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, North Dakota and Arizona. Just then the train pulled into Barstow. When the station had been passed, Conductor Garner took the packages into the mail coach and, telling the clerk that someone had failed to do their Christmas mailing, forgot the incident. The twenty-five packages were postmarked Goffs.

The brand of cheap cigar used should be easily traced, the official believes, as it is uncommon and sold by only a few dealers. Every city in the United States has been bulletined by the Federal authorities, and each mail carrier is ordered to return all suspicious packages or else warn their recipients. But six of the twenty-five men to whom the cigars were directed, have been accounted for. Two have suffered. The others have escaped by being warned in time.

"Morgan of Japan."

SHIBUSAWA RETIRES TO WORK FOR WORLD PEACE.

WHAT is considered a most important communication concerning future Japanese-American relations is a letter received by President Mitchell and Secretary Wiggins, of the Chamber of Commerce, yesterday from Baron E. Shibusawa, of Japan, announcing his retirement from business to devote himself to cementing ties of friendship between the two countries. The Baron, long known as the "Morgan of Japan," was president of the First Bank of Japan, controls the majority of that country's transportation facilities, and today has a more extensive influence than any man of his country, with the exception of the Emperor himself.

The letter is in part as follows: "It is really a fact that I have now terminated my long commercial career and am rather free from the affairs of active business, but as my object of retirement is to get enough time to devote myself to the new work of public welfare movements and not to enjoy more leisure, I think the rest of my life will be, very likely, more busy than before.

"As to the problems of the American-Japanese relations, I am determined to do all that I can to promote the better friendly feelings between the two nations. I really deem it my mission to devote myself to the endeavor of making both countries the true good friends to each other forever and so I sincerely hope you will also do all within your power to fulfill the same purpose."

Baron Shibusawa toured the United States about a year ago, being entertained by various civic organizations in this and in every other large city in the country. He is noted as one of the greatest of Japan's philanthropists and humanitarians.

PRETTY GIRL IS BANDIT DECOY?

She's Held on Suspicion as Well as Her Lover.

Said to Have Aided in Bold Grocery Hold-up.

He's Identified; so is Loot in Couple's Room.

Billie M. Peterson, tattooed of arm and bobbed of hair, was arrested yesterday on suspicion she was a decoy in the operations of her alleged bandit-lover. The latter is Louis E. Sharff of Louisville, Ky., who was identified yesterday by S. Yusuda as the bandit who entered the latter's store, No. 2799 West Tenth street, Tuesday night, masked and armed, and robbed him of $20.

The pair were found living as man and wife under the names of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. O'Brien, No. 961 South Harvard boulevard, yesterday by Detectives Fitzgerald and Zeigler.

Billie Peterson, who is about 20 years old, was in the grocery store at the time of the hold-up. She had walked twelve blocks from her home, past two grocery stores, to buy a can of soup at 8 o'clock at night. While she was talking with Yusuda in the rear of the store the door suddenly opened to admit the masked and armed man, who ordered the Japanese to throw up his hands and submit to search.

The young woman was in such a terrible panic that she dashed into the living quarters of the Yusudas, where Mrs. Yusuda was sitting. Mrs. Yusuda locked the door. After Miss Peterson had heard the cash register ring, indicating the bandit was through plundering, she asked Mrs. Yusuda, the latter says, to open the door. The police believe the girl wished the door opened so her supposed friend could enter the living-rooms for further operations. But Mrs. Yusuda was too frightened and she crawled under the bed. As she had the key the door remained locked, and the bandit, who lingered as if for further signal, disappeared.

After the robbery Miss Peterson tripped boldly into the Police Station, introduced herself as Miss Dorothy Lupher of the Glenmore apartments, and said she had been terribly frightened by the bold bad robber, and that the latter had taken her purse, containing three dimes. She talked so frankly she convinced the detective that she was not involved.

Yesterday Detective Fitzgerald took up the hunt and had the couple in the Police Station. There each told a different story about everything on which they were interrogated.

When a search was made of their quarters the police found five dogs rampant in the house. Also, they found a quantity of cigars and cigarettes which Gus Wapperman, a grocer at Tenth and Normandie, identified as having been stolen from his store December 20. At that time burglars entered his store through a rear door and took the tobacco, in addition to a considerable quantity of groceries.

Sharff, the police believe, is wanted in the East. In his trunk was found a heavy "billy club," opera glasses and other articles which the police are investigating.

Billie Peterson was recently in trouble in Arizona, where she was arrested on a charge of kidnaping a 13-year-old girl and taking her to El Paso. She has a long record as a girl tramp, and wears her hair bobbed to make her disguise complete.

As to her pose of marriage, she said she and Sharff were living together to determine whether or not they were suited for a later marriage.

GIVE SKIN FOR FELLOW-WORKER

Seven Sacrifice Cuticle to Heal Chauffeur's Burns—Girl Would Give All.

Seven men heroically underwent operations at the Clara Barton Hospital yesterday morning that a friend and fellow-worker might again take up his duties. The stricken man is Frank D. Green, who drives Road Commissioner Joyner's car. His hands, face and arms were severely burned November 16 while he was cleaning an automobile with a distillate automixer.

The men who submitted to the surgeon's knife are Charles E. Morton, George Jones, W. R. Holland and Harry Bailey of the county road department, and Louis Cubbison, F. Hammond and E. E. Cornell of the county garage. Approximately twenty square inches of skin was taken from the left thigh of each man.

The young man's sister, Miss Myra Green, who resides with her mother at No. 507 West Eighth street, offered to submit to the operation, unselfishly wishing to give all the skin herself, but neither Dr. E. M. Farlane, who performed the operation, nor Mr. Green's friends would allow her to do so.

Sheriff Cline Says Drew Neglected His Duty.

Also Charges County Chief Disobeyed Orders.

New Plans to Abolish Office for Needed Economy.

Capt. Herbert Drew of the county motorcycle squad was suspended yesterday by Sheriff Cline, his permanent dismissal to take effect next Saturday unless he shows cause sufficient to have the order countermanded. The Sheriff charges insubordination, neglect of duty and other offenses.

Sheriff Cline declared last night he had heard of a number of instances in which Capt. Drew had failed to file complaints against persons arrested for speeding by the motorcycle cops, and had cautioned him not to assume such authority. He said the officer refused to obey his orders in other respects and had been active in an attempt to have the supervision of the motorcycle squad removed to the Board of Supervisors.

Not long ago Capt. Drew, according to the Sheriff, went before the grand jury and presented an argument in favor of the transfer of authority over his department. The matter will be taken before the Supervisors tomorrow.

Capt. Drew is said to have been particularly interested in the recent political campaign, and through his activities to have made a number of enemies.

It is the plan of Sheriff Cline to place the motorcycle squad under the direction of Undersheriff White and abolish the office of captain. He says it will save the county about $2900 annually.

Capt. Drew has been in charge of the squad for four years, having been appointed by Capt. John D. Fredericks while the latter was District Attorney.

THIEF IS DARING.

Cuts Plate Glass and Smashes the Window of a Broadway Jewelry Company in Early Morning Making Escape with Small Plunder.

Four trays of rings set with stones of small value were stolen from the store of the George Taylor Jewelry Company, No. 548 South Broadway, early yesterday morning, by a thief, who cut through the plate glass display windows. After cutting the glass, he used a brick wrapped in paper as a missile to break the window.

The sound of the breaking glass was heard several blocks along Broadway. Pedestrians notified the police. The thief in his flight, spilled some of his plunder, leaving a trial towards Mercantile Place. The loss is estimated by the police at $75.

GOVERNMENT DUTY.

Lecturer Says Uncle Sam Should Give California Million Dollars.

"If California can afford to put $32,000,000 into good roads, the United States government should see its way clear to get into California's class and give us $1,000,000 to improve the roads into the Yosemite Valley," said David A. Curry, during his lecture yesterday at the Walker Theater. Mr. Curry is on his annual tour and is showing five reels of interesting moving pictures. All the famous points of interest are shown and in addition much new film taken last summer.

One film is devoted to the motorists who enter the valley, showing the roads at various points and the finish of several of the runs. No charge is being made for the show this season, Mr. Curry having decided to devote his winter to boosting California's national park.

LITTLE BOOK HIS UNDOING.

Drug Runner was About to Escape Sentence When Facts Come to Light.

A little red-backed memorandum book, which had been dug out of the archives of the collector of customs, resulted in Mark Yater being sentenced to a year and a day at McNeil's Island, yesterday, and to pay a fine of $2500.

Before the discovery of the tell-tale volume there was a chance that the young man would escape with a jail sentence, but the stenographic hieroglyphics and figures that told of the wanderings of Yater and the amount of money that he had invested in the smoking-opium game destroyed whatever hope there might have been of leniency by United States District Judge Trippet.

The book, when its contents were translated, revealed that Yater had operated all up and down the coast from San Francisco to San Diego, with entries indicating his activities at Fresno, Bakersfield, Porterville and a number of other California cities. In addition there were a number of names supposed to be those of the buyers of the dope at these various places. It also showed that either Yater or those associated with him had invested $18,000 in 541 cans of opium, and that Yater himself had spent nearly $2000 in railroad fare traveling up and down the country from the Mexican border line.

Peace Invitation.

time, to the call for help for war sufferers. Its sympathies have been deeply stirred, and it would be a proud period in its history were the peace conference, that may put an end universally to wars, to be held here. Los Angeles has maintained itself as a great city that has lived in harmony, although it has many foreign elements. Its neutrality has been marked, and all things considered it is indeed a fitting place for the holding of the conference that all hope will lead to permanent world peace."

BISHOP WATERHOUSE.

Bishop R. G. Waterhouse of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South: "I should be delighted to see Los Angeles selected as the place of meeting for the proposed peace conference. It certainly offers special advantages. It is far away from the scenes of the conflict that all Christian nations are praying may cease. Its environment is one to induce peaceful thought and there would be no distracting influences. This city's hospitality is well known, and it has the proper accommodations for handling a meeting such as is proposed. Let us sincerely hope that this meeting may result in the taking of such steps that war will be forever banished from civilized nations."

DR. LOCKE.

Dr. Charles Edward Locke, pastor of the First Methodist Church:

"I believe the general attitude of the citizenry of Los Angeles will be one of pleasure that the Mayor and City Council have extended this invitation, and that the citizens will stand back of it with the purpose of extending unbounded hospitality to the members of the peace conference and the attaches and other attendants, if Los Angeles is finally selected as the meeting place for this momentous event.

"The city and Southern California are well known in many parts of the world for their generous spirit of hospitality; we have the facilities for handling a gathering such as is proposed, with dignity and in keeping with its importance. Outside of New York and Chicago, there is scarcely any large city that has such a cosmopolitan population as has Los Angeles. We have many residents here who are members of the warring nations, yet they live here in peace and harmony.

"Los Angeles has been wise in maintaining an attitude of strict neutrality. Although many of us have our decided personal opinions, we have refrained from dividing into factions, and have been free from difficulties of this character.

"I am enthusiastically in favor of the movement for peace, and in the action of our city officials in extending this invitation at a propitious moment. I hope that the peace conference may be set for a very early date, and that it will occur in this city."

Assurances came from managers of the big hotels that they will welcome the opportunity to throw open their doors to the peace delegates.

Vernon Goodwin, vice-president of the Alexandria Hotel Company, said last night: We welcome the opportunity to give these peace delegates everything in our power to show our good will and that we are heartily in sympathy with the peace movement. When I read in The Times this morning that the City Council would send a telegram to Washington inviting the peace conference to come to Los Angeles I was pleased more than I have been over anything else Los Angeles has ever done. It's the finest move the city ever made, and if the invitation is accepted everything we have will be at the disposal of the delegates. Los Angeles, the playground of the world, seems to me to be the logical place for a peace conference. I'm glad that the City Council has invited the peace conference to come here, because it shows that we right here at home are thinking of peace and of the good of the other part of the world. The Alexandria will be turned over absolutely to the entertainment of these delegates if they accept the invitation of Los Angeles to come here, and we will leave nothing undone to make them comfortable and happy.

Col. Drake of the Virginia Hotel said:

I think this move on the part of Los Angeles a humanitarian one, and if the invitation is accepted I will only be too glad to offer the hospitality of the Virginia to the delegates. I will co-operate with the other hotel men to see that nothing in the way of cordial hospitality is neglected. We welcome to Los Angeles the peace delegates. May delegates to the peace conference be the very first delegates that our city entertains next year! If Los Angeles could be the meeting place of a conference that would mean world peace it would be the most notably humanitarian achievement in her history, something that the city could be proud of until the end of time.

Walter Raymond:

I think the move on Los Angeles' part to try to get the peace conference to come here a fine thing. I hope we get it, and if we do the Raymond Hotel will be at the disposal of the delegates. I am heartily in favor of the peace conference being held here, and I am sure every big hotel in the Southland will only be too glad to welcome the delegates and to entertain them in such manner that they will be sincerely glad that this was the spot chosen in which to consider world peace. It is most pleasing to know that this peace idea is taking hold of the people everywhere, but most gratifying still to realize that our beautiful City of the Angels has sent out the first invitation to the delegates to come here. Let us hope they will welcome the invitation enough to accept our hospitality.

TO SENTENCE CAPLAN.

Convicted Dynamiter's Lawyers to Ask New Trial on Ground of Newly-discovered Evidence which State Contends is Cumulative.

David Caplan, who was recently convicted of manslaughter in connection with the destruction of the original Times Building and the murder of twenty persons, will appear before Judge Willis this morning for sentence. His attorneys will argue for a new trial upon the ground of newly-discovered evidence, but Deputy District Attorney Keyes will oppose the motion, declaring the evidence is merely cumulative.

Caplan's attorneys told Judge Willis yesterday they have some information in relation to the purchase of some dynamite in Tacoma. It is said the explosive was purchased about the same time the nitroglycerin used in the local catastrophe was bought at Giant.

The maximum sentence which can be imposed upon Caplan is ten years.

FIRST STEP TO MERGE OFFICES.

Consolidation Plan Under Way with Supervisors.

County Does Tax Collector's and Assessor's Work.

Attorneys Ordered to Frame Necessary Ordinance.

In order to carry out the wishes of the people, as expressed at the last charter amendment election, to consolidate the city and county offices of Tax Collector and Assessor, the Council yesterday authorized its Finance Committee to confer with the finance department of the Board of Supervisors to arrange the amount of compensation to be paid by the city to the county. Chairman Pridham of the Supervisors said the county will do the work at actual cost, which has been estimated at $10,000 for the first year and afterward it may be a little less.

This action was taken at a meeting in the Council Chamber attended by the Council, the Supervisors, city and county officials, representatives of the Realty Board, the County Civil Service Commission and other organizations. County and City Attorneys will later on frame an ordinance whereby the county will do the assessing and collecting of the general tax, but the city will not turn over to the county the collection of licenses and special assessments.

President Betkouski of the Council, who presided, said it is not practical to turn over the latter, but it will be a great accommodation to have the general tax for the city and county collected by the county, both city and county taxes being paid at the same time and the same place.

Councilman Conwell said the absurdity of having two sets of officers working on the same property belonging to the same people was so manifest it was a wonder it had continued so long. City Clerk Wilde said there is no difficulty in the way.

City Assessor Mallard claimed unless the city is very careful it will invalidate the tax roll. He said "there are no laws in the State so complicated as the tax laws. You have the largest proposition you ever had on your hands to consolidate these offices. You will have to look out or you will get into difficulties. You have a $6,000,000 tax roll which you may jeopardize."

Councilwoman Lindsey said she would like to have an explanation of how the city might get into difficulties.

City Assessor Mallard said there were a hundred chances, but did not enumerate any, and Chairman Pridham of the Supervisors declared, as he understands the law, there is no possible chance of either the city or the county becoming involved and announced he was in full accord with the desire of the people to have as many city and county offices consolidated as possible.

Herbert L. Cornish, chairman of the Realty Board's committee, agreed with Mr. Pridham and said it is only a question of procedure. He said early action could be expected by the Legislature in ratifying the charter amendment. He and Assistant City Attorney Howard Robertson will go to Sacramento on January 8 to attend to the matter.

SURE OF PARDON.

Friends of Convicted Attorney are Arranging for Time Extension.

Friends of Frederick M. Shepard, the convicted attorney charged with opium smuggling, are so sure that he will be pardoned by President Wilson, since United States District Judge Bledsoe signed the recommendation to the Chief Executive, that they are arranging for another extension of time at the hands of the United States Circuit Court of Appeal.

The present date expires January 3, and another for thirty days will be asked for, in the belief that clemency will be awarded Shepard by the President by that time.

Debutantes.

Through a fairy-like forest of redwoods, with the gnarled trunks supporting a leafy network canopy through which twinkled the morning star and its attendant constellation, came a Russian sleigh into the transformed dining-room of the Los Angeles Country Club last night, as the chimes struck 12 o'clock, and from out the depths of this reindeer, veritable usually appropriated for the use of Santa Claus sprang two young girls clad in white furs from the throats of their ermine-capped heads to the tips of their boots—the Misses Gertrude and Marian Kerkhoff, who recently began a snowball battle with the several hundred guests being entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Balch in honor of these twin debutantes. These glistening white furs had been made soft and attractive for the purpose, constituting they did just one of the surprise features of this, one of the most brilliant functions ever given in the city. The ballroom adhered to the holiday motif, with Christmas garlands set up for mural adornment with sprays of plenty heaped in luscious profusion, while the lights were cornucopia candelabra. But every other feature suggested the Forest of Arden motif, with the gentlemen wearing Robin Hood caps and the sweet girls '16 buds and society matrons representing wood nymphs with their coiffures wreathed in holly, mistletoe and fern fronds. The only people in special costume were the strolling minstrel performers, who sang glees and Christmas carols, while jesters performed "stunts." In one room holly was impersonated, and in another mistletoe, these two doing clever exhibition dances.

The party did not begin until 10 o'clock and an elaborate supper was served at 12 o'clock, at tables done in holly, mistletoe and red candles. The debutantes and college set danced and frolicked until the wee hour of 3, when they went into the hall for a substantial egg-bacon breakfast. From that hour they continued the time happily away into the morn, using the dining-room for the latter part of the Terpsichorean entertainment.

Mrs. Balch, who was assisted by a few intimate friends, all of whom were noticeably handsome toilettes, received in an importation that suited perfectly into the scheme of things, her gown being of iridescent beauty, sequies over white—Queen Snow, all a-sparkle and scintillating. Mrs. William G. Kerckhoff was also in white silver brocade, while her two debutante daughters, honorees of the evening, wore filmy bouffant dancing frocks, Miss Gertrude in orchid tulle and her sister, Miss Marian, in apple-foam green and silver, concealed beneath their huge fur coats for the midnight snowball surprise. While the invitation list was one of the largest of the winter, the young folk were in the fore with very few of the married folk included, for we have so many of the college set and their friends and the society buds to entertain during the holiday gaieties that their elders are magnanimously submerging their own pleasures for the time, that there be no shadow upon the fair horizon of their happiness. Youth was undeniably the dominating note, holding the helm—the buoyancy of the joy of living was everywhere.

No time was set for the music to stop nor for the departure of the fair guests and their escorts. Good-nights—good-mornings, rather—had not yet been said when this paper went to press. Such is irrepressible youth.

And why should one have to wait until January 1 to welcome the New Year when young '17, a mere mite of a dimpled creature, is already casting his infantile smile over our calendar?

For the College Set.

Miss Julia Valentine, who is home from Berkeley for the holiday festivities, is to give a dinner dance at Midwick Country Club the evening of Saturday, January 6, for a number of her school friends. This charming girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lucas Valentine of North Wilson avenue, Pasadena, and is returning to the University of California about the 15th inst., together with others of our school set enrolled there.

For the Morrow.

At her home, No. 2501 Wilshire boulevard, Miss Julia Hayward, home from Briarcliff, N. Y., for the holidays, is to give a luncheon on the morrow. The guests will be seated at a large oval board centered in violets and pink rosebuds—a pleasing change from the usual red and green that has dominated the merry Christmas functions. Among those to whom invitations have been extended are Miss Louise Forve, Miss Eleanor MacGowan, Miss Madaline Souden, Miss Mildred Wellborn, Miss Doris Collins, Miss Jane Richardson, the Misses Catherine and Rachel Ward, Miss Mary Forve, Misses Corinne and Agnes Eisenmayer, Miss Marguerite Schneider, Miss Helen Burke, Miss Julia Valentine, Miss Cecile McLaughlin, Miss Marjorie Hines, Miss Margaret Miller, Miss Elizabeth Urmston, Miss Katharine Torrance, Miss Margaret Johnson, Miss Dorothy Thompson, Miss Helen Staats, Miss Evelyn Johnson, Miss Rosalee Wilcox, Miss Mary McMillan and Miss Laura Green.

VIRILITY ITS ESSENCE.

TREMENDOUS UNISON EFFECTS IN RUSSIAN BALLET.

By Frederick B. Moore.

The language of the dance, as it is known to many nations, is spoken by the Diaghileff ballet at the Auditorium this week. But always it is spoken with vigor. Virility, speed and mutation are the very essence of what these Russians do. Whether the barbarism of the Slavic dances or the daintiness of the lightest French ballet is the dominant note, the energy and earnestness are there.

Tremendous power is developed in the ensembles—perhaps the most astonishing of all the trenchant effects that are evolved, always with surprising swiftness. There is a refreshing assurance that the principal, no matter how great, has not been forced forward at the expense of that great force expressed by the unison. And yet the choreographer's skillful management of the dancers always seems merely to embellish and enrich by numbers what the principals are doing.

The free use made of the Slavic, Egyptian, classic and oriental ideas in the dancing, as well as in theme, costumes and decors, gives a variety decidedly novel in anything known by the name of "ballet." It is only at times that the ballet of the French school shines forth like a clean-cut gem.

When one thinks of Waslav Nijinsky one thinks of ballet. As a ballet dancer he rose to eminence. Yet in his work this week there is unmistakably something else that is difficult to define, that seems to be to dancing what the product of the futurist is to painting.

In the "Apres-midi d'un Faune" this strange element is dominant. The Diaghileff management has been frank enough to announce that this particular ballet, designed by Nijinsky himself, "discards conventions," even to the place where "the line of beauty" is lost. That is true. There isn't anything beautiful about "Faune." Nijinsky's art appears in that he ceases to be human and is a mawkish beast—and it is all very effective.

REVOLUTIONARY TECHNIQUE.

This is the same advanced idea that lurks in "Le Dieu Bleu" and in other things Nijinsky has done—a breaking away from technique according to the academists, and a substitution of action that, while it still reveals the artist, would beyond doubt shock the good ballet masters of the academies.

There is another side to Nijinsky's work, well exemplified in "Princess Enchantee." That is ballet, of the kind known throughout Western Europe for these many years. There Nijinsky is a ballet dancer, and nothing more, doing the sort of work with which he electrified Europe some years since. And when Nijinsky dances in "Princess Enchantee" one is tempted to believe there has possibly been something sacrificed to the futuristic—if that is the best word. Elevation is a prime essential for the male dancer, and from afar Nijinsky has been heralded as perhaps the greatest of the "leapers." Has his elevation slackened? It is true matchless rhythm is there in everything he does. There is ease and elegance in his cabriole, his entrechat and his brise. Yet there unquestionably is not exceeding brilliance. The artist shines forth; there is still the appearance of tigerish strength, but one finally feels he has not seen the tiger really leap.

An astonishing fellow is Adolf Bolm. His bits of ballet are as well cut as cameos. But his work merges constantly into the dramatic; his excellence is first of all in pantomime, and his power perhaps greatest in the Slavic dances that are unknown to the academists. His pirouettes sur l'aire in "Prince Igor" are dizzy masterpieces. The ease of his elevation is notable. Yet one thinks of Bolm rather as the dying Amoun in "Cleopatre," or the unfortunate victim of Thamar's capricious knife, or a Pierrot that makes "Papillons" real art.

MASTERY OF STYLE.

In "Papillons," too, Mlle. Lopokova shows mastery of true ballet. This dainty creature, a very incarnation of the "Butterfly," runs sur les pointes with charming lightness and steadiness. The real strength of her apparent fragility is revealed in her swift and clean brisss, cabrioles and once, when lifted by Bolm, in an entrechat six both strong and clean. Her elevation is quite as remarkable—light, easy, steady, without the suggestion of strain in arm or neck. In "Princess Enchantee" her work rises to more technical difficulty, and she executes steadily, through bar after bar of music, battements sur la cou-de-pied that fairly sparkle. Her tour de force is also rapid and effective.

Mlle. Revalles is seen at her best opposite Bolm in the heavier of the dramatic ballets. Her chief strength seems to lie in her pantomine, perhaps in her repose. The immobility of "Cleopatre" upon her couch rivals that of the colossi that flank the walls of her palace. The languor of tragic "Thamar" is as weighty as the flash of passion in which she plunges a dagger into her ill-fated lover. And the sinuousness inseparable from the oriental dance is hers in exceeding degree.

But, after all, the tremendous effects are achieved with the corps de ballet. In its work at once is discernible serious application. There is that remarkable bacchanale in "Cleopatre," with the drunken music and the wild dancers who fall upon the stage with one startling movement, as though cut down with a scythe. There are the rush of the warriors downstage and the coordinated double pirouettes of "Prince Igor." There is in "Papillons" toe work so uniform that the dancers seem to float on the undulations of vagrant breezes. The choreographer has worked with material of uniform mould, and the effects he has wrought are evidence of its excellence.

Valeska Suratt,

In one of her famously bizarre costume creations, and (above) Kathleen Kirkham, who plays the role of Mrs. Taine in Clune's productions of "The Eyes of the World." Miss Suratt is appearing in "The Victim" this week at Miller's Theater. "The Eyes of the World" will have its premiere Monday afternoon at Clune's Auditorium.

NTH-POWER REALISM.

"WIDOWING OF MRS. HOLROYD" AT LITTLE THEATER.

By Grace Kingsley.

Poignant, gripping and vivid in its startling realism, yet almost repellantly grewsome, is "The Widowing of Mrs. Holroyd" at the Little Theater. It is acted with marvelous dramatic cunning by the players, who fairly outdo themselves in the offering.

There is a soul of realism, as well as the body, in this play. Its bleak human misery has not been surpassed on the stage. Galsworthy gives us plenty of painful, sordid realism, but illumines it ever with some big significance, the divine flame of revealing genius. It is this saving spark which "The Widowing of Mrs. Holroyd" lacks. A vague flickering ray of such redeeming spiritual grace is hinted at in the big, patient, unselfish love of Blackmore for the wife, but there is only passion afraid and ashamed of itself given in return; there is not even a big soul conflict.

The greatest qualities of the play are its manifestations of two souls trembling on the verge of a mighty passion, but held back by deadening circumstances—by lack of realization of the thing lying between them. Again, there is the moment when the woman is appalled by the superstitious conviction that her desire for her husband's death has brought it about, the force of this being increased by the faint hint that the poor sodden drunkard himself willingly let his life flicker out in the mine where he labored.

We are spared no fearful detail. The husband is reported dead, the mother wails, the dead body is brought in, laid half naked on the floor, and actually washed.

The acting of the company is beyond all ordinary praise. There is no shade of feeling indicated in the lines of the wife which Kirah Markham does not bring out in her reading of them. And no brief words can do justice to the excellence of the work of Athol Hayes as Holroyd; W. Frayne Williams as Blackmore; Irene Bevins as the grandmother, and of the others in the cast.

If you want to see the most grewsome and the best acted play in Los Angeles today go and view "The Widowing of Mrs. Holroyd."

Superba.

Dickens's stories are all peculiarly adapted to the screen, I think, owing to their clean-cut drama and vivid types. The warm and radiant Christmas spirit as embodied in the well-loved "Christmas Carol" is preserved with wonderful effectiveness and artistry in the picture play at the Superba this week, and one laughs and weeps through the joys and sorrow of Tiny Tim and Bob Cratchett and Old Scrooge, and shudders realistically at the appearance of Marley's Ghost.

The picture is done in a really remarkable manner. There are no sumptuous settings, no famous names to carry it; yet, I got more joy out of this little photoplay than I have from half a dozen so-called features. Rupert Julian makes an ideally flinty-hearted Scrooge, who later reforms and radiates joy and gladness. I do not know who plays Bob Cratchett, the old book-keeper, but his characterization is as good a bit of screen work as I have ever seen. Little Frankie Lee, as Tiny Tim, too, was entirely lovable, and the other members of the cast all deserve much commendation.

Looks Like Him Anyhow.

Frank Otto, playing the lead in "Hit-the-Trail Holliday," which is making a big hit at the Mason this week, has several times been taken for Billy Sunday, who is supposed to be the original of the hero of the play. Not only in looks but in mannerisms, the two are alike. In Boston, one afternoon, not long ago, Otto was strolling down Washington street, when a ministerial-looking gentleman approached him. He took a good look at Otto, and then stopped him.

"Pardon me for addressing you, but I want to congratulate you," he said: "Your work last night did a great deal of good."

Otto naturally blushed. "Thanks," he stammered. "Don't know as I'm such a very great actor; still, I get away with it."

"Actor!" gasped the minister. "Of course, you aren't an actor!"

"Well, I wouldn't say that, either, exactly," exclaimed Otto.

"Why, aren't you Billy Sunday?" cried the minister.

And mutual explanations followed.

Little Mary in Person.

Little Mary Sunshine, otherwise Baby Marie Osbourne, star of "Joy and the Dragon," showing at Tally's Broadway this week, will appear in person at that theater tomorrow evening.

Only Three More Chances.

The famous Nijinsky Ballet Russe aggregation will appear only three more times this week at Clune's Auditorium. There will be performances tonight, tomorrow night and Saturday matinee, but none on Saturday night.

Loves Nature.

Nijinsky, the world-famed dancer at Clune's Auditorium, spends his vacations in the mountains. He refuses the ordinary comforts, too, preferring to rough it. He owns a mountain home in Russia, and it is here, near to nature, he plans his dances. He says the story of the marvelous and mysterious dance of the faun came to him one moonlight night, as, unable to sleep, he paced the shores of a little lake near his home. A wild deer, which came down to the lake to drink, took on the semblance of one of the beings of Greek mythology known as a faun, and the story evolved itself in the dancer's imagination.

The dancer loves California for its rugged mountains, and spends his leisure hours motoring and climbing through them. He will visit Catalina Island during his stay, as he is anxious to view the submarine gardens.

Illington, Too!

Margaret Illington has just signed a long-term contract with the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company to appear exclusively in its productions of the Paramount programme. Miss Illington's first screen play will be an adaptation of "The Inner Shrine," by Basil King, dramatized by Channing Pollock. This will be followed by a photoplay written especially for her by Charles Kenyon, author of "Kindling."

Miss Illington will leave New York for California about the middle of January. She has received many flattering offers to appear in pictures, but so far has refused. It remained for Mr. Lasky to persuade her to join the ranks which boast Geraldine Farrar and other famous ones.

Tally's Broadway.

Baby Marie Osborne, who in her two previous pictures demonstrated her ability to hold the attention of an audience, is winning new friends this week by her delightful portraval of the leading role in "Joy and the Dragon" at Tally's Broadway. She is a special favorite of the children, who perhaps best appreciate the charm of naturalness in acting.

The attraction selected by Mr. Tally for next week's programme is a picturization of George Randolph Chester's fascinating story, "The Enemy," in which Peggy Hyland heads an all-star cast.

How Strange!

VALESKA IN DISGUISE.

APPEARS AS A POOR WORKING GIRL AT MILLER'S.

By Edwin Schallert.

There are several villains and assistant villains, a bank robbery, blackmailing, a fight between an escaped convict and a detective, and Valeska Suratt in "The Victim," down at Miller's Theater this week. I put Valeska last because she is a crowning touch of sensationalism in a picture.

The film play, of course, is a melodrama. It might be something else with Valeska Suratt, but it couldn't be anything else with the other features mentioned.

The supply of villains appears to be increasing, notwithstanding they slay them unceasingly. They kill one off in the middle of this play by allowing the rope on which he is escaping from an upper window to break. They let the convict get another out of the way in the fight.

If you want something exciting you'll find "The Victim" pretty good entertainment in the main. It isn't dress-up week for Miss Suratt, for she has to look something like a poor working girl in the early portion of the film. But she makes up for this as soon as the story allows her sufficient prosperity.

Alhambra.

Picturesque settings, clever photography, judicious cutting and attractive and interesting people have a lot to do with keeping the movie world going round. In "Broken Chains" at the Alhambra, Ethel Clayton is fetching and Carlyle Blackwell shows his ability to act and wear natty uniforms, while the film is effectively staged and made.

We don't have many stories laid in Florida, and this adds a quality of novelty to "Broken Chains." The atmosphere of the play touches on the conflict between white man and negro in after-war times. The plot concerns a young army officer convicted on false charge of murder, a negro having been really guilty of the deed.

Florida is a long ways from California, and Florida no doubt has some interesting laws regarding the contracting out of prisoners for work. A subtitle refers to documentary evidence of this, a la Griffith style. But no laws will prove why a "hero" should take refuge in the home of his sweetheart when he escapes prison, when he might very well know he would drag her into a nasty mess, and why her guardian, the uncle of the murdered man, would allow her to "contract" the prisoner for work, consisting partly of horseback riding and other pleasures.

The story does not entirely live up to a good beginning.

There is a mighty good comedy to brace out the bill. As a whole the offering is fair.

Garrick.

Charlie Chaplin is back again in "The Bank," "A Night at the Show" and "Shanghaied," all together, at the Garrick, this week. It's a long laugh and a good one, this second Essanay revue. In fact, it's got more of the clever Charlie than revue No. 1, which included "The Tramp," "His Night Out" and "His New Job." If you haven't seen Chaplin in the plays comprised in the second revue, now is a good time to buy, as they say in the dry good advertisements, and if you have seen him you'll probably have forgotten enough to laugh at many episodes over again.

Here and Coming.

SHOW WORLD REVIEW.

SPECTACULAR ATTRACTIONS TO MARK COMING WEEK.

For the grandeur of its scenic descriptions, for lofty sentiment and unparalleled heart appeal, "The Garden of Allah" is one of the greatest novels of the decade, and these qualities are said to have been well preserved in the Liebler production of the play, which comes to the Mason next week.

Few who have read the fascinating novel will fail to take advantage of the opportunity to see it on the stage.

"Hit-the-Trail Holliday" continues on its fun-making way at the Mason this week. If George M. Cohan ever had an inspiration for a better play he failed to give it expression. The character work of every member of the cast is well-nigh beyond criticism.

"Hit-the-Trail Holliday" is a good-natured satire on the Billy Sunday method of reform.

Morosco.

"Potash and Perlmutter" has proved an excellent Christmas present at the Morosco, and every performance since last Sunday's matinee has been given before a packed house. This clean-cut comedy, which was the sensation of two continents for more than two years, has tremendously pleased the theatergoers of Los Angeles.

Richard Dix and James Corrigan have probably never before given anything quite so good in character work as their representations of those gentle, unconscious humorists, Abe and Mauruss.

Burbank.

The special holiday week attraction at the Burbank, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," is undoubtedly one of the best productions ever given in that popular playhouse. It is a typical George M. Cohan play, combining rich melodrama and a fine vein of comedy.

The excellent cast includes A. Burt Wesner, Warner Baxter, Inez Plummer, Harry Duffield, Grace Travers, Miss Billie Boland, Frank Darien and Emelie Melville.

Orpheum.

There is to be "big doin's" at the Orpheum New Year's Day. Beside the regular matinee two shows will be given at night, one beginning at 7:30 and the other at 9:45 o'clock prompt. The New Year's bill has four topliners, including the ever-welcome "blue streak of vaudeville," Ray Samuels, with a big bunch of brand new gowns, brilliant songs and red hot monologue. Bert Savoy and Jay Brennan are said to be better than ever in their side-splitting skit, "On the Rialto."

"Lots and Lots of It" is a brilliant "Mutterstub" comedy interpreted by Phil White, Hebrew comedian, McKay and Ardine will present their happy sketch, "On Broadway," that never fails to please.

New fantasies of the dance, numbers originally intended to be displayed before the Kaiser, will be the offering of Mlle. Vera Sabina and her clever partner, and Ralph Dunbar's Maryland singers and Gautier's Animated Toy Shop will be heard and seen again.

The bill also includes Kenney and Hollis, Sarah Padden in "The Clod" and Kaliss and Stone in "Ma'mselle Caprice."

Pantages.

Harry Hines will be host at Pantages Friday night. The comedian will take that occasion to introduce for the first time in Los Angeles vaudeville the "Movie Ball" rag hit, by Grace Cunard, the noted film star, and Miss Cunard, Francis Ford and many other well-known players will be Hines's guests. The "Fifty-eighth Variety" plans to interpolate into the catchy song a riotous burlesque on movie life, and his many friends in the screen world will be on hand to see themselves as Hines sees them. From Adonis, with his great posing act, to O'Neal and Walmsley, with their girls, every act is going in great style. This week Raul Pereira and his talented string sextette receive an especially large ovation at every show.

Hippodrome.

The Hippodrome programme has the real Yuletide atmosphere this week, namely, good cheer throughout. Opening the festivities, the six Caroline Girls, a bevy of dusky queens, assisted by Marshall and Anthony, a pair of clever comedians, start the entertainment at a fast clip. Frank Coulter follows with clever songs and talk. The troubles of "A Souse" on arrival home after a night out are humorously depicted by Sam Harris and company in a clever skit. May Marya, with her dainty originality, scores nicely in every respect. So does the great Vernon with his family of dummies. Classy dispensers of real harmony, proving up to the promises, are the Original Four, a quartette of melody chaps. For real originality and clever artistry the Inax troupe are a most appropriate climax to a splendid programme.

Symphony.

"The Awakening of Helena Richie," which as a novel was one of the best sellers in many months, will be the splendid attraction at the Symphony next week, with popular Ethel Barrymore in the leading role. The Symphony will start the new year with a new manager, new decorations, loge seats and a determination to secure better plays than ever before for its patrons, it is announced. The new manager is B. C. Steele, a well-known film impresario who comes from Cleveland, O.

This week at the Symphony Julius Steger is touching the hearts of thousands in his excellent portrayal of a defrauded genius in "The Stolen Triumph."

Majestic.

Pronounced the finest piece of work the Selig company has ever given to the public, "The Crisis" has been growing in popularity every day since its initial presentation at the Majestic Theater last Sunday afternoon. "The Crisis" is a gripping story of the days that preceded the Civil War, and most of the scenes in the picture were taken in St. Louis, Vicksburg and other southern cities, where the theme is laid.

Starring in the story are Bessie Eyton, Mat Snyder, Thomas Santschi, George Fawcett, Sam Crane, Marshall Neilan and Eugene Besserer. Two showings are given daily—one in the afternoon and one in the evening.

Woodley's.

In richness of imagination, in delineation of the purity of childhood, in the romantic interest of its plot and in the morals which it points without preaching, "Snow White" has long been conceded to be the greatest fairy story ever written. This favorite of fairyland is to appear on the screen at the Woodley Theater next Saturday, with beautiful Marguerite Clark in the leading role. Miss Clark played in this role on the stage for two seasons at the Little Theater in New York under the management of Winthrop Ames, and she expresses herself as more than pleased with the filmization.

"Oliver Twist," Charles Dickens's greatest character novel, continues to attract immense crowds to Woodley's this week, and Marie Doro, in the title role, is adding new laurels to her well-deserved fame.

Palace.

"Seventeen," Booth Tarkington's romantic masterpiece, is proving one of the best attractions ever offered at the Palace. Jack Pickford and Louise Huff, the popular stars, are exceptionally clever in this pretty play, which first appeared in serial form in the Saturday Evening Post.

The rich comedy, "Shooting His 'art Out," is by no means the least attraction of the bill, which also contains another thrilling episode of "Pearl of the Army."

Next week's bill features "The Victoria Cross," with an all-star cast headed by Cleo Ridgley and Lou Tellegan.

Clune's Broadway.

"The funniest picture Douglas Fairbanks ever did." That is the verdict of many movie fans who have seen "The Matrimaniac" at Clune's Broadway this week. If not the funniest, it certainly is one of the very best things that Fairbanks has achieved on the screen. It is one of those romping, rollicking comedies in which the would-be bridegroom gets himself and everybody else into a thousand scrapes before he finally succeeds in obtaining a license and a preacher—and the girl. The picture will hold the screen until next Monday, when William S. Hart will appear in a splendid western drama entitled "Truthful Tulliver."

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) European conditions seemed to exert little direct influence upon New York Stock Exchange trading; rather, the share list was affected by the course of affairs regarding Mexico, with reactionary tendencies in stocks most affected by whatever might happen below the Rio Grande. Industrials were in fair demand and equipments and metals averaged better. International bonds were further shaded.

With only three business days of the year remaining gold to the amount of $631,300,000 has been imported into the United States from all sources during 1916.

For the first time since the beginning of the war, Germany appeared as a heavy buyer of wheat, in the Chicago market. Purchases were for delivery at Gulf ports.

(Abroad:) The annual report of the Berlin Chamber of Commerce states that during 1916 "close co-operation of the government and the people made practically available all the means which guarantee the possibility of a continuation of the war and the providing of all the necessities of life."

Trading on the Paris Bourse was steady. Rentes were quoted at 6055. Exchange on London at 27.81 1-8 and the 5 per cent. loan at 88.25.

A THING OF BEAUTY.

Did you see that sunset Tuesday night, and had you ever dreamed that anything could be so glorious? There are rare moments in life when one imagines he can appreciate the divine madness of the man of Patmos when that transcendent vision flashed on his spirit's sight.

BUNK.

This is the time of year when baseball players swear they will retire from the game unless they are given their own figures for the coming season. It is to laugh. There are no places in the street cleaning department or in the bar-keep profession going begging.

BABY STATISTICS.

It has been figured out that every married woman capable of bearing children must on an average bring three children to maturity if the population is to be kept up. But why were not these statistics brought to light sooner? How it would have boosted the Leap Year business in the year that is about to close?

ATAVISTIC.

A man unblushingly confessed in a local criminal court that he had been married five times and that in no case had there been the formality of a divorce. It seems too bad to prosecute that man. He really doesn't belong to this age. He harks back to the olden days in the Orient when a man could secure a new bride any old time by presenting the girl's father with a couple of fat camels.

VALE, DEAD YEAR!

The year 1916 will soon be gathered to its fathers. It has been a good twelvemonth to all of us, in spite of our views to the contrary. It has been so much better than any of us deserved. But with its joys and its sorrows, its mistakes and all, it is about to pass. The record is made up, and all the tears will not wipe out one line of it. Let us keep our face to the future and hope for the best, for without hope we are undone.

POSSIBILITIES.

Will there be a great spiritual awakening throughout the world after the strife in Europe is ended? It is logical to believe it. The universal forces are positive and negative. The pendulum of life swings to and fro and one extreme always follows another. The idea of the supremacy of physical prowess will probably be followed by the recognition of that silent power that makes physical force possible. Man may yet walk humbly before his Maker, in perfect peace and with a new and greater strength.

THEY ARE AFTER HIM.

There is a movement on foot to depose Chairman Willcox of the National Republican Committee, on account of the result of the recent campaign. If Hughes had been a winner the detractors of Willcox would be throwing their hats for him. But it does seem that no excuse exists for a lack of knowledge of conditions in a number of Western States that manifested themselves in Wilson victories. National politics is an eminently practical business, and tyros should not apply. But Mr. Willcox was the choice of Judge Hughes, and he had more at stake than any other man.

THE LOVE THAT LASTS.

At their home in Benedict Canyon, an old man, 80 years of age, and his wife, aged 70, both passed away on Christmas Eve and were laid to rest together. For fifty years she had been his helpful companion, through storm and shine, and it was her wish that when he should be taken she might be allowed to accompany him across the Great Divide. "They were lovely and pleasant in their lives and in their death they were not divided." In spite of misunderstandings and divorces, when we read of such deep affection as this we are compelled to acknowledge that there is a genuine affinity that exists between a good man and a good woman, a love that outlasts all the storms of passion, the singing sales of misfortune and the snows of age.

AND NOW THE LEGISLATURE.

California's Forty-second Legislature will be confronted by civil, criminal and political codes that are in a deplorable condition by reason of the maze of legislation enacted during the last six years. A few of the laws have been good, but more than 1500 of the new acts have served to confuse rather than to clarify the codes.

The fault of much of the legislation of the last six years has been that it was promulgated by an organized minority in order that it might exploit to its own advantage the unorganized majority.

This explains the presence of the initiative and the referendum in our Constitution, of our complicated and notoriously unfair election laws, of inheritance tax laws with a maximum so ridiculously high that it is affecting injuriously the development of the natural resources of the State, of at least fifteen commissions that are interfering needlessly with the civil rights of citizens of the State, commissions that were created for the single purpose of providing positions for persons who had aided the State machine in successful political campaigns, of criminal laws that make those adjudged guilty of murder prefer a life sentence to an intermediary one of twenty years.

The coalition known as the State machine represents no party, but is an adroit combination of minorities of widely different ideas concerning government, coalesced into a majority that is controlled by a small coterie of unscrupulous politicians who are in the game of politics for what they can make out of it.

Among these minorities are extremists of almost every shade of political faith. The machine looks out carefully for coteries that follow certain fads and it pledges itself to legislative support for certain of the faddist measures in return for political support in the State elections. This explains why we have so many commissions and so many freak laws on our statute books. To illustrate: In the last Legislature was an Assemblyman who would take the programme of the machine for whatever political legislation it desired in return for support for a measure compelling hotel-keepers to furnish bed sheets not less than nine feet in length. He believed that the health and prosperity of the State depended on longer bed sheets. There was another who voted consistently with the administration from the day that it supported his bill providing that each crab brought into the State must have its age stamped on its shell. Unlimited Socialist support followed the passage of a bill fixing the maximum of the inheritance tax at 30 per cent. of the value of the estate. Support of the machine politicians of San Francisco was won in part through a registration act which provided that party affiliation could not be stated when one registers. One verdant Senator swallowed the administration programme whole in return for support for an anti-loan-shark bill which contained a section contrary to the State Constitution. After the close of the session the Governor called attention to the unconstitutional feature of the act and killed it with the pocket veto.

During the last six years a few salutary laws have been passed; the machine was willing to lend its support to any kind of measure as a political trade, even to remedial and beneficial legislation. But under all governments purchased legislation is doubtful legislation. In the last general election an amendment was added to the Constitution forbidding the purchase of votes with patronage in the Legislature. It now remains for the Forty-second California Legislature to repeal some of the laws and to abolish commissions that were the product of legislative barter.

Here are a few suggestions concerning laws that should be repealed or amended, laws that have proved more costly or more unjust than the old ones which they replaced. During the six years that the initiative has been a part of our State Constitution it has cost the State $2,000,000 for elections and petitions; but the cost of these elections has been more than $10,000,000 to the commercial and industrial interests of the State. It has driven out capital and has proved a bar to investments. But a single initiative measure has been adopted. The repeal of this un-American provision would be of a material benefit to the State and the only injury would be to the feelings of a few half-baked reformers who were responsible for its adoption.

Our direct primary law is a masterpiece of mediocrity; it was drafted by men too ignorant of legal phraseology to state intelligently what they sought to enact. Its different parts are conflicting and the kind of primary for which it provides is one under which it is impossible to secure a registration of the will of the majority of the members of any party. The feature which puts the making of the platform and conduct of the campaign in the hands of the candidates is in itself enough to condemn it in the minds of all honest men and women.

There is a provision in our inheritance laws which stipulates that two-thirds of each estate must be left to personal heirs. This has robbed California educational and charitable institutions of millions of dollars in bequests and has caused wealthy citizens to move from the State and establish their residence elsewhere.

Another section of our inheritance laws provides a maximum tax of 30 per cent. on inheritances. This was placed in the law as a sop to the Socialists who believe that one way to cause all property to pass into the possession of the State is to make inheritance taxes high enough to confiscate everything in two or three generations. The State has reaped no benefit from the law, as no estate has been left under conditions to which this maximum would apply, but it has done much injury, as it is quoted frequently in other States to prejudice wealthy investors against California investments.

There is an urgent necessity for a general overhauling of the laws creating State commissions and departments. The State pays out nearly a million a year for useless duplications; private industry is needlessly harassed and taxed and the only result obtained is an addition to the number of paid State functionaries.

An experimental State tax law makes a distinction between property that may be taxed for State purposes and that which shall be taxed to support city and county governments. The experiment has not worked well; it has encouraged extravagance on the part of both the State and the local governments, with the result that the per capita governmental tax paid in California is the highest in the United States. The old system was not without imperfections, but it was much better than the one by which it was replaced.

Our present laws permit too many special elections. They should be repealed and legislation enacted which would limit the number of these special elections not only in the State but in the cities and counties as well.

These are just a few suggestions by way of a beginning. The field is as vast and as fertile as our great commonwealth itself.

OUR ARMY PROBLEM.

From a military standpoint, the United States is a bankrupt.

The preparedness policy instituted by the Chamberlain bill has been a failure. It became a wreck before it fairly got into motion. The Chamberlain bill provided for an army of increased size and for a Federalized National Guard.

The most strenuous efforts on the part of the War Department have failed to secure recruits enough to raise the army to the point specified in the Chamberlain bill. This government is now reduced to the humiliation of offering a bounty of $2 a head for every recruit induced to enter the army. Postmasters are paid $5 each for every recruit they secure. Could our pride be trampled deeper?

The National Guard is flat on the ground. Its best friends candidly admit that the work of twenty years has been undone. The long service on the border crushed the military ambitions of these civilian volunteers. It is not an exaggeration to say that most of the men of the militia are now inspired by one idea: to get out of the service.

It is obvious that such a system cannot survive. It is folly to maintain an organization which cannot be called upon for military service, long or short, without danger of disrupting it.

It is worse than folly to attempt to maintain a regular establishment by petty bribery. If our military system had to fall into pieces, it is well that it should be now rather than in a time of more dire need. We still have the time and the means with which to repair our military blunders.

The plan which, as a matter of course, suggests itself as the apparent remedy is compulsory military training. This can be either conscription or an enforced service in the organized militia. There are many features of the latter plan which suggest themselves as particularly applicable to the United States. It might work a great hardship on many young men to be taken into the army for one year or two years constant service; but every young man could give one or two evenings a week and his summers for the years between eighteen and twenty without loss and with considerable gain both to himself and to the country.

This would provide not the ideal military establishment; but one that probably would prove adequate to our needs. A system not unlike this has given Switzerland an army which, although it has not stood the test of war, is considered an excellent military machine.

Accompanying this plan for a compulsory militia, it might be well to try the plan of "districting" the regular army. This has been done with success in foreign military establishments. Under this plan, each regiment of the regular army has a permanent station. For instance, there might be a Southern California regiment to be maintained in this district as part of the regular army. Local pride would induce recruiting. Families would be more willing to permit their sons to enlist, secure in the knowledge that it would not mean a real parting. Officers and enlisted men could have their homes and families, were the regiment's station a permanent fixture.

There seems to be no reason why regiments should be sent flitting around the country like migratory birds. It entails a terrific expense and renders army life unnecessarily hard.

In the German army, only one junior officer is compelled to live in the barracks. The other officers live with their families wherever they choose and go to their work every morning like other business men.

Were our regular regiments attached to permanent stations, it would simplify the co-operation between the regulars and the National Guard and increase the efficiency of the militia because the latter troops would doubtless be brigaded with regulars and under the command of West Pointers.

The argument advanced against the district plan is that the strategic points of the United States, where troops are most needed, are in many cases not centers of population. This is not good reasoning. The fact that Los Angeles might be a permanent station for a regiment of regular troops is no reason why all the recruits have to come from this city.

THE CONSUMPTION OF LIQUORS.

Advocates of prohibition deny that it goes hand in hand with bootlegging. Yet in the 1916 report of Hon. William H. Osborn, United States Commissioner of Internal Revenue, we read:

"No abatement appears in the illegal sale of liquors by 'bootleggers,' and none may be expected unless the bureau shall receive more hearty co-operation on the part of local officers in the various States and localities where prohibition laws exist."

In a previous report, Commissioner Osborn had this to say on the same subject:

"Bootlegging is principally carried on in States operating under local prohibition laws, and appears to be one of the hardest propositions that revenue officers are called upon to solve.

As the various States vote 'dry' the operations of the bootlegger grow larger."

The 1916 report of Commissioner Osborn also shows how little effect upon consumption of distilled liquors the spread of prohibition has had. While noting the big amounts of alcohol withdrawn, tax free, for export and for denaturing, the report states that there was an increase of 11,527,844 gallons in tax payment of distilled liquors in the fiscal year 1916 as compared with the previous year. This was an increase of over 9 per cent. in liquor intended for consumption.

An even greater increase is shown in the present (or 1917) fiscal year, according to monthly reports issued by the commissioner's office. For the first four months, July, August, September and October, such tax paid withdrawals of distilled liquors for consumption have been 7,395,537 gallons greater than in the corresponding four months of the previous fiscal year. This is an increase of over 18 per cent.

THE CAUSE OF FREIGHT CONGESTION.

The shortage of cars is not the fault of the railroads. It is the result of the congestion at seaboard terminals. The railroad companies cannot get rid of the freight when the cars reach their destination. The Southern Pacific Company has leased additional piers in New York in the borough of Brooklyn, at Staten Island and at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street. The shortage is in ocean tonnage, not of cars or railroad facilities.

Julius Kruttschnitt of the Southern Pacific Company, says: "Throughout the country tens of thousands of little industry tracks are taxed with a business two or three times greater than they can handle, but it is all due to the lack of equipment among receivers of freight, not the shortage of facilities among the roads."

Congestion at terminals on the Sunset line has been unavoidable. Because of the war and the closing of the Panama Canal for some time, practically all the freight moving between the Pacific and Atlantic coasts has been swung back to the railroads and in such volume that congestion was unavoidable.

The situation will be relieved by the placing of more ships to travel between Atlantic and Pacific ports and the construction of additional warehouse facilities at all terminals.

Political Caution.

[Washington Star:] "Are you going to make any speeches in Congress?"

Evidence of Precocity.

[Birmingham Age-Herald:] "Mercy!" exclaimed Mrs. Diggs. "The baby is chewing on your pocket edition of Epictetus."

"Indeed," replied Prof. Diggs with a proud and happy look. "Let the child alone. It is seldom that a mere infant shows such a pronounced taste for the classics."

A Good Salesman.

The elderly assistant produced boxes immediately.

"For your husband, madam?" he asked, as he opened one; "or something of a better quality?"

THINGS ARE NOT WHAT THEY SEEM.

That dreary pessimist who goes round giving everyone the tummy ache, what a world of disappointments and sorrows he must have suffered! How bitterly cynical he is about all the little sentimental exuberances. Poor wretch, he must have had some peculiarly hard experiences!

That cheerful optimist who beams with angelic good temper—of course he never knew what sorrow was. It is all very well for him to look on the cheerful side of things and insist that everything is for the best in this best of all possible worlds. He has had all the luck.

But perhaps it is not quite like that. Your average pessimist is a humbug. He has never known real sorrow, real troubles. Real troubles bring out the best in us, one takes a pride in bearing them gallantly. Real sorrows are ennobling, we take a pride in shouldering our real burdens with courage and fortitude. One does not demean a real sorrow with cynicism and whining. Only the petty tribulations excite those cheap expressions of feeling.

So maybe the cheerful optimist has not always had all the luck. Maybe he, too, has known sorrow and its elevating influence. Maybe it is his very triumph over trouble that has made him so galla: :ly optimistic. He knows that troubles and sorrows are life's little obstacles designed for conquest. It is your brave conqueror who smiles benignly and declines to succumb to defeat. All the evidence is against the miserable old pessimist, he is a cheap fraud, a petty whiner, a human mistake.

Color Value.

[Nautilus:] Mrs. Blank had in her employ a colored maid who belonged to a "funeral club" which binds all its members to attend every funeral of a member upon receipt of notification. One afternoon Dinah's mistress saw her come down the stairs, ready to go out, dressed in a bright scarlet dress, with a large scarlet willow plume in her hat and a red parasol in her hand.

"Why, Dinah, I thought you were going to a funeral," said Mrs. Blank.

"Yes, I'se going to the funeral," said Dinah.

"But you ought not to wear red to a funeral," said Mrs. Blank. "You ought to be dressed quietly in a dark dress!" Dinah poked the toe of her shoe with her parasol, and meditated a moment, then said. "Well, Ah reckon I won't go back and change now; I'll just wear this."

Some three weeks after this Dinah approached her mistress and told her that she was going to leave, because she was going to be married. Mrs. Blank expressed her astonishment that Dinah even had an admirer. Dinah simpered and twisted the corner of her apron, and said: "No, I didn't have one until just lately! Does you remember that funeral I went to one time when I wore my red dress? Well, missus, dat shade of red done kotched de eye ob de corpse's husband."

AN ENTERING WEDGE FOR INDIAN WRONGS.

BY REV. CARL E. GRAMMAR, D.D.
President, The Indian Rights Association.

THE Johnson Bill, favorably reported by the Senate Committee on Indian Affairs and therefore on the calendar, would give the Indians of South Dakota the right to compel the removal of their superintendents by the Secretary of the Interior. Senator Johnson proposed a bill originally to apply to the entire Indian service, but so much opposition from all parts of the country manifested itself that an amended form limited its application to South Dakota alone.

The new measure is equally revolutionary and unwise. It constitutes the entering wedge of the plan designed to remove the Indians of the United States from the control of the government's Indian Bureau and to vest apparently in the Indians themselves the very large and—when properly administered—wholesome powers at present exercised by superintendents appointed by the Indian Bureau under the provisions of the classified service. Nominally, the original bill limited the powers conferred on the nation's wards to the right of recall and the naming of three eligibles from among whom the Secretary of the Interior was required to make choice. But the inevitable effect of such a procedure would be to give control to the weakest and most characterless among the Indians who must soon be the victims of an evil, designing element among the mixed bloods and of unscrupulous whites seeking to exploit them. The consequences attendant upon the terms of the original bill were so obvious that public opinion—unmistakably expressed by Joseph H. Choate in his letter to Senator Ashurst of Arizona—gave it its quietus. The new bill, now reported back to the Senate, is the half loaf demanded by the partisans of the first measure.

It may, perhaps, be needless to say that all who have been identified with the national movement to safeguard the material possessions as well as the moral well being of the Indians are as emphatically opposed to the modified bill as they were to its forerunner. Broadly speaking, there is no reason why the Indians in South Dakota should have their interests and their welfare imperiled any more than should the Indians elsewhere. The South Dakota Indians number about 22,000 Sioux in various stages of civilization. Existing laws, which hitherto have worked satisfactorily, provide for any individual's complete emancipation from control into citizenship whenever he can demonstrate his fitness.

The plain truth is this: According the right of choosing their own superintendents, these Indians would be at the mercy of grafters and land sharks—two breeds of whites against whose depredations on the Indian the Indian's friends have been forced to wage incessant war. Rev. Sherman Coolidge, the full blood Arapahoe who formerly was president of the Society of American Indians, declares: "By such a law the very worst elements will seek to control the Indian tribes."

In the old days, when the only good Indian was supposed to be a dead Indian, these bent on the Indian's exploitation relied altogether on force, mitigated only by such double dealing as the ignorant aborigine was expected to endure. Successive "outbreaks" finally convinced the American people that the Indian could not be robbed with impunity and our people, as a nation, insisted that its wards be treated with something approaching fairness and honesty. Eternal graft promptly turned to forms of law for preservation of its opportunity for Indian spoliation.

The sole defense of the interests of all the Indians who remain wards of this government lies in protecting them from the pernicious local influences surrounding their several reservations. The superintendent is the embodiment of that protection: his appointment by the Federal government at Washington is, theoretically, the sole guarantee of his fitness for his grave responsibility.

If there is any justification for the provisions of the Johnson bill it must be sought in the implication that the 22,000 Sioux Indians in South Dakota are qualified to govern themselves. If they are qualified to manage their own affairs, no such half measure can suffice. They should be released from the control of the government and should be entrusted with complete responsibility for their future.

RULES SUSPENDED.

I think I am a modest man—I be as modest as I can. I do not boast about my home, which has a high, majestic dome, and chromos hanging on the wall, which are Old Masters, one and all. The "Yard of Roses" you'll see there, and George upon the Delaware, and Noah landing from the Ark, and other works which hit the mark. I do not boast about my books, which you will find in shelves and nooks. The leaders of the world of thought are all among the books I've bought; I have them all, a noble host, but I don't stand around and boast. I do not boast of deeds I've done, of things achieved, of prizes won. I've always viewed with wrath and scorn the man who thus would toot his horn, for if in aught he may excel, the world will know it very well. I try to be, from day to day, an unassuming, modest jay; but when I talk about my car, and how she hustles, near and far, and climbs the steepest hills on high, and makes the dust and gravel fly, no stranger, bearing me, would think that I'm a meek and humble sink.

Just a bit surprised that the storm should have ripped off the roof of the paddock at the Tia Juana race track. It has been im- mune from the attacks of bad w- for quite a while.

It is announced that Gov. Johnso- may not go to the inauguration o- the 4th of March. And just w- Woodrow was preparing to fall o- his neck and thank him for what he had done in California.

The time is up for the signing of that protocol, and nothing from Ca- ranza. It is our opinion that the Mexican-American Joint Commis- sion would get on better if they did not essay to deal with Mexico.

Back East, when a thing was a failure, it was usually described as being "run into the ground." If Second-street tunnel is "run into the ground" it will be a success. Everything is different out here.

Dixie highway ceremonies, mark- ing the States of Indiana and Illi- nois, have just been held. Recall- ing the fact that The Times was among the pioneers in the trans- continental road that was soon to bridge the continent.

There were high tides all along the California coast as a result of the storm, with none of the tragic results that followed the high tides on the coast of Lincolnshire, im- mortalized by Jean Ingelow. The ringer to ring out The Brides of Enderby.

With the assurance that the House will be controlled by the In- dependents, the chances are similar President Wilson being able to put any of his purely political legisla- tion through that body. Even Champ Clark may not be able to read the title clear.

One advantage about running a movie show is that no salaries are paid the company after the picture is made, and there are no hotel or traveling expenses. A man can carry his show under his arm. There is nothing to prevent him from get- ting out of a back window to avoid paying a fees bill.

After Gov. Johnson joins the ex-Con- gressmen in Washington, Lieut.-Gov. W. D. Stephens not only holds his present office, but that of Governor as well, with the salary of the chief execu- tive, $10,000 a year. But this has been an unusually chilly winter for the mooser will assist in keeping the wolf from the rear kitchen door.

THE MORNING SWEETNESS.

A morning sweetness fills the world,
And incense of the risen day
Moves through the realm of slum- mering sun.
The spell of youth is on the earth.
Forgotten are the hoary things
With jocund voice and lays of mirth
The spirit of the whole world sings.

The spell of summer in the land
Is like a spell of morning sweet.
Love gives to lyre her deathless hand,
And pipers play for dancing feet.
Such antic grace is in the day,
Such flooding of the hearts of men
With Attic hymn and faery lay
As if 'twere Eden time again.

The summer clouds are white as fleece,
And floating softly south they seem Like galleons out of ancient Greece
Bound for the golden isles of dream.
Care falls from off the troubled heart,
The calm and morning world is ours.
Our life, our hope, our cheer a part

W YORK BUREAU OF THE
, Dec. 27.—Before the open- of the 1917 season three of the al League clubs may have ed ownership. It has been d from a very reliable source negotiations for the Dodgers, s and Cardinals have gone much farther than the public been allowed to know.

THE DODGERS.

Charles H. Ebbets maintains that no definite offer has been made for his handsome stadium by the champion club of the National League, and, furthermore, that he has not receded one jot or tittle from the original valuation which he has placed upon it. More- over he appeared more desirous of getting out of baseball than his present attitude would indicate, and that influence close to the inside affairs that no less than three syndicates are after the Robins.

These rival syndicates, James Dreyfuss, former president of the Pirates, and his associates in that city are ready at any time to get down to straight business whenever Mr. Ebbets cares.

Barney Dreyfuss, too, has set a definite valuation on his Pitts- burgh property. This, like the Ebbets estate of Flatbush, is situated in that part of the city where real es- tate values have increased by leaps and bounds. It organized baseball's immediate future were guaranteed, it is said, either Ebbets or Dreyfuss could secure a fancy price, even if they did not realize their original figures.

LOTS OF 'EM.

"Plenty of desirable people of good financial standing," declares an official of a National League club, "would be willing to invest either in Brooklyn or Pittsburgh if the deals were entirely clear.

"But they prefer to await de- velopments of two possible crises— the strike threat of the players for better contract rights and the war of the Baltimore Federals on organized baseball. Both of these points should be cleared up definitely within the next month or two—certainly before the annual meetings. If organized ball wins, as it is almost sure to, and the owners do not take advantage of the fact to raise prices, I shall not be at all surprised to see Ebbets and Dreyfuss re-enter the game. I'd risk a hat on the transfer of the Brooklyn club will be effected before the end of the next season."

A PURCHASER.

H. Wathen, president of the Louisville club of the American Association, would pur- chase the St. Louis National League club from Mrs. Helen Hathaway Britton if this lady magnate were inclined to sell at reasonable terms. Mrs. Britton, however, has so far refused to listen to reason. It is said the seven male club presidents of the National League have urged her to dispose of the Cardinals or institute a more liberal policy toward rebuilding for mutual benefit.

Mr. Wathen, it is understood, also has sounded out Barney Dreyfuss on the Pittsburgh franchise. He prefers St. Louis to Smokeville as a base of major-league operations, however, because it is nearer his home and business. Wathen is a wealthy distiller of Louisville, an old-fashioned magnate who loves the game for sport's sake and who gets more pleasure out of the suc- cess of the club than from the financial returns.

Wathen's Louisville pennant win- ner is said to have been an expen- sive luxury, but still he is one of the most enthusiastic promoters to be met with anywhere. He believes Bill Clymer, who led Louisville to victory, the last word in general- ship. For Clymer's sake as much as for the sport of the thing, O. H. Wathen is now gunning for a major- league franchise.

M'FARLAND WILL TRY COME-BACK.

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 27.—Packy McFarland is ready to do one more come-back. The boxing game is rustling so much easy money these days that Packy has decided to take a few weeks off to collect $15,000 for going ten rounds.

Packy's antagonist will be Ted Kid Lewis, one of the welterweight contenders, and the bout will be for the welterweight championship. The boxers are waiting until boxing is legalized in the State of Illinois, when they will initiate the sport on the first night.

McFarland has not boxed since he and Mike Gibbons staged the famous $32,500 fiasco at Brighton Beach. Packy announced after that session that he was through with the game forever. But the unprecedented boom that has come into pugilism since Les Darcy beat the recruiting sergeant in his long race has roused the business instincts in Packy. There is too much easy money about for him to stay out of it.

If the boxing bill should fail to pass in Illinois the bout will be staged in Madison Square Garden, New York.

N.C.A.A. EXECUTIVES MEET.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The annual meeting of the Executive Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association was held here tonight. The purpose of the meeting was to prepare plans for the annual convention, which will be held tomorrow.

They are here—Penn and Oregon.

PENN WORKS ON GOLF COURSE.

NO TIME WASTED IN GETTING INTO THEIR SUITS.

Punting Practice, Falling on the Ball, Running Signals, Shadow Scrimmage and Other General Fundamental Workout for Easterners—Berry a Real Punter.

The Pennsylvania football squad and coaching staff arrived in Pasadena yesterday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock and were taken immediately to the Hotel Raymond, where they will stay until after the New Year's battle.

Coach Folwell lost no time in getting his twenty-two players into suits and in half an hour's time they were down on the golf course running through signals.

The practice started with Howard Berry, all-American full-back and brilliant star of the easterners, punting. Half of the other players ran down on the punts, the others caught them. Berry is a past master at the art of booting. His spirals were long and high. In fact, they went so high that Coach Folwell had to keep shouting at his men to keep them from overrunning them. Berry's kicks must have averaged fifty yards, too.

This was followed by the players running around to warm up and falling on the ball. It was here that Heinie Miller, all-American end and captain-elect, first caught the gaze of the gathered fans. The neatness with which he curled around a bouncing ball was a delight to sore eyes.

A short signal drill followed in which Berry was given the ball often and the forward pass used more frequently.

The second team then came pranceing down the field and the two engaged in a short scrimmage without tackling, which resembles very closely a play without words. The teams went through all the motions without actually doing anything. The varsity charged through the line as if they meant to eat the man with the ball and then didn't. Another punting workout for Berry followed and then the run up the hill to the hotel.

The following Pennsylvania men are in the squad: Coach Bob Folwell, Senator-elect W. M. Wharton, Byron Dickson, Ford, Capt. Neil Mathews, Henry J. Miller, Glen Urquhart, Al Crane, Ray Young, Lew Little, John Titzel, Walter Berg, Bill Robinson, Jimmy Bryant, Hobey Light, Howard Berry, Ben Derr, Bill Quigley, Graves Williams, Manny Wickman, Alex Wray, Lud Wray and J. Weiser.

OREGON WORKS BEHIND GATES.

NOBODY GETS TO SEE BEZDEK COACH TEAM.

Johnny Beckett and Shy Huntington do Considerable Booting with the Honors in Favor of Beckett—Bill Hayward Says that Team is in Best of Condition.

The Oregon football squad arrived from Eugene yesterday morning on the Lark, and were shunted onto a side track and pulled out to Pasadena. There were twenty-five in the party.

Coach Bezdek ordered an early dinner, and it was served for them at the Hotel Maryland at 11:30 o'clock. The squad was out at Tournament Park, and in suits by 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

At least half an hour was spent in taking their pictures, while the impatient coach chafed at the bit, so to speak. While the pictures were being taken, Little Johnny Beckett, the captain, tried out his toe. He was averaging close to fifty yards. Shy Huntington, the star of the Oregon team, was finding some trouble in handling the ball, and Bezdek threatened to oust him on the spot.

Shy Huntington then tried his toe at place kicking. At first he was wild and the ball went every which way. Later he became more accurate.

Coach Bezdek refused to allow anybody to watch the Oregon team practice. He led the squad around behind the bleachers onto the dirt and gave orders for the park to be cleared.

"We didn't come here to show how we practice. We came to play football New Year's," he said.

The last any spectator saw of the Oregon men they were running wildly around in a circle trying to keep warm until the field was cleared.

The practice was longer than Penn's. Bezdek says that there will be few scrimmages and much signal practice.

Bill Hayward, the trainer, reported the players to be in excellent condition, and Coach Bezdek said "their condition was only fair."

The following men came south from Oregon as members of the Pacific Coast champion squad: Coach Hugo Bezdek, Trainer Bill Hayward, Manager Tiffany, Capt. Beckett, Parsons, Shy Huntington, Hollis Huntington, Monteith, Tegart, Bartlett, Spellman, Risley, Snyder, Mitchell, Cook, Dudley, Juerck, Johns, Skelton, Brown, Nelson, Williams and Jensen.

PENN AND OREGON LOOK EXCEEDINGLY "DIFFERENT"

BY HOWARD ANGUS.

THEY are here—Pennsylvania and Oregon, the two football juggernauts which are to crash together at Pasadena New Year's Day in the East vs. West battle. They arrived yesterday, within a few hours of each other, and both worked out at the same time.

DIFFERENT.

The two teams are just as different as it is possible for them to be, just as different as East is from West and as Brown was from Washington State last year.

The Oregon team arrived in the morning, led by a taciturn coach who ought to be called the "Wolf." Coach Hugo Bezdek, stocky and nervous, impatiently rushed his men out to Pasadena and then nurried them into secret practice. Like the "Wolf," he shunned strangers and looked ready to bite when cornered. From now until New Year's Day the shroud of mystery is thrown over Oregon. Oregon was about as cheering as a northern blizzard.

HOT STUFF.

Penn arrived in the afternoon accompanied by a United States Senator as assistant coach. Both Head Coach Bob Folwell and Senator C. M. Wharton had nothing to conceal. They were glad to be here and glad to meet everybody. They called a practice in the open so everybody could see. They showed enough to convince everybody that they were there. The glamous of the effete East was about them, and they lived up to the glamour. They acted as if they were bred to the royal purple.

There is as big a difference between the players themselves as between the coaches. The Oregon players are men, hardened, weather-beaten and seasoned. The Penn athletes have still a touch of the boy about them. They are just as large as Oregon, just as muscular, but they do not look as mature.

TOUGH GUYS.

Oregon, just like Washington State, last year, look like men who have lived in logging camps up in the mountains and roughed it on farms. They are hard, sinewy, thoroughly developed.

About the Penn players there is the unmistakable city-bred touch. When one looks at them he thinks of automobiles, yachts, camping

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WINONA, (Kan.) Dec. 27.—Old Whitetail has run his last race. After baffling the speediest hounds for five years, the most celebrated Kansas coyote met his match near Winona in a combination of racing car, reckless drivers and a pack of Russian wolf hounds and Scotch deerhounds. Fifty-seven other coyotes have fallen victim the same way this fall, but there was no such rejoicing as over Whitetail. A renegade greyhound of notable size and ferocity is supposed to have been Whitetail's father.

Fred Ludlow, B. W. Brooke and Arthur Simpson brought about Whitetail's downfall. A tip from a rancher sent them scurrying for Brooke's flivver. Four dogs, the best of the twenty-odd famed Winona hounds, were taken in the car.

"There he goes." It was a dead three miles, the motor car going full speed across the range. The car was slowed down and the dogs released a quarter of a mile behind Whitetail. The coyote saw the dogs and ran for his life but the three-mile race with the car had told on him and the dogs closed on him.

Whitetail weighed twenty-six pounds.

GANZEL MAY BUY KANSAS CITY TEAM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—John Ganzel, recently appointed manager of the Kansas City club of the American Association, has opened negotiations for the purchase of the club, Thomas J. Hickey, president of the association, announced here today. Ganzel has offered George Tebeau, owner of the franchise, $175,000, it is understood.

J., for the benefit of wealthy Canadians residing in New York and Philadelphia, it was announced here today.

PORTLAND (Or.) Dec. 27.—Thomas Helfrich, a right-handed pitcher last year with the Harrisburg team of the New York State League, has been signed with Portland, according to announcement by Manager Walter McCredie tonight. Helfrich won 27 and lost 12 games last season.

WRANGLING ON OVER REFEREE.

Strangler and Santell in Windy Warfare.

Promoter Refuses to Get Outside Man.

Says Local Talent Quite Good Enough.

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 27.—No referee was named today for the Strangler Lewis-Ad Santell match of next Tuesday night and at the best of it will not be until some hour late tomorrow afternoon before the third on the mat is signed, sealed and delivered.

NOT SO MANY.

Choices, apparently, have narrowed down, by process of elimination, and there are fewer in the race than twenty-four hours ago. Promoter Frank Schuler declared himself against importing a man to handle the wrestlers, stating that he saw no reason why it should be impossible to pick an expert in this section.

The choices, therefore, at present writing are Al Williams, wrestling instructor at the Olympic Club, and Eugene Van Court of Oakland; with I. W. Kreling as an outside possibility.

Santell and Promoter Schuler, while not holding out for Kreling, consider him a competent man and the chap who ought to be selected. Billy Sandow, spokesman for Lewis, takes the view that Kreling might be prejudiced.

COMPETENT.

"I grant you that he is a competent man," said Sandow, "but this is an important match to us and we want to be sure where we stand. Lewis talked about Kreling's work in the ring, and, all things considered, we feel that some one else ought to be selected. At any rate we would feel easier in mind. I have talked the matter over with Lewis and he agrees with me on that point."

Sandow suggested Williams, and Santell replied that, while he could not, claim any difference with the O. C. instructor, he had a feeling deep down in his mind that Williams was none too friendly toward him.

Both Sandow and Santell admitted they hadn't gone to the bother of interviewing possible candidates for the job as to their views on how points should be scored. Also they promised to have some conferences tomorrow morning, some more early tomorrow afternoon and they try to pick the principal party at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

THE PRIZE.

The kernel in the nut is a match with Joe Stecher, Schuler, while not having closed with Stecher to make the trip to the Pacific Coast, has been receiving satisfactory correspondence. Santell naturally has been suggested as an opponent for the Dodge City wonder, but Lewis feels that with a decisive win he will place himself in a position where Stecher could not afford to give him the overlook.

MOVIE HORSE GREAT DIVER.

Jumps Thirty Feet for New Comedy Film.

SOME DIVE.

In the play, a bandit has escaped after robbing the people in a dance hall. Leaping over tables and chairs and gambling layouts, Jasper carries his rider up a long flight of stairs at a break-neck pace and eludes the pursuers by going head first down from the roof. It is a wonderful leap of about thirty feet. Leaving the jump out of the question, his race up the stairs considerably dims the fame of Gen. Israel Putnam's famous escape from the British down a flight of stairs on horseback.

There have been a great many inquiries about Jasper and considerable surprise has been expressed to find that Jasper is a meek and lowly broncho. They expected to find so courageous a heart in a thoroughbred.

JUST A BRONK.

It would, however, be more surprising to find that Jasper were anything else except a broncho. A mustang comes legitimately by his fighting heart. He is a direct descendant of the Arab war horses of old.

These horses were raised for battle. Their lineage dates way back before Christ. So carefully were these pedigrees cherished that when an Arab charger was captured his master or his master's widow always sent to the victor the pedigree of the captured steed.

THE HISTORY.

Most of the present Arab stock is supposed to be descended from a famous war mare, who, having traveled many days with a war party without water, finally brought her master to an oasis. As she was stooping to her first drink, the half-famished mare heard the bugle sounding the charge. Leaving the water untouched, the mare rushed back into the fight.

These Arab horses were taken into Spain by the Moors and their descendants bore the Spanish knights who came with Cortez to the conquest of Mexico.

From the stray horses who escaped to wander over the plains came the American mustang.

Jasper is worthy of his fighting ancestry.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 27.—The City Commission Council yesterday reported favorably the ordinance under which racing will be conducted at the fair grounds race track by the Business Men's Racing Association, starting January 1 and continuing for fourteen days. Under this the betting system used last year will be allowed.

Great preparations have been made for the meeting. There are over 700 horses already here. The New Year's handicap, one mile and one-sixteenth, will be the feature of the opening day, and such horses as the imported Courtly Lass and Yo m poma, Thornhill, Leochares, Britzalmah, Grumpy, Typhoon, Haubert and eleven others. The track is a sea of mud from recent rains, but is expected to dry out for the start of the meeting.

DARCY BEWILDERED BY THE BIG CITY.

AUSTRALIAN CAN'T GET USED TO NEW YORK.

No Arrangements Made so Far for His Training Quarters or for a Bout—He Intends to Work Out Where Everybody Can Get a Chance to Look Him Over.

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 27.—Les Darcy is still bewildered and scarcely knows where to start as he seeks to give his impressions of New York.

"It's all wonderful," he said tonight; "more wonderful than I ever imagined. From the time I woke up on the Cushing that morning down the bay and saw the great buildings for the first time I have experienced one surprise after another. You see, I was born and brought up in a small town, East Maitland, and the only cities I had ever seen before coming to this country were our own—Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane. Is it any wonder that I am about overcome with the greatness of New York?"

Darcy has not selected his training quarters as yet, but he is considering a number of them, and may decide to go to Billy Grupp's gymnasium in Harlem. It is his intention to train in a spot which will be easily accessible to all those who wish to see him work out.

The Australian had a welcome visitor today in the person of the Rev. Father Malloy, a New Zealand priest who has seen service for the past two years as a chaplain with the British armies in the Dardanelles and in France. Father Malloy had never met Darcy, but had seen him fight frequently in the Stadium at Rushcutter's Bay, near Sydney, and dropped in to wish him luck in his bouts in this country.

George Chip, whom Darcy knocked out in his last fight in Australia, arrived in town today and claimed the right to meet his conqueror in his first bout on American soil. Like everybody else who has seen Darcy fight, Chip admits that he is a bear.

MINOR LEAGUERS TO GET TOGETHER.

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—Club owners of the three class AA leagues—the International, Pacific Coast and American Association—will meet jointly in Cincinnati, January 2, in the interests of problems to be placed before the National Baseball Commission on that date.

Abolition of the draft rule in the class AA organizations will be one of the issues to be considered by the commission, Thomas J. Hickey, president of the American Association, announced here today.

BASEBALL BRIEFS.

T. J. Darmody will make his first payment on the purchase of the Vernon club today. He stated that Arthur Fisk and Walter Jackson will be associated with him in the deal, as originally stated, regardless of reports to the contrary.

Yesterday and the day before, Darmody and Fisk were up to their necks in contracts and other papers pertaining to the club, and because of this had little time to devote to the managerial situation. Cravath, Stovall and Patterson are still lined up at the barrier, and the fans are at liberty to pick their favorite and write their own ticket.

Darmody is known to favor a playing manager, all else being equal, while Fisk is understood to favor a change of some sort. Patterson still is a factor, with his showing last season as his chief claim to consideration.

Art Griggs paid the new Vernon headquarters a lengthy visit yesterday. Art was there for the purpose of ascertaining his present status, and his prospects for being with the club next season. Darmody has not decided these questions. Art is reasonably sure of a good job here or elsewhere, having demonstrated his ability in the fast minors and majors.

Because Barney Oldfield has made so many blunders as press agent of the Los Angeles club, President Powers has asked for waivers on him. In case these are secured he expects to trade him to Tom Darmody for Gene Doyle, former press agent of the Vernon team. Barney is peeved to think that his efforts have not been appreciated, and may compromise by accepting an invitation from Dave Joyce to pass New Year's in Chicago to be followed by a side trip to New York.

BOWLING NOTES.

The Security Trust and Savings Bank trio of ten-pin cracks were the big noise in the opening games, holiday week, in the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Bowling League tournament now going on at the Majestic alleys.

Starting early in the postponed game from last week the bankers bowled down 2804 pins, which is not only the season record, but the league high mark. The R. Jevne Company were the victims. It is needless to say that they lost the series.

The groups, feeling their defeat, changed their line-up and took on the Baseball team, and walloped them the old game. Vice-President W. E. Bishop bowled over 230 in both of the second games, which ties Harry Carroll, of the Broadway Department Store team for second high game.

On the adjoining alleys Capt. "Baron" Kloss and his brave, able assistant, Billy Reynolds, defeated the E. W. Reynolds Company, by taking the odd pins. Gross, Meador and Stein had the high average for the night's play in the order named. The score:

WILLIE HOPPE STILL A BEAR.

Willie Hoppe waved his magic wand (vulgarly known as a cue) over the table for the better part of an hour at the Title Insurance billiard parlors yesterday afternoon, and at the conclusion of the exhibition those present were of the opinion that anything which old man Hoppe's boy doesn't know about billiards has not yet appeared in the encyclopedia of knowledge. Hoppe displayed his well-known skill in two departments of the cue game. At 18.2 balkline he defeated young Jake Schaefer, 250 to 27, and then topped off his performance by defeating Chick Wright 15 to 6, in three cushions, in eight-een innings. In this match the men played mainly a "safety-first game," and as a rule each left his opponent an impossible position. Later Wright demonstrated to the crowd the technical features of Hoppe's system, while Charley Peterson, champion fancy shot of the world, entertained the crowd with a demonstration of skill that was uncanny.

YOUNGSTERS BATTLE FOR INDOOR TENNIS TITLE.

Elliott Binzen,

Who is starring in the junior indoor tennis play at New York.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The record of 100 competitors for the national junior lawn tennis championship singles narrowed to sixteen survivors here today. Among the best of the young players under 20 years of age who retained places were: Francis W. Hopkins (Yale,) who defeated Richard S. Goldman (Princeton,) 4-6, 6-2, 6-4; Willard Botsford (Columbia,) who beat Paul Keresath (Fordham,) 6-2, 6-2; E. H. Hendrickson, the Amherst star, who defeated F. Dornheim (Philadelphia,) Penn State boy champion, 6-1, 6-0; P. B. O'Boyle (Georgetown,) who beat Alvin Filer, 6-1, 6-0, and C. Warner (Lehigh University,) who defeated W. M. Warner (Hill School,) Potstown, Pa., 6-2, 6-0.

The playing of Elliott & Binzen, Fordham champion, was excellent. He easily outplayed F. Barrett, Newton High School, 6-2, 6-1. B. M. Arnold, Jr., of Carteret Academy, New Jersey, worked a surprise by eliminating F. A. Middleditch, Princeton, 6-4, 6-0. Merritt Cutler of Pratt Institute defeated Arnold at 6-2, 6-4.

Owing to the stormy weather it was necessary to play the matches by electric light. The best of the matches in the doubles was that in which the Hopkins brothers of Yale defeated H. D. Keresey and O'Boyle (Georgetown,) 6-4, 6-4.

WOLF PROMISES NEW SEAL TEAM.

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 27.—Harry Wolverton, out from the mountain fastness of Madera county, where he was snowbound for four days, and into San Francisco on a flying trip, promises some important changes when the Seals face the barrier this coming spring.

Here are some of the things that Wolverton is promising by way of a belated Christmas gift to the baseball followers of San Francisco:

One brand-new first-string catcher.

Two other new faces yet to be announced.

Perhaps another pitcher of big league caliber.

A couple of trades that will permit the club to get down to the limit.

So far as mentioning names and telling us just what's what, Wolverton is an absolute blank.

"Our team is getting shaped up nicely," he said. "I am sorry I can't mention any names, but I can promise you there will be a new first baseman, another catcher and at least two other faces. It is possible I will be able to announce some trades before I leave on the trip back to the mountains, but I hardly think so.

"Now, the acquisition of new men for the places I have named doesn't necessarily mean the old players will be missing. For instance, Bill Speas will report to the club in the spring, and so will Sepulveda and Clarence Brooks.

"Our pitching staff looks good to me. There will be Ralph Stroud, Spider Baum, Erickson, who will be a great help if he can get over his wildness; Red Oldham, who had improved in the fall; Dougherty, the left-hander we drafted from the New York State League; Brown, Steen and Kallio, from whom to pick a staff.

"My reports have it that Dougherty is already big league timber. Kallio, I think, was all pitched out when he joined the team and you didn't see his curve.

"Baum will spring a surprise on the fans. Charlie has picked up twelve pounds this winter, and never before has he gained weight in the winter months. He has been pitching in leisurely fashion twice a week ever since we have been in the mountains, as he thinks that it will aid him in getting into shape faster in the spring.

"Downs and Corhan look like fixtures around the keystone sack. At third we can use Maisel, or for that matter he will be available for the outfield. Maisel is a .300 hitter and ought to help the team on the aggressive.

"Our outfielders at present include Fitzgerald, Schaller and Calvo."

Wolverton refused to confirm the report that Del Baker will be first-string catcher for the Seals, having been turned over by the Detroit club, as the story goes. Naturally but two catchers will be used through the season. Whether it will be Brooks or Sepulveda to go will likely be up to the training season.

Penn and Oregon.

trips, hunting parties and the like, but never of following plows or felling trees.

It is probably in reality just the other way round. The Oregon players may all come from Portland and the Penn players off the farms of the Dakotas. But they don't look it.

It was impossible to get any kind of a line on the two teams. Oregon went immediately into secret practice and refused to do anything but kick in public. The whole impression was that of huskiness and that everybody was about the same size.

Penn practiced. Bob Folwell made the players run through signals and dummy scrimmage. They looked fast, Berry especially, and moved with machine-like precision. They handled the ball as if it were a baseball and shot all kinds of passes. Forward passes and Berry was the attack that Folwell showed yesterday. The all-American full-back seemed to be mixed up in every play, carrying, throwing or kicking the ball.

As far as condition goes, both squads seemed to be in excellent shape. "We have been reported as over-confident," said Ford, "but we're not and we have been working. The men are in fine shape."

Coach Bezdek would only say that the Oregon boys were in fair condition, but Trainer Bill Hayward vouched for their health. In spite of many remarks which may be made to the contrary, both look forward to victory. Penn does not expect to lose.

Oregon came south to win, although Bezdek insists his varsity is much the inferior. "I've a fair team," he said, "but not nearly as good as Penn."

"Didn't Mahan and Andy Smith say we were going to be beaten?" he came back. "Didn't Dobie say we were going to lose? Doesn't even Pipal at the Aggies predict our defeat? Did you ever hear anybody say we were going to win?"

DILLON AND DARCY SIGN.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 27.—Jack Dillon, local light heavyweight fighter, today accepted an offer to meet Les Darcy, the Australian champion, before a Brooklyn (N. Y.) sporting club, according to an announcement made by Dillon's manager. The purse to be given was not announced, and the date of the fight has not been set, it was said.

European Conditions Seem fluence on New York Exch Affairs Contribute to Reac Bound up in Destinies of Si

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Trading in securities today differed in no important essential from the preceding session except that dealings embodied a large number of issues, with greater uniformity of tone.

European conditions seemed to exert little direct influence, but Russian affairs contributed to the reactionary tendencies of stocks whose interests are bound up in the destinies of that country.

Industrials were in fair demand, United States Steel making a gross advance of 1¾, with 2 to 4 points in others of the same class. Equipments and metals also averaged 1 to 2 points, with sugars, papers and the usual less representative specialties. Rubbers were favorably influenced by the increase in the dividend on International Paper preferred.

Union Pacific was first among the important transportation systems to submit November returns, with net earnings showing a gain of almost $500,000.

Total sales of stocks aggregated 1,000,000 shares.

There was a further shading of international bonds, the Anglo-French 5's and Paris 6's being distinctly heavy. Total sales, par value $3,345,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

COMMERCIAL.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Only the insistence of one of the creamery men on the maintenance of the wholesale butter quotation at 37 cents, an advance of ¼ cent, over the market of the previous day, kept this commodity from a still higher price. The butter dealers with only one exception reported that their wagons are going out with a short load on every trip and that it is almost impossible to fill the increasing orders which are partially due to the tourist influx. Receipts yesterday were 27,400 pounds and the selling was very slow in face of the advancing market.

While eggs advanced 1 cent here, they dropped 2½ cents in San Francisco. The market in the north was way up to 43 cents however, while here it was standing at 36. The double action change in state prices brings much closer figures and will help divert some of the central shipments to this territory instead of the north. Some Chinese eggs were offered at 36.

On the open market there were few changes. Fresh grapes are cleaning up fast and only a few Red Emperors are left for distribution. Winter Nellis pears are in fair demand and apples are also moving freely.

Receipts of the day were eggs, 165 cases; butter, 27,400 pounds; cheese, 50 pounds; potatoes, 1583 sacks, the majority of which were diverted; beans, 1081 sacks and apples, 798 boxes.

PRICES ARE STRONG ALL DURING SESSION.

LIVERPOOL CABLES REPORT BUYING IS GENERAL.

Great Amount of Crop Held in United States for European Account is Feature of Comment. Germany Said to Own Fully Half-million Bales now in South.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 27.—Cotton today displayed strength from the opening to the close of the session. Liverpool opened after the Christmas holidays considerably higher than due and cables reported general buying and a much improved tone. First prices here represented an advance of 7 to 16 points and there was practically no recession throughout the day. The close showed a net gain of 46 to 51 points.

The improved technical position undoubtedly was the factor chiefly responsible for the strong undertone. As prices moved upward the bulls took courage and new arguments in favor of higher prices began to make their appearance.

The feature which was the subject of the most general comment related to the amount of cotton held in this country for European account. One guest merchant was quoted as expressing the belief that fully 500,000 bales of cotton now in the South were owned by German interests. Others expressed the opinion that that amount could easily be trebled. At any rate, the visible supply of the United States is either owned or contracted for by foreign spinners.

It is regarded as hardly reasonable that foreigners would wait until peace was actually established before protecting themselves with their urgent requirements of cotton.

DRUG STORES WAR ON ANTI-LUNCH PLAN.

IF ORDINANCE PASSES MANY WILL QUIT BUSINESS.

Proprietors Organize to Fight, as this Service Represents the Profits Necessary to Exist and They Declare Their Kitchenettes are Sanitary.

Drug store proprietors who have been accustomed to help pay high corner rents by manipulating a hot lunch service in conjunction with their soda fountains organized yesterday to combat the proposed municipal ordinance, to be brought before the City Council tomorrow, prohibiting drug stores from trading in food unless they operate a kitchen separate and apart from their store. That concerted action is absolutely necessary to keep at least 150 local drug stores from discontinuing business was the general opinion expressed at yesterday's meeting, as the majority of the proprietors present declared that their hot lunch service represented their profits.

According to L. L. Broodeen, proprietor of the drug stores operated under the name of the B & B Drug Company, the ordinance was fostered and presented to the Council by the Restaurant Proprietors' Association. The basis of the ordinance is that the small kitchens operated in drug stores behind their soda fountains are unsanitary because they are in the general store. If, the ordinance provides, these kitchenettes are operated with screen doors between the drug store and the cooking the unsanitary conditions would be remedied. However, as the ordinance speaks only of drug stores, no mention is made of the numerous quick lunch establishments whose cooks work in back of the counter in the same identical way as the soda dispenser operates his hot lunch foundry.

"If that ordinance goes through the B & B company will go out of business," Mr. Broodeen said last night. "And there are more than 100 other drug stores that will suffer also. High rentals and other heavy expenses make it absolutely necessary that we make a profit out of hot lunches. And I defy anyone to prove that our kitchenettes are not clean. There are some quick lunch places that wouldn't bear inspection, but they are not mentioned in the ordinance."

ARREST CAUSES SUIT.

Accused Wife Sues Sierra County and District Attorney for Big Damages Following Charge of Alleged Murder of Her Husband.

Mrs. Mary Patterson, who was taken into custody in this city coincident with the arrest of King Dutra at Marysville, both charged with the alleged murder of Charles Patterson, filed suit yesterday against James F. Hunt, District Attorney of Sierra county, and the county of Sierra, for $103,000 damages for false arrest. Mrs. Patterson was released by a justice of the peace at Downieville, which is the county seat of Sierra county, after an examination.

Mr. Patterson, according to her attorney, S. S. Hahn, is in Chloride, Ariz., and the attorney says he has information which indicates that Mr. Patterson will shortly arrive in Los Angeles and seek an interview with his wife with the view of effecting a reconciliation. Mrs. Patterson, on the other hand, it is stated, will file suit for divorce.

The Sierra county authorities, in arresting Mrs. Patterson and Mr. Dutra, went on the theory that they were in love. She demands $2500 as expenses for the services of an attorney, $500 incidental expenses and $100,000 damages growing out of her arrest.

County Auditor Objects to Cut in Appropriation and Wants Ten Thousand Dollars Additional to Run His Department for Good Service.

County Auditor Lewis, whose appropriation was cut by the Board of Supervisors from $79,390 to $72,050, says he cannot run his department on the latter sum and give good service to the taxpayers. He wants an additional $10,000, and this matter the board has under consideration.

Mr. Lewis says that the work of his department has been increased by the Los Angeles county flood control district and Los Angeles waterworks district No. 2. Yesterday he submitted to the board a report of the transactions and activities of the Auditor's office for the fiscal year ending June 30 last. He believes that the $10,000 appropriation can be made by transferring $7500 from the funds of the Los Angeles waterworks district No. 3 and $2500 from the funds of the Los Angeles county flood control district.

SET ELECTION FOR FEBRUARY.

Date for Charter Amendment and Power Bonds.

Flood and Harbor Protection not Announced.

Supervisors Urge Action for Latter Issues.

The charter amendment and power bond election will be held February 2, the Supervisors were informed at a conference with the City Council yesterday afternoon. The date of the flood and harbor protection bond election was not announced. Supervisor Hamilton said it had been fixed for January 29 or early in February, but Chairman Pridham said that possibly Mr. Hamilton knew when it was going to be, but he himself did not know the date. He stated that it had not been discussed by the board. He deprecated most strenuously the calling of two bond elections for dates close together.

Supervisor Hamilton said there were strong reasons why the power bond election should be postponed and there were equally strong reasons why the harbor protection and flood control bonds should be voted at once in order to get the $1,000,000 appropriation made by the Federal government for the same purpose.

"We feel that the harbor issue is more fundamental to the welfare of Los Angeles than the power issue," said Supervisor Hamilton. "If you do not have a protected harbor cheap power won't do you more than about 25 per cent. as much good as it would were the harbor protected. It might be possible to consolidate your charter amendment election with the county bond election and possibly the power bond election so that you can engage in the more deliberate campaign necessary to carry the power bonds. If it is not legal to consolidate the elections we could hold two separate elections with the same polling places and officials."

President Betkouski said there must be no suggestion of illegality at the election and the city must hold its election February 2 or else would have to be a delay of two years. "February 2 is the last date an election can be held to get the charter amendment ratified by the present Legislature," he said. "Moreover, it is safer for the validity of the bonds to hold our election on a day separate from the county election."

Councilman Topham said the city must hold its bond election at the same time as the charter amendment election in order to save money. He expressed the belief that the power situation has reached such a point that the election must be held February 2.

President Del Valle and Commissioners Kemp and Erkenbrecher of the Public Service Board attended the meeting, and are hopeful that the Supervisors will consent to delay the flood control and harbor bond election until the middle of February. Commissioner Kemp informally discussed the matter with the Supervisors.

TO SANTA CLAUS LAND.

Employees of Los Angeles Railway and Children Visit Fairyland and Meet Patron Saint at Company Entertainment Last Night.

Twelve hundred children and 2500 employees of the Los Angeles Railway visited fairyland, Santa Claus land and penetrated even into Santa Claus's own home last night at Recreation Hall in the Georgia-street terminals by means of a red, green and red center entrance street car.

The start was made from a pine forest inhabited by Roscoe Arbuckle, Charlie Chaplin, Teddy bears and the Los Angeles Railway Band. Yama-yama girls, nurses, Dutch dolls, Spanish dancers and court jesters to the number of 150 took the children on their way and entertained them, loaded each with candy and toys, and introduced them to a fat, red-faced Santa Claus by the name of Louis Leiber, chief engineer of the Los Angeles Railway, while a long, lean chef in the person of Supt. A. B. Merrihew and a short, fat chef in the person of Supt. Frank Van Vranken, assisted by a corps of office employees, furnished the supper.

The entertainment, which was planned by General Superintendent E. L. Lewis, and was managed by Mrs. H. W. Creveling, was the most elaborate company entertainment ever given in Los Angeles. The entertainment was followed by a ball.

GREAT VESSEL KISSES OCEAN.

Launching of Federal Tender Cedar a Success.

Eminent Officials Attend the Christening.

Ship Ready for Service in Alaskan Waters.

Pausing for an instant as its huge bulk ground into the tallowed ways, then with a mighty rumble sliding into the waters of the channel, the United States lighthouse tender Cedar, the largest ship in the commercial service, took its initial plunge into the Pacific Ocean yesterday at the plant of the California Shipbuilding Company, Long Beach. The launching, which was a success in every particular. The first tremble of the hull and the craft had been anxiously watched by thousands of spectators, and was a signal for a mighty upheaval.

With the words "I name thee Cedar," Mrs. Florence Bradford christened the vessel as it moved toward the water, at the same time sending a bottle of champagne crashing against its hull. Mrs. Bradford, who is the wife of George C. Bradford, the naval inspector stationed at Long Beach by the government, and who superintended the construction of the tender, enjoys the distinction of being the only living descendent of William Bradford, second Governor of Plymouth colony, and a passenger on the Mayflower. Righting itself immediately upon entering the water of the harbor, the perfect performance of the vessel elicited the cheers of thousands of spectators, although their shouts were almost completely drowned out by the blowing of the whistles of the shipbuilding plant and those of the small craft that had gathered in the channel to witness the event. The launching occurred exactly at 10:30 o'clock, at high tide.

GUESTS OF HONOR.

Naval officers, officials of the California Shipbuilding Company, and prominent Long Beach citizens occupied the launching stand, which also held Mrs. Cook, who christened the ship.

The guests of honor included Mr. and Mrs. George C. Cook, Fred B. Cooper of New York, organizer of the California Shipbuilding Company and counsel for the corporation; George and John F. Craig, former owners of the plant; Mayor W. Bixby, Commissioner of Public Works J. W. Williams, Fire Chief Clarence Craw, George H. Bixby, president, and P. E. Hatch, treasurer of the California Shipbuilding Company; Walter G. Bunnell, secretary of the firm; Lieuts. Howard Bode and P. M. Bates, who have been appointed officers on the Cedar; Capts. Munroe, Calhoun and Welch of the submarine fleet, Naval Constructor W. B. Fogarty and Mrs. Fogarty, and T. E. Hammond, assistant to the general manager of the California Shipbuilding Company.

FOR HARD USAGE.

The Cedar, measuring 200 feet in length, with a beam of thirty-six feet, and a displacement of 1750 tons, is the largest steel-constructed steam-driven lighthouse tender ever built for the Department of Commerce of the United States government.

Especially constructed to stand the hardest kind of usage in the roughest weather among the icebergs of the bleak Alaskan waters, the new craft will be ready for the sea the first of January.

Bunkers have been constructed in the yards of the shipbuilding company for the purpose of installing the big boilers of the boat, which have just arrived from the north. The engine of the Cedar, built in its entirety in the machine shop of the local plant, is capable of developing 1400 horse power.

Forty-eight men will comprise the crew. The boat will be used by the Department of Commerce to deliver supplies to the widely-separated stations in the Bering Sea. The home port of the tender will be Unalaska, with her extreme western station at Dutch Harbor, although the craft will make occasional trips to the Philippine Islands, where the United States Bureau of Fisheries maintains an experimental station.

The Cedar cost the government $1,000,000.

The launching of the tender Cedar was in charge of Chief Engineer A. Hull, Hull Superintendent H. Hansen, and under the general supervision of W. C. Foley, general manager of the plant.

RESISTING ARREST.

Salinas Fatally Injured by Phoenix Sheriff.

John Salinas, said to be wanted in Los Angeles to answer several charges, was shot and probably fatally wounded in Phoenix, Ariz., Tuesday, when he resisted arrest on alleged participation in a hold-up.

Thomas Murphy, Deputy Sheriff of Phoenix, engaged in an exciting gun battle with Salinas in a street filled with pedestrians, when the wanted man refused of complying with the officer's demand to come along, and a revolver fight ended only when Salinas was riddled with bullets. Both the police headquarters and Sheriff's office stated last night they have received no word from Salinas.

WILL RUSH ACTION IN HOME BUILDERS' CASE.

ALL of the indicted ex-officers and directors of the Home Builders, with the exception of L. R. Garrett, who is in San Francisco and resists removal here for trial, were arraigned before United States District Judge Trippet yesterday.

Among those present were Joy A. Winans, W. B. Judson, S. H. Garrett, James S. Green, H. W. Peterson, Rex De Barr and H. C. Galloupe. They were represented by A. I. McCormick, ex-United States District Attorney, and Harry L. Dunnigan.

Assistant United States District Attorney O'Connor insisted that the defendants be compelled to plead to the indictment next Monday, but it was argued in behalf of the defendants that this would not give them time to look over the indictment and determine their course. The indictment covers ninety-six pages of typewritten matter.

Mr. McCormick stated that the accused want an early trial, and an opportunity to vindicate themselves before the community; that there was no desire on their part to play for time, but the situation was such that some time was required to prepare themselves to plead.

S. H. Garrett, one of the defendants, presented an affidavit setting out that he was not financially able to pay for the transcribing of a copy of the indictment, and asked that the court make an order allowing him a copy. Assistant District Attorney O'Connor agreed that Mr. Garrett should have what he desired.

It was then stipulated that the attorneys for the defendants should present their demurrers and motions to quash before January 3 and that the demurrers and motions should be argued before United States District Judge Bledsoe on January 5. At that time a date will be fixed when the defendants will plead.

Both the government and attorneys representing the defendants declared that the greatest celerity commensurate with justice should mark the proceedings up to the trial of the case, which involves large interests and many investors.

RAISE FUNDS FOR GIRL.

Ralphs' Employees Want to Send Unfortunate to Country.

The girl employees of the stores operated by Ralphs Grocery Company yesterday started collecting funds to be used in obtaining medical treatment for Gertrude Cox, the young woman who mailed poison candy to herself in the effort to commit suicide. The money will be used to send Miss Cox, now at the County Hospital, to a sanatorium in the country.

Bandits Rendezvous

afternoon refused to give out the man's name, they stated that from him they gained a full description of the bandits, the first one to have been turned in by anyone. From their informer the police learned that the bandits are three in number and all very young. The detectives refused to give out the full description or any other information.

When questioned, the police stated early last night that the man from whom they gained their information first saw the bandit car near the deserted barn. It was out of order and two of the three bandits were working beneath the machine. After effecting repairs they drove the machine to the barn. He stated that he paid no attention to the matter until informed by the police that the car in question was the outlaws' machine.

Late last night it was learned that if the watch at the Everett-street barn brought no result by this morning the police would turn the machine over to its owner and give up the watch.

Launching of United States lighthouse tender Cedar, Long Beach plant of California Shipbuilding Company yesterday. This boat is especially built to combat the rough waters and ice floes among the Aleutian Islands, where she will ply.

SUING TO SAVE GRIFFITH PARK.

Taxpayers Would Enjoin the City Power Lines.

Allege Scheme's Afoot to Violate Gift's Terms.

Causing Big Playground to Revert to Donor.

A large group of citizens and taxpayers, headed by J. M. Patterson, yesterday filed suit through their attorney, Thomas K. Kase, against the city of Los Angeles, Mayor Woodman, the Public Service Commissioner, City Council, City Treasurer and City Auditor, to enjoin them from any use of Griffith Park for business purposes. This suit was filed as the result of information received that Col. Griffith J. Griffith, donor of the park to the city, had recently completed a grant deed with municipal officials that will permit the Municipal Power Bureau to use sections of the park in laying its power transmission lines from San Francisquito Canyon.

Three points are raised in the suit which form the principal grounds for the action. The first is the allegation that any grant deed given by Col. Griffith to the city is invalid because the original action giving the park to the inhabitants of the city for park purposes forever is still in effect.

The second point is brought out as the result of information that certain city officials are seeking to violate the restrictions of the original deed so that the property would return to Col. Griffith, making it possible for him in turn to execute a grant deed. This point declares that as the park was given to the inhabitants for recreation, amusement, health and pleasure, the city cannot go in as a municipality and violate the original deed.

TO RAISE TAXES?

The third and perhaps the strongest point contained in the suit is the assertion that the use of Griffith Park for the purpose of laying transmission lines will increase taxation. The complaint declares that for all intents and purposes the city has a more feasible and more economic route for its transmission lines along its own property, namely, the Los Angeles River bed. This route, the plaintiff states, can be constructed more cheaply and will also obviate the destruction of much valuable property outside of Griffith Park that must be used by the city if their project of passing through the park is carried out.

Col. Griffith first deeded the property to the city for park purposes January 5, 1897. He alone signed the deed. On March 5, 1898, to make the action valid in every respect, another deed, signed by Col. Griffith and his wife, Mrs. Mary Agnes Christina Griffith, was executed. Both deeds contained the same provisions, to wit, limiting the grant for public park purposes only for the inhabitants of Los Angeles City.

When civic officials suddenly declared it to be their intention to put power transmission lines through the park, it was stated that Col. Griffith was about to execute a grant deed. This grant deed would eliminate all restrictions and permit the city to do what they wished with the property. However, it was understood, that in consideration for this grant deed Col. Griffith was to receive about $20,000 for eight acres of the park to be used for the transmission lines, and would be permitted to erect his Greak amphitheater, and would receive power to run it free from the city.

THE ALLEGED PLAN.

But, according to Attorney Kase, this deed has not as yet been filed. Just why this delay ocurred he can explain only by his belief that civic officials are waiting until they can violate the original deed so that the new grant deed will be legal. For if the provisions of the original deed are violated, the property returns to Col. Griffith to do with as he wished. As the original deed declares the property is to be used forever by the inhabitants of Los Angeles for park purposes, Attorney Kase contends the city has no right to violate, as a municipality, the provisions.

SEARCH FOR GUNMAN.

Raid Fishing Villages After Japanese is Shot at Banquet.

Police are raiding the Japanese fishing villages at the beach in an effort to locate the gunman who shot and probably fatally wounded T. Yoshkawa while he was seated at a banquet table in the Yamoto Cafe, No. 313½ Jackson street, Tuesday night.

The identity of the assailant has not been determined, but information was brought to the police yesterday that he had escaped to one of the fishing villages. The Japanese refuse to tell the nature of the quarrel which provoked the shooting. Yoshkawa was armed, and attempted to draw his weapon after he was struck.

Yoshkawa is in the County Hospital. He is paralyzed from the injury, and last night was rapidly sinking. The surgeons at the hospital reported his recovery was doubtful.

STRING MAY DECIDE.

Piece of Twine Material Evidence in Murder Case.

Whether Joe La Vera will be bound over to the Superior Court for trial on a charge of murder may hang on a string. Yesterday his preliminary examination was commenced before Justice Brown, and it will be concluded today.

Much of the evidence submitted by Deputy District Attorney Keyes was in regard to the piece of twine found on the gun used in the commission of Louis Kalfagianes, an undertaker, and a similar strand discovered in the kitchen of the defendant's home.

Attorney Frank Dominguez represented La Vera and made every effort to discredit the evidence introduced by the State. Both sides talked of "too much tampering with witnesses," and the defendant's attorney asked the court to instruct the witnesses not to talk with the detectives who have been working upon the case. The request was denied.

BANK GETS BONDS.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday approved the bid of the Bank of Italy for the $1100 bond issue of the Little San Martin Canyon school district. The bank offered a premium of $42. The other bidder was the State Controller, who offered $20.

Unexpected Audit Reveals Alleged Shortage of Ten Thousand Dollars in Oil Company's Accounts—Cashier Held on Embezzlement Charge.

What became of the $10,000 which, it is alleged, should have been on hand, or accounted for, when the books of the Valvoline Oil Company were experted recently, will be threshed out in the Superior Court, as result of Justice Summerfield's refusal yesterday to dismiss the charge of embezzlement against R. J. Venig, former cashier of the concern. His bail was fixed at $5000, which was furnished.

The books of the company were audited unexpectedly, following the death of the manager of the San Francisco branch, which has supervision over the local office. No defense was made at the preliminary hearing.

IDENTIFY MAN BY HIS FINGER-NAIL.

VICTIM OF ALLEGED DRUGGING SURE OF COMPANION.

J. E. Brown Must be Tried in Superior Court on Robbery Charge Because Complainant Recognized Deformity Which Could not Escape Notice.

J. E. Brown must be tried in the Superior Court on a charge of robbery because he could not hide a tell-tale disfigurement on his right hand. When a boy he smashed his finger and the nail has been split ever since. Yesterday that nail was identified by A. E. Barrel as the one he saw the day he was drugged and robbed of about $60 and a gold watch. As a result Justice Forbes bound him over for trial.

Mr. Barrel came to Los Angeles recently from Las Vegas, N. M., and upon his arrival at Arcade Station was approached by a stranger who invited him on an excursion that included about all of the North Main street barrooms. That evening he says he and the stranger, who told him his name was Thompson, went to a local hotel, both under the influence of liquor.

"I was not sick" Mr. Barrel told the court "but the man I believed a new friend told me I looked as though I were ill. In fact he kept insisting until I believed him, and when he offered to give me medicine I thanked him and took it. In less than a minute I was unconscious and when I awoke three hours later found that I had been robbed and my friend was gone."

The witness said he saw the "friend" a few days later and accosted him. "I am not Thompson, my name is Jones," he said the defendant told him. Then Mr. Barrel grabbed that disfigured right hand and saw again the split nail. That was enough evidence for him and he held the wily stranger until an officer arrived. The police say Thompson's right name is Brown.

DOUBLE SUICIDE ATTEMPT FAILS.

GOD DIRECTED ME TO DO IT, SAYS FRIENDLESS WOMAN.

Dragged from Rails as Southern Pacific Train Approaches, Woman Gives Man Tongue-lashing, then Tries it All Over Again—Loses Foot in Second Try.

Mrs. Mary H. Gilchrist of No. 1524 Winfield street made two attempts yesterday to end her life on the tracks of the Southern Pacific Railroad, at East Fifty-fifth and Alameda streets. But she succeeded only in losing a foot, and physicians at the County Hospital say she will recover.

Mrs. Gilchrist was frustrated in her first attempt, shortly after daybreak, when W. H. Lepper of No. 1147 East Fifty-third street dragged her from the rails as a train was approaching. For his kindness he was given a tongue-lashing, it is alleged, the woman declaring God had commanded that she ascend to the spirit world at once, and had directed that she end her life under the wheels of a train. Her rescuer escorted her home.

It was not long until the woman hurried back to the same spot from which she had been saved and, waiting until a train came within a few feet of her, jumped headlong at the engine. The impact was so great that she was hurled many feet into the air, and the train crew found she was seriously injured.

The woman was removed to the County Hospital, where it was discovered that amputation of her left foot was necessary, but that she was otherwise not seriously injured.

Mrs. Gilchrist is supposed to have come here from Fowler, Mead county, Kansas. Little is known of her.

STEALS DEFENDANT'S CAR.

Take Automobile of F. M. Steele While in Court.

While Francis M. Steele, former City Attorney of Huntington Park and Azusa, was before Justice Miller of Glendale yesterday on a technical charge, some one stole his automobile which he had parked in front of the Courthouse. This he discovered following the issuance of a new complaint against him.

Mr. Steele was arrested on the 5th, inst., on complaint of the city of Burbank, while he was handling some funds in connection with a position he had as the representative of some of the smaller motor cities before the Railroad Commission. Mr. Steele demanded a jury trial, which was set for January 4.

SELL EIGHTY FOR CASH.

Eighty acres in the vicinity of Tehachapi, Kern county, were sold by H. C. Mason of No. 1017 Mission street, South Pasadena, for $2 an acre, at the office of Hughes & Haines, Receiver Merkel of the Land Office yesterday.

The land is what was known as an isolated tract, and an application for it was made by Angelo Bondurel, who owns an adjoining quarter section. Bondurel was present at the sale, but he did not get his figures above $2.10 an acre, the minimum under the law. Mr. Mason tendered cash.

REAPPOINTED TO BOARD OF WORKS.

LORIN A. HANDLEY TO STAY FOR ANOTHER TERM.

Frank H. Pettingell Succeeds Himself on Library Board and Ralph Criswell Becomes Member of the Civil Service Commission of the City.

The Council yesterday confirmed the appointment by Mayor Woodman of Lorin A. Handley as a member of the Board of Public Works. Mr. Handley is chairman of the board and his present term expires on January 1.

Frank H. Pettingell, president of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, was appointed to succeed himself on the library board, and Ralph Criswell's appointment to the Civil Service Commission to succeed George I. Cochran was confirmed.

Christopher M. Gordon's term as a member of the Board of Harbor Commissioners will expire January 1 and Mayor Woodman said yesterday he will reappoint him. Dr. J. P. Gilmer formally sent in his resignation as a harbor commissioner, to take effect January 1.

The Mayor's effort to reorganize the harbor department by having only one paid commissioner and two unpaid commissioners, and to increase the salaries of Acting Traffic Manager Matson and Chief Clerk Wade, will be opposed in the Council today by Councilmen Topham and Wheeler. Councilman Wheeler is opposed to raising the salaries when the cry is made for reduced taxes and economy, but Mayor Woodman points out that $350 a month will be saved by the change.

Councilman Topham is opposed to Mr. Matson living outside the city and drawing pay from Los Angeles. He said yesterday he will move to amend the harbor ordinance by striking out the increases in salaries.

MORE POLICEMEN.
WILL ADD EIGHTEEN.

Recommending the addition of eighteen officers to the permanent police force the Finance Committee will today advise the Council to pass an appropriation of $9990 to pay the men's salaries from now until the end of the fiscal year. The appropriation is for one lieutenant, two sergeants and fifteen patrolmen.

The Finance Committee held a special session yesterday which was attended by Chief of Police Butler. "We considered four requests from the Police Commission," said Chairman Wheeler. "One was for $1000 for badges which we did not give them. Then they asked for eighteen men as per the ordinance and also for fifty temporary patrolmen. We could not give the fifty, but we will recommend the eighteen. This number will cost $9990 until the end of the fiscal year.

"I would like to draw attention to the fact that we have already allowed the police department $26,110.97 more than the total amount in their budget for the whole fiscal year and but half the year has gone."

MESA DRIVE.
WILL IMPROVE IT.

The long-sought improvement of Mesa drive from Adams street to the north boundary of the city is in sight. The Council yesterday authorized the City Engineer to expend not more than $5650 on the work. It is intended to oil and gravel a twenty-foot road from Palms and build a small bridge.

The Council also instructed the City Engineer to construct a bridge and approaches at Second avenue and Exposition boulevard similar to that at Arlington street and Third avenue, when the opening proceedings are finished.

GIVES RELIEF.
IN BUSINESS DISTRICT.

Because of complaints made by property owners on Olive street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, that autos were parked in front of their premises all day preventing them driving to their own doors, the Council yesterday amended the traffic ordinance by placing the section within the business district, thus affording relief.

Seventh street between Figueroa and Valencia streets and Main street between Pico and Washington streets was placed within the twelve-mile speed limit zone.

FOR TUNNEL.
WILL PAY ITS SHARE.

The Board of Education will pay its assessments on school property in the Second-street tunnel district. This decision was reached by the board's Finance Committee yesterday.

After being informed by C. J. McCormick, representing the board, of this action, Councilman Topham, chairman of the Council's Public Works Committee, spoke in commendatory terms of the co-operation of the Board of Education in this important project.

More Bids Rejected.

Bids for the improvement of Virgil avenue from Fourth street to Wilshire boulevard were rejected by the Board of Public Works yesterday because they exceeded by 12 per cent. the estimate of the City Engineer. New bids will be advertised for. The City Engineer's estimate was $16,629.80 and Chief Deputy City Engineer Hansen told the board that the lowest bid was $1954 higher than his department's estimate.

Salvage Division.

A salvage division is to be put in operation by the department of supplies on January 2. It will be equipped to handle the sale of personal property owned by the city and not further required for municipal use.

Widening Opening.

Ordinances of intention were adopted yesterday for the opening and widening of Fifth street between Olive and Hartman streets, the widening of Sixth street between Olive and Figueroa streets, and the opening of Santa Barbara avenue between Grand and Hoover avenues.

Cover the Gibbons.

The Humane Animal Commission will take over the new city pound at Farmington and Alameda streets January 1, and on the ground is thickly alfalfa, the commission yesterday asked the Board of Public Works to have a coating of gravel spread over the ground. Commissioner Thomas Fox reported that the alfalfa forms excellent food, poised in the form of hay, he also asked that that part of the ground on which the offices and dog kennels are to be built be oiled and rolled.

City Hall Notes.

Further consideration of the new building code was deferred until February 15.

The City Attorney was instructed to draw up an amendment to the ordinance regulating fortune-telling so that all persons holding permits will be required to make application to the Police Commission annually for renewals.

MAN RELEASED IN ARIZONA IS ARRESTED HERE.

Liberado Rivera, Associate of the Magons, is Held to Answer to Superior Court on Charge of Contributing to Delinquency of Small Children—Denies It.

Following on the heels of his release from custody in Arizona, where he was under arrest, with Flores Magon and Antonio Villeral, on a charge of fomenting a Mexican revolution, Liberado Rivera was arraigned before Superior Judge Reeve yesterday on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of several small children. Unable to furnish $1500 bond, the prisoner was remanded to jail, and his case was set for a hearing on January 4.

Police Detective Rico arrested the Mexican at Edendale, where, it is charged, he was living with Mrs. Dionicia Hernandez and her three children, Alfonso, Angela and Alexander Hernandez. The officer alleges that Rivera induced the woman to leave her husband, and she took the youngsters with her.

Attorney Ryckman, who was employed by Rivera to defend him, states that his client told him Mrs. Hernandes and the children came to him in a destitute condition and he took her in, out of the goodness of his heart, and he intends to marry the woman as soon as he can legally do so.

GETS DAMAGES.
NEGLIGENCE NOT PROVED.

Whether Frank R. Parsons was negligent, when his automobile bumped into a truck being towed by another truck and safeguarded by a white, instead of a red light, was decided by Judge Hewitt in Mr. Parsons's favor yesterday. Mr. Parsons brought suit against the Pacific Coast Wichita Truck Company, S. A. Rinehart, E. M. Hackett and C. F. Coates for $30,475 damages for injuries he sustained and damages to his machine by reason of the accident on the Whittier boulevard December 12, 1915.

Mr. Parsons alleged that the night was foggy, and that, while driving along the boulevard, he saw a white light ahead of him. Later he discovered that the light was suspended from the forward truck. He said he could not tell whether the truck was approaching him or going in the other direction. He mistook it, however, for a car approaching and turned to the right to avoid a collision and struck the rear truck. The truck people contended that he was guilty of contributory negligence. Judge Hewitt gave Mr. Parsons judgment for $850.

GETS JUDGMENT.
TOO CLOSE TO CURB.

Ernest Kirk bought a property in Vermont Square from the Parkes King Building Company in August, 1915, giving part cash, promissory notes and a trust deed for the balance. The lot and bungalow were subject to a mortgage of $2000. He moved into the bungalow, but found that the original owners of the tract, the Southwestern Land Company, had previously notified the building company that the house violated the conditions of the deed by being built too close to the curb.

Mr. Kirk brought suit to rescind the contract on the ground that the building company had not disclosed to him a material fact. But, meantime, the building company had sold the contract to B. Butcher. Judge Shenk tried the case and gave judgment to Mr. Kirk, rescinding the contract without prejudice to Mr. Butcher.

ALL TO WIDOW. The will of F. Bruce Wetherby, who died at his Pasadena home the 7th inst., confirms the conveyance of his interest in the Wetherby-Kayser Shoe Company and of the home property to his wife, Maria Visscher Wetherby. Provision for the children, Henry V. and Christine Wetherby, is left to the widow, in whom Mr. Wetherby expresses the greatest confidence. The will, which was filed for probate yesterday by Mrs. Wetherby, gave the value of the estate as not less than $20,000.

RECOVERS JUDGMENT. The Western Indemnity Company recovered judgment yesterday in Judge Hewitt's court for $728 against the Spicer & Watson Company growing out of the death of J. F. La Salle during the construction of the Robinson Building in West Seventh street, July 6, 1914. The indemnity company as insurer's carrier under the Workman's Compensation Act had been ordered by the commission to pay the widow and minor child $2025. Mr. La Salle was employed by the Whiting-Mead Commercial Company, and the contractors of the building were the defendants. Mr. La Salle's death was caused by a falling wall.

INCORPORATIONS. The Pacific Pharmacal Company, incorporators Simeon D. Strehle, George M. Franke and Marion C. Holbrook; capital stock $10,000, subscribed $10,000.

TO INCREASE FORCE.

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday officially indorsed the proposed plan of adding fifty officers to the present police force. The president of the chamber, Jonathan S. Mitchell, was authorized to appoint a special committee to represent the organization before the Police Commission, the Mayor and Council in any conference that may be held relative to increasing the force.

For twenty-five years I have been curing diseases of the rectum and lower bowel. During that time my experience as hospital and medical surgeon, as college lecturer and professor, has enabled me to develop a method that is superior to others. I cure without surgery and my patients are not confined to bed and seldom lose a moment's time from their business.

My method is not a "home cure" or a "correspondence treatment," but it is an application of skilled treatments administered under the most sanitary conditions in my office.

If you are a sufferer from rectal troubles I invite you to investigate my methods by talking or writing to one of my cured patients. If you cannot call at my office I will be pleased to give you the names and addresses of many of my cured patients in your locality whom you may interview at your leisure. I have cured others and can cure you. Consultation and examination free. Write for my book on Rectal Diseases. It is free.
